FEUDERS FACE NO PUNISHMENT

DR. AESCHBACHER

NU Alum History Director

Society Names Dr. Aeschbacher

An alumnus of the University of Nebraska, Dr. William D Aeschbacher, 37, who is now teaching history in Kentucky has been named director of the State Historical Society to succeed Dr. James C. Olson Dr. Olson will become chairman of the department of history at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Aeschbacher, associate professor of history at Kentucky State College at Murray, Ky., will assume the duties Aug. 1, after teaching during the summer session in the history department at the university here.

A native of Kansas, Dr. Aeschbacher, the son of Rev. and Mrs. J. E. Aeschbacher, now of Avoca, spent his boyhood in Arlington and Hyannis. He graduated from the Hyannis High School in 1935, and then attended the University of Nebraska, from which he received his bachelor's degree in 1940, a aMster's degree in 1946, and a Ph. D. in history in 1948. Prior to beginning his graduate work he taught one year at Madrid in Perkins County. During World War II he served in the Army in the Pacific, enlisting as a private and being discharged as a first lieutenant.

Cattle History

Dr. Aeschbacher's doctoral dissertation was a history of the cattle industry in the Sandhills. He has published two articles on the subject in Nebraska History, the quarterly journal of the State Historical Society.

He is a member of the American Historical Association, the Mississippi Valley Historical Association, and the Nebraska State Historical Society. During the past year he has been membership chairman for Kentucky of the Mississippi Valley Historical Association.

Arthur Carmody of Trenton, president of the State Historical Society's executive board, said that the board felt very fortunate in being able to secure a man of Dr. Aeschbacher's professional preparation and standing who at the same time is intimately acquainted with Nebraska.

"We feel that with Dr. Aeschbacher we can continue to develop all aspects of the Society's work, expanding its services to the people of Nebraska and maintaining its position as one of the nation's leading historical societies," he said.

Mrs. Aeschbacher, the former Flavia Tharp, also attended the University of Nebraska, graduating in 1942. She was a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and in 1942 was president of Mortar Board. The Aeschbachers have two sons, age 8 and 5.

Traffic Court To Take Heat Off Violators

Any "customers" who are hot under the collar can expect to be cooled off, literally, in Municipal Court this summer.

Two one-ton air conditioners are being installed in the court.

The court has been one of the "hot spots," weather-wise, during the past summers..

Municipal Judge John Jacobson submitted a request to the City Council for approval of the air conditioners. Payment will be out of court costs.

Democrat Hopefuls Swap Needling On 'Absenteeism' From Duties

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver agreed Monday night on the broad, basic campaign issues in domestic and foreign policy—including the need for vigorous American leadership for peace in the hydrogen bomb era.

But the former Illinois governor and the Tennessee senator, rivals for the Democratic presidential nomination, needled one another a bit on the question of "absenteeism" from official duties during political campaigns.

The two sat side by side for an hour in the forum of a nationwide radio-television program

Each emphasized foreign policy questions and spoke up for renewed American efforts to lead the world to peace, in the light of the hydrogen bomb exploded Sunday in the Pacific.

They agreed broadly or the issue of segregation and racial discrimination here in the South, as they approached next Tuesday's Florida primary—their only direct contest in Dixie.

Serious

And they agreed that the farm problem is serious and demands greater federal attention, particularly on behalf of the family-size farmer.

They were together, also, in cautioning against taking at face value Russia's announced decision to cut its ground forces.

But Kefauver let Stevenson know he didn't think it was quite cricket for his rival to have said that the senator had been absent from his Senate duties on a number of occasions. And he said that he thought probably Stevenson, while campaigning for president in 1952, had been away from his duties as Illinois governor at Springfield.

Stevenson said he was willing to let the whole thing drop if Kefauver wanted it that way, and he had merely mentioned the absenteesim issue in the first place in response to some questioning.

Appraisal

Finally, after the hour-long program was off the air, the two got together in a friendly appraisal of the results—and each said the other came out on top in what was billed as a joint discussion, rather than a debate.

Asked by reporters who won, Kefauver said that Stevenson had spoken with more eloquence. Stevenson countered that Kefauver "covered more ground."

Then Stevenson added:

"Now that we know how to do it, we ought to do this sort of thing more often."

The two contenders for the Democratic nomination each had five minutes at the end to explain why he wanted to go to the White House.

Stevenson said he didn't think anyone runs for president, or should, just to serve personal ambition. He said he thought it is because of profound convictions about the principles of his party the state of the Union, and the condition of the world.

He said the Eisenhower administration is a "single interest government," whereas "government to be successful must reflect the interests of all our people."

Stevenson said he felt very strongly, too, about a variety of issues—conservation of resources, the race question which "we just must master," and, transcending everything else, the question of "war and peace."

Kefauver said he wanted to become president because he has been interested in a fair balance and a fair deal for agriculture, labor, industry and the people.

He spoke of protecting small business against "the avalanche of economic insecurity," of expanding Social Security, of enlarging educational opportunities, and of using America's spirit and economic influence to bring "peace with honor in our lifetime."

Both men said the dropping of a hydrogen bomb in the Pacific Sunday must spur new efforts for universal peace.

Dr. Wegner Heads Local Church Unit

Council Seeks Juvenile Judge

Dr. E. S. Wegner of 2416 Sewell Monday night was elected president of the Lincoln Council of Churches.

Dr. Wegner, a layman, is a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Mrs. James Cox was elected recording secretary and Clifford Weston re-elected treasurer at the council's annual meeting.

Division chairmen elected were: the Rev. Carl Davidson, Christian fellowship; Leroy Laase, social betterment; the Rev. John Waser, Christian education; and Harry A. Spencer, finance. Davidson was re-elected.

Representatives at Large

Elected representatives at large were the Rev. C. Vin White, Mrs. L. L. Belknapp and the Rev. Howard Holverson. Vice presidents announced previously are the Rev. Thomas C. Dick, Mrs. Ray Becker and Dick Eaton. Dr. White is retiring council president.

The council went on record as favoring a proposal that Juvenile Court judges should not be rotated among the District Court judges but should be given to one judge "who has a special and continuing interest and devotion to child welfare." He would be elected to the post under the motion.

Also advocated was a Citizen's Advisory Committee for the Probation Department to set up personnel standards and to certify candidates for appointment by the judge.

'Glorious Future'

Dr. J. Quinter Miller assistant general secretary for field operations of the National Council of Churches, was the banquet speaker. He predicted a "glorious future" for Councils of Churches throughout the country. He said the number of councils has grown from 247 in 1941 to more than 1,000 today.

Dr. Miller said the councils today have "almost universal" Christian sanction behind them. This, he said, was not true formerly.

Dr. Miller praised the Lincoln council for its continued growth and commended it for the co-ordination between it and the state council.

The Rev. Carroll H. Lemon, executive secretary, and Mrs. Dorothea W. Stahn, associate secretary, have for the past year served both the Lincoln council and the Nebraska Council of Churches. The Lincoln council approved a motion making the arrangements permanent.

A $6,968 budget was adopted.

Just 11 Votes Defeat Bonds At Fairbury

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Fairbury's proposed $565,000 school bond issue failed to carry by a scant 11 votes.

This was revealed Monday night when the absentee votes were counted at the official canvass conducted by members of the Board of Education. The issue faced voters at the general election last week.

Of the 57 mail votes, 30 favored the issue and 27 opposed. The total figures now stand at 1,112 yes and 929 no. The issue required 55 per cent of the votes for passage.

Funds would have provided two new grade school buildings and an addition to the high school.

Superintendent Don Maclay expressed disappointment at failure of the issue to gain approval.

Rehearing May Be Sought On Supreme Court's Labor Ruling

An Omaha attorney said Monday he would probably ask for a rehearing of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that Nebraska's "right-to-work" law does not apply to railroad workers.

The high court Monday overturned the rulings of Nebraska courts and upheld a 1951 amendment of the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes the railroads and labor unions to enter into union shop agreements, state laws to the contrary notwithstanding.

State Attorney General C. S. Beck declined general comment on the ruling, but added that if a rehearing is asked he expects the state to join in the motion.

Attorney Edson Smith, who filed the case originally, told the Associated Press that he had expected the high court to uphold previous decisions handed down by the State Supreme Court and the Douglas County District Court.

Smith filed the action in 1953 on behalf of five employes of the Union Pacific Railroad. They had refused to join a union and were denied the right to work.

District Judge Jackson B. Chase ruled in their favor in 1954.

The railroad and 17 unions appealed to the state Supreme Court which upheld Judge Chase's decision. The state court said Congress had no right to pass provisions of the Railway Labor Act authorizing contracts requiring employes to join a union to keep their jobs.

Attorney Harry L. Welch, who carried the union's case through state courts, called the U.S. Supreme Court's decision "a meritorious one."

"I don't feel the state has the right to take over the field of federal legislation," he said.

None of the five employes could be reached for comment. They are Robert L. Hanson, Horace A. Cameron, Harold J. Grau, Leonard W. Koch and William A. Cornell.

In Lincoln, attorneys expressed surprise at the speed of the Supreme Court, which heard arguments on the case only May 2.

The State of Nebraska had appeared in the case before the Supreme Court on the side of the plaintiffs because of the Nebraska "right-to-work" law.

The Nebraska law, a constitutional amendment passed in 1946, remains valid under the ruling except for the railroad industry, according to Robert Nelson, assistant attorney general who argued the Nebraska case before the Supreme Court.

NU To Ask 3 Experimental Farms In So.-Central Area

A request for funds to sponsor three experimental development farms in south-central Nebraska will be presented in the biennial budget request of the University of Nebraska Agriculture College.

Dean W. V. Lambert of the college said the farms, if funds for their operation are approved, would be developed with the cooperation of the farmers. The University would have no financial ownership in the land or operation.

Location of the farms still is speculative, Dean Lambert said, with only the general area of the state already spotted.

The plan calling for the development farms was approved by the executive board of the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce. The plan was submitted by a University committee to the SPUCC executive board and Agriculture Committee.

Earlier, the SPUCC adopted a resolution asking that the University start development farms and add technicians to serve pump irrigation areas. The plan said five men would be needed, three of them in the south-central area.

The area would be divided into three units with a development farm and technician in each.

Counties in the eastern section would include Polk, Butler, York, Seward, Fillmore, Saline, Thayer, and Jefferson. The central area would include Hall, Merrick, Hamilton, Adams, Clay, Webster, and Nuckolls. The third area would be comprised of Hitchcock, Red Willow, Dawson, Gosper, Furnas, Buffalo, Phelps, Harlan, Kearney, and Franklin Counties.

Ron Lenwell of McCook, where the SPUCC of which he is president resolved to back the development farm idea, said the Agriculture Committee will submit a resolution to the board of directors for formal action at the June 14 meeting of the SPUCC in Hastings.

Auburn Case Raises State Typhoid Count To 8 Cases

Nebraska's typhoid count has risen to eight with a case reported from Auburn in the southeast corner of the state.

A State Department of Health official said, however, latest case apparently was unrelated to one reported at Waverly early in April. The official said, too, that final tests on the Waverly case, involving a six-year-old girl, were inconclusive as to the cause of the infection.

A laboratory test of a Wisconsin cheese proved the cheese was not the source of infection to the Waverly girl. It earlier had been suspected.

Water OK

Sample tests of water sources at Waverly also showed the source of infection to be elsewhere.

The Health Department reported the typhoid incidence in the United States, which has the U. S. Public Health Service puzzled, has increased slightly in the Maine area. Earlier reports had the highest incidence in the Midwest area, mostly in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Illinois. Iowa and South Dakota reported other cases.

The latest Nebraska case, not considered serious, gave the state three more cases than the total reported for 1955.

No Alarm

The Health Department again said there was no cause for alarm in the individual cases, stating there was no connection apparent between them.

It was believed food was the primary cause of the infection, according to typing methods. Lack of personal cleanliness was also listed as a possible cause of infection.

The typhoid incidents often increases during the summer because of increased activity in water area where pollution is likely.

'Eager Beavers Gnaw Some Wrong Trees'

...Defense Boss Acts Quickly To End Quarrel

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's top brass played down as "eager beaver" squabbling Monday a sudden upsurge of Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry over national defense policy.

It didn't look, however, as if any serious punishment was in store for relatively junior officers who stirred up the weekend fuss.

Secretary of Defense Wilson took the "little hurricane," as he called it, so seriously that he called on short notice an unprecedented news conference by himself, the secretaries of all three services and all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Always Differences

"There will always be some differences of opinion within and between the services in connection with military operations," declared Wilson, as the civilian and military heads of the armed forces sat stony-faced alongside him. He added:

"Honest differences and reasonable competition between the military services are healthy and will result in a stronger defense establishment.

"It is not good for the country, however, to have these differences, some of which are set forth in confidential staff papers, aired on a basis of service partisanship without giving the proper responsible officials the opportunity to weigh all the factors involved."

Quick Action

Wilson thus moved swiftly to halt the biggest interservice quarrel by far since the "admirals' " over the B36 bomber in 1949.

Both the Army chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and his Air Force counterpart, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, specifically disavowed documents "leaked" to certain publications over the weekend casting reflections on the roles assigned to other services.

Some sources in the Pentagon gave out documents saying that present emphasis on airpower could lead to disaster.

Wilson Smiles

Wilson referred to the furore as "a little hurricane" but smilingly suggested maybe it had been blown up beyond its true proportions.

"I think," said the defense secretary, refusing to elaborate, "the eager beavers are gnawing down some of the wrong trees."

Wilson said he saw no need for any congressional investigation—such as some Democrats have been talking about—to thresh out the matter of the three services' roles and missions.

He and the service chiefs promised a "thorough investigation" to find out what lower echelon officers started the interservice sniping. But they all played down any talk of disciplinary action.

No "Goat" Is Sought

Wilson indicated any action against the "rebels" would depend on how well the individuals concerned had been performing their duties.

"I'm a little prejudiced in favor of a man who does his job well," Wilson said in reply to questions. "I've never solved problems by making someone the goat for an error."

One of the documents specifically disavowed by Gen. Twining was one attempting to show that the Army's Nike antiaircraft missile is ineffective and has been so declared by the Air Force.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said in this point that he "hoped that if U. S. air units attack an enemy position it will not be defended by a weapon as potent as Nike is.".

"Best We Have"

Twining said, "Nike is the best thing we have today. We hope that it is as good or better than it has been advertised. We welcome it."

Twining explained that some years ago the Joint Chiefs had set range limits between ground-to-air missiles to be operated by the several services and that Nike was within the range assigned to the Army but that the Navy's Talos missile, recently adopted by the Air Force, should exceed the Army's assigned range.

Twining also said we "do not accept as an Air Force document" a paper, liberally quoted in support of one published report, purporting to show that the Air Force believes the Navy's aircraft carriers would be useless in the face of modern radar and defensive techniques.

The chief of naval operations, Adm. Arleigh Burke, spoke up to say that the argument over usefulness of carriers "is a controversy that has not developed in the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Few Showers On Tuesday's Weather Slate

Scattered thundershowers were predicted by the Weather Bureau for southwestern Nebraska Tuesday and in the south and west Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Cooler temperatures in the north and west Tuesday were to result in highs in the 70's Tuesday. Highs in the southeast were to be 80-90.

Monday's highs ranged from 87 at Norfolk to 78 at Omaha. Lincoln had a high reading of 84 and a low of 65.

A brief shower late Monday night in Lincoln deposited .02 of an inch of moisture.

Ike Doctor Rules Out Colorado

Dr. Snyder Gives View On Spot For Rest

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower's personal physician said Monday he is against the chief executive taking a vacation in Colorado this summer because of the altitude.

The President suffered a heart attack last Sept. 24, a day after returning to Denver from his Rocky Mountain fishing camp near Fraser, where the altitude is almost 8,000 feet. Denver, the "Mile-High City," is 5,000 feet above sea level.

Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder emphasized that Mr. Eisenhower hasn't asked his advice as yet on a vacation spot and he was just expressing his personal feeling.

Snyder said most doctors do not think there is any relation between altitude and heart conditions, although a minority do.

Chatting with newsmen, the White House physician said:

"I would prefer to play it on the conservative side. . . .

"If it were left up to me, I would be against going to one of the high altitudes in the first year after the heart attack."

Mr. Eisenhower has made Denver his summer headquarters each year since taking office..

His stays there have normally run six to eight weeks, but his hospitalization last fall extended the period to thirteen weeks.

There have been reports that the President was considering Wisconson as an alternate vacation site.

The Badger State offers excellent fishing, the President's favorite summer pastime except for golf, and the altitude is less than Colorado's.

Donald L. Drake, 27, of 2505 So. 9th, was treated for minor lacerations and abrasions at a local hospital and released after being involved in a car-motorcycle accident Monday on P Street between 14th and 15th.

Police report the motorcycle Drake was driving was in collision with a care being backed out of a parking stall by Gerald Vortman, 32 of Carleton, Neb.

Ag Bill Solution Is Near

Conferees May Agree Today On Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate-House conferees on the farm bill were reported late Monday to have agreed tentatively on a compromise which would give the administration largely what it wants on the key question of feed grains.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the conferees, would say only after the 2½-hour session that, "We have discussed various proposals and I'm sure we can reach an agreement Tuesday morning."

But from other sources it was learned that a compromise of this sort appeared to be in the making:

Senate Props Lower

1. The House Conferees would accept the Senate version of price supports for feed grains — oats, barley, rye and sorghums. The Senate voted for generally lower supports than the House and made feed grains ineligible for the soil bank program. The administration strongly opposed the House plan.

2. The Senate conferees would give in to the House on the question of when the $1,200,000,000 a-year soil bank would be effective. The House had voted to make a start on it in 1956; the Senate left it up to Secretary of Agriculture Benson to decide whether any soil bank program was possible this year.

One source said there might be some softening language in the conferees' report to add a little discretion to the mandatory language in the House bill.

Two Will Be Dropped

3. The Senate conferees would agree to drop two controversial wheat provisions written into the bill on the floor just before it was passed last Friday. One would let Benson sell up to 100 million bushels of nonmilling wheat for feed at distress prices; the other would exempt from marketing quota cash penalties wheat farmers who overplant their allotments if the wheat is used on the farm.

Ellender said he believed both branches could pass a compromise Wednesday and send it to President Eisenhower if final agreement is reached Tuesday morning.

The feed grains provision in the House bill would mean 81.5 per cent of parity price supports this year for farmers who cut back acreage by 15 per cent. In addition, it would assure supports next year at 5 percentage points below corn.

76 Per Cent of Parity

But the Senate plan, reportedly accepted tentatively by the conferees, would give feed grain growers 76 per cent of parity this year with no acreage controls. In 1957, they would have minimum 70 per cent supports if Benson, as he did this year, extended price guarantees for corn grown by farmers who disregard acreage allotments.

Sen. Aiken (R - Vt) said, "It looks as if we'll get a good bill unless there is some violent change overnight."

Just 11 Votes Defeat Bonds At Fairbury

Lincoln Star Special

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Fairbury's proposed $565,000 school bond issue failed to carry by a scant 11 votes.

This was revealed Monday night when the absentee votes were counted at the official canvass conducted by members of the Board of Education. The issue faced voters at the general election last week.

Of the 57 mail votes, 30 favored the issue and 27 opposed. The total figures now stand at 1,112 yes and 929 no. The issue required 55 per cent of the votes for passage.

Funds would have provided two new grade school buildings and an addition to the high school.

Council Seeks Juvenile Judge

Dr. E. S. Wegner of 2416 Sewell Monday night was elected president of the Lincoln Council of Churches.

Dr. Wegner, a layman, is a member of the Evangelical United Brethren Church. Mrs. James Cox was elected recording secretary and Clifford Weston re-elected treasurer at the council's annual meeting.

Division chairmen elected were: the Rev. Carl Davidson, Christian fellowship; Leroy Laase, social betterment; the Rev. John Waser, Christian education; and Harry A. Spencer, finance. Davidson was reelected.

Representatives at Large

Elected representatives at large were the Rev. C. Vin White, Mrs. L. L. Belknapp and the Rev. Howard Holverson. Vice presidents announced previously are the Rev. Thomas C. Dick, Mrs. Ray Becker and Dick Eaton. Dr. White is retiring council president.

The council went on record as favoring a proposal that Juvenile Court judges should not be rotated among the District Court judges but should be given to one judge "who has a special and continuing interest and devotion to child welfare." He would be elected to the post under the motion.

Also advocated was a Citizen's Advisory Committee for the Probation Department to set up personnel standards and to certify candidates for appointment by the judge.

'Glorious Future'

Dr. J. Quinter Miller assistant general secretary for field operations of the National Council of Churches, was the banquet speaker. He predicted a "glorious future" for Councils of Churches throughout the country. He said the number of councils has grown from 247 in 1941 to more than 1,000 today.

Dr. Miller said the councils today have "almost universal" Christian sanction behind them. This, he said, was not true formerly.

Dr. Miller praised the Lincoln council for its continued growth and commended it for the co-ordination between it and the state council.

The Rev. Carroll H. Lemon, executive secretary, and Mrs. Dorothea W. Stahn, associate secretary, have for the past year served both the Lincoln council and the Nebraska Council of Churches. The Lincoln council approved a motion making the arrangements permanent.

A $6,988 budget was adopted.

Rehearing May Be Sought On Supreme Court's Labor Ruling

An Omaha attorney said Monday he would probably ask for a rehearing of the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling that Nebraska's "right-to-work" law does not apply to railroad workers.

The high court Monday overturned the rulings of Nebraska courts and upheld a 1951 amendment of the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes the railroads and labor unions to enter into union shop agreements, state laws to the contrary notwithstanding.

State Attorney General C. S. Beck declined general comment on the ruling, but added that if a rehearing is asked he expects the state to join in the motion.

Attorney Edson Smith, who filed the case originally, told the Associated Press that he had expected the high court to uphold previous decisions handed down by the State Supreme Court and the Douglas County District Court.

Smith filed the action in 1953 on behalf of five employes of the Union Pacific Railroad. They had refused to join a union and were denied the right to work.

District Judge Jackson B. Chase ruled in their favor in 1954.

The railroad and 17 unions appealed to the state Supreme Court which upheld Judge Chase's decision. The state court said Congress had no right to pass provisions of the Railway Labor Act authorizing contracts requiring employes to join a union to keep their jobs.

Attorney Harry L. Welch, who carried the union's case through state courts, called the U.S. Supreme Court's decision "a meritorious one."

"I don't feel the state has the right to take over the field of federal legislation," he said.

None of the five employes could be reached for comment. They are Robert L. Hanson, Horace A. Cameron, Harold J. Grau, Leonard W. Koch and William A. Cornell.

In Lincoln, attorneys expressed surprise at the speed of the Supreme Court, which heard arguments on the case only May 2.

The State of Nebraska had appeared in the case before the Supreme Court on the side of the plaintiffs because of the Nebraska "right-to-work" law.

The Nebraska law, a constitutional amendment passed in 1946, remains valid under the ruling except for the railroad industry, according to Robert Nelson, assistant attorney general who argued the Nebraska case before the Supreme Court.

NU To Ask 3 Experimental Farms In So.-Central Area

A request for funds to sponsor three experimental development farms in south-central Nebraska will be presented in the biennial budget request of the University of Nebraska Agriculture College.

Dean W. V. Lambert of the college said the farms, if funds for their operation are approved, would be developed with the cooperation of the farmers. The University would have no financial ownership in the land or operation.

Location of the farms still is speculative, Dean Lambert said, with only the general area of the state already spotted.

The plan calling for the development farms was approved by the executive board of the South Platte United Chambers of Commerce. The plan was submitted by a University committee to the SPUCC executive board and Agriculture Committee.

Earlier, the SPUCC adopted a resolution asking that the University start development farms and add technicians to serve pump irrigation areas. The plan said five men would be needed, three of them in the south-central area.

The area would be divided into three units with a development farm and technician in each.

Counties in the eastern section would include Polk, Butler, York, Seward, Fillmore, Saline, Thayer, and Jefferson. The central area would include Hall, Merrick, Hamilton, Adams, Clay, Webster, and Nuckolls. The third area would be comprised of Hitchcock, Red Willow, Dawson, Gosper, Furnas, Buffalo, Phelps, Harlan, Kearney, and Franklin Counties.

Ron Lenwell of McCook, where the SPUCC of which he is president resolved to back the development farm idea, said the Agriculture Committee will submit a resolution to the board of directors for formal action at the June 14 meeting of the SPUCC in Hastings.

'Eager Beavers Gnaw Some Wrong Trees'

. . . Defense Boss Acts Quickly To End Quarrel

By ED CREAGH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon's top brass played down as "eager beaver" squabbling Monday a sudden upsurge of Army-Navy-Air Force rivalry over national defense policy.

It didn't look, however, as if any serious punishment was in store for relatively junior officers who stirred up the weekend fuss.

Secretary of Defense Wilson took the "little hurricane," as he called it, so seriously that he called on short notice an unprecedented news conference by himself, the secretaries of all three services and all members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Always Differences

"There will always be some differences of opinion within and between the services in connection with military operations," declared Wilson, as the civilian and military heads of the armed forces sat stony-faced alongside him. He added:

"Honest differences and reasonable competition between the military services are healthy and will result in a stronger defense establishment.

"It is not good for the country, however, to have these differences, some of which are set forth in confidential staff papers, aired on a basis of service partisanship without giving the proper responsible officials the opportunity to weigh all the factors involved."

Quick Action

Wilson thus moved swiftly to halt the biggest interservice quarrel by far since the "admirals' over the B36 bomber in 1949.

Both the Army chief of staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, and his Air Force counterpart, Gen. Nathan F. Twining, specifically disavowed documents "leaked" to certain publications over the weekend casting reflections on the roles assigned to other services.

Some sources in the Pentagon gave out documents saying that present emphasis on airpower could lead to disaster.

Wilson Smiles

Wilson referred to the furore as "a little hurricane" but smilingly suggested maybe it had been blown up beyond its true proportions.

"I think," said the defense secretary, refusing to elaborate, "the eager beavers are gnawing down some of the wrong trees."

Wilson said he saw no need for any congressional investigation—such as some Democrats have been talking about—to thresh out the matter of the three services' roles and missions.

He and the service chiefs promised a "thorough investigation" to find out what lower echelon officers started the interservice sniping. But they all played down any talk of disciplinary action.

No "Goat" Is Sought

Wilson indicated any action against the "rebels" would depend on how well the individuals concerned had been performing their duties.

"I'm a little prejudiced in favor of a man who does his job well," Wilson said in reply to questions. "I've never solved problems by making someone the goat for an error."

One of the documents specifically disavowed by Gen. Twining was one attempting to show that the Army's Nike antiaircraft missile is ineffective and has been so declared by the Air Force.

Secretary of the Air Force Quarles said in this point that he "hoped that if U. S. air units attack an enemy position it will not be defended by a weapon as potent as Nike is.".

"Best We Have"

Twining said, "Nike is the best thing we have today. We hope that it is as good or better than it has been advertised. We welcome it."

Twining explained that some years ago the Joint Chiefs had set range limits between ground-to-air missiles to be operated by the several services and that Nike was within the range assigned to the Army but that the Navy's Talos missile, recently adopted by the Air Force, should exceed the Army's assigned range.

Twining also said we "do not accept as an Air Force document" a paper, liberally quoted in support of one published report, purporting to show that the Air Force believes the Navy's aircraft carriers would be useless in the face of modern radar and defensive techniques.

The chief of naval operations, Adm. Arleigh Burke, spoke up to say that the argument over usefulness of carriers "is a controversy that has not developed in the Joint Chiefs of Staff."

Auburn Case Raises State Typhoid Count To 8 Cases

Nebraska's typhoid count has risen to eight with a case reported from Auburn in the southeast corner of the state.

A State Department of Health official said, however, latest case apparently was unrelated to one reported at Waverly early in April. The official said, too, that final tests on the Waverly case, involving a six-year-old girl, were inconclusive as to the cause of the infection.

A laboratory test of a Wisconsin cheese proved the cheese was not the source of infection to the Waverly girl. It earlier had been suspected.

Water OK

Sample tests of water sources at Waverly also showed the source of infection to be elsewhere.

The Health Department reported the typhoid incidence in the United States, which has the U. S. Public Health Service puzzled, has increased slightly in the Maine area. Earlier reports had the highest incidence in the Midwest area, mostly in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and Illinois. Iowa and South Dakota reported other cases.

The latest Nebraska case, not considered serious, gave the state three more cases than the total reported for 1955.

No Alarm

The Health Department again said there was no cause for alarm in the individual cases, stating there was no connection apparent between them.

It was believed food was the primary cause of the infection, according to typing methods. Lack of personal cleanliness was also listed as a possible cause of infection.

Few Showers On Tuesday's Weather Slate

Scattered thundershowers were predicted by the Weather Bureau for southwestern Nebraska Tuesday and in the south and west Tuesday night and Wednesday.

Cooler temperatures in the north and west Tuesday were to result in highs in the 70's Tuesday. Highs in the southeast were to be 80-90.

Monday's highs ranged from 87 at Norfolk to 78 at Omaha. Lincoln had a high reading of 84 and a low of 65.

A brief shower late Monday night in Lincoln deposited .02 of an inch of moisture.

IkeDoctor Rules Out Colorado

Dr. Snyder Gives View On Spot For Rest

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower's personal physician said Monday he is against the chief executive taking a vacation in Colorado this summer because of the altitude.

The President suffered a heart attack last Sept. 24, a day after returning to Denver from his Rocky Mountain fishing camp near Fraser, where the altitude is almost 8,000 feet. Denver, the "Mile-High City," is 5,000 feet above sea level.

Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder emphasized that Mr. Eisenhower hasn't asked his advice as yet on a vacation spot and he was just expressing his personal feeling.

Snyder said most doctors do not think there is any relation between altitude and heart conditions, although a minority do.

Chatting with newsmen, the White House physician said:

"I would prefer to play it on the conservative side. ....

"If it were left up to me, I would be against going to one of the high altitudes in the first year after the heart attack."

Mr. Eisenhower has made Denver his summer headquarters each year since taking office..

His stays there have normally run six to eight weeks, but his hospitalization last fall extended the period to thirteen weeks.

There have been reports that the President was considering Wisconson as an alternate vacation site.

Car-Motorcycle Crash Hurts One

Donald L. Drake, 27, of 2505 So. 9th, was treated for minor lacerations and abrasions at a local hospital and released after being involved in a car-motorcycle accident Monday on P Street between 14th and 15th.

Police report the motorcycle Drake was driving was in collision with a care being backed out of a parking stall by Gerald Vortman, 32 of Carleton, Neb.

—Farm Legislation—

Conferees May Agree Today On Feed Grains

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees on the farm bill were reported late Monday to have agreed tentatively on a compromise which would give the administration largely what it wants on the key question of feed grains.

Sen. Ellender (D-La), chairman of the conferees, would say only after the 2½-hour session that, "We have discussed various proposals and I'm sure we can reach an agreement Tuesday morning."

But from other sources it was learned that a compromise of this sort appeared to be in the making:

Senate Props Lower

1. The House Conferees would accept the Senate version of price supports for feed grains — oats, barley, rye and sorghums. The Senate voted for generally lower supports than the House and made feed grains ineligible for the soil bank program. The administration strongly opposed the House plan.

2. The Senate conferees would give in to the House on the question of when the $1,200,000,000 a-year soil bank would be effective. The House had voted to make a start on it in 1956; the Senate left it up to Secretary of Agriculture Benson to decide whether any soil bank program was possible this year.

One source said there might be some softening language in the conferees' report to add a little discretion to the mandatory language in the House bill.

Two Will Be Dropped

3. The Senate conferees would agree to drop two controversial wheat provisions written into the bill on the floor just before it was passed last Friday. One would let Benson sell up to 100 million bushels of nonmilling wheat for feed at distress prices; the other would exempt from marketing quota cash penalties wheat farmers who overplant their allotments if the wheat is used on the farm.

Ellender said he believed both branches could pass a compromise Wednesday and send it to President Eisenhower if final agreement is reached Tuesday morning.

The feed grains provision in the House bill would mean 81.5 per cent of parity price supports this year for farmers who cut back acreage by 15 per cent. In addition, it would assure supports next year at 5 percentage points below corn.

76 Per Cent of Parity

But the Senate plan, reportedly accepted tentatively by the conferees, would give feed grain growers 76 per cent of parity this year with no acreage controls. In 1957, they would have minimum 70 per cent supports if Benson, as he did this year, extended price guarantees for corn grown by farmers who disregard acreage allotments.

Sen. Aiken (R - Vt) said, "It looks as if we'll get a good bill unless there is some violent change overnight."

Minnie Mangum Enters Guilty Plea

'Generosity' Of Million Is Confessed

. . . Sentence June 25

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Minnie Mangum whose phantom bookkeeping system financed her popular role of benefactor pleaded guilty Monday to stealing more than a million dollars from her employers since 1933.

Corporation Court Judge H. Lawrence Bullock accepted the plea of the plump former building and loan company officer and deferred sentence until June 25 pending a probation report.

Miss Mangum

The 51-year-old defendant long noted for her lavish generosity to family and friends, was indicted last month on 16 presentments, one of which alleged she embezzled $2,884,000 from the new defunct Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. Miss Mangum was assistant secretary-treasurer of the firm.

The defendant, a 190-pound spinster who lives with a blind sister, was convicted last Thursday of lying to the State Corporation Commission about Commonwealth's financial condition and her punishment was fixed by the trial jury at 10 years in prison.

Monday Miss Mangum was docketed for trial on an indictment alleging she embezzled $1,082,968.25. She stood for arraignment and said "guilty" in a barely audible voice. Her face was an expressionless mask, just as it has been on each of her public appearances since her arrest Dec. 29.

Defense Attorney Max R. Broudy then told Bullock he felt the charges in the other indictments related to the same offenses and Miss Mangum was arraigned and pleaded guilty to 12 indictments.

One of these 12 alleged embezzlement of $1,082,968.25; one charged embezzlement of $17,364.01; eight alleged forgery of the name of Roy F. Phillips, president of Commonwealth, and two alleged she gave false information about Commonwealth's liabilities to the State Corporation Commission.

State Prosecutor Linwood B. Tabb indicated he will ask the court on June 25 to permit him to drop the three embezzlement indictments — one alleging Miss Mangum stole $2,884,000 — on which the defendant has not been arraigned.

St. Louis Records H-Bomb Explosion 13 Minutes Later

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two seismographs at St. Louis University recorded the hydrogen bomb explosion near Bikini Atoll as "very slight disturbances" here.

Ross R. Heinrich, director of geophysics at the university's Institute of Technology, said the explosion was recorded 13 minutes after the blast.

"Time of the recording is about correct for the 6,500 miles the ground wave had to travel," Heinrich said.

Wesleyan Seismograph Showed 'Just A Trace'

Dean Powell, a student at the Nebraska Weseyan University, reported "just a trace" of movement on a seismograph when the hydrogen bomb was exploded.

Powell said that ordinarily a reaction of the kind he saw would be ignored.

Queen Of Britain Hopes For 'Flourishing' Of Soviet Peoples

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II told Soviet President Klement Voroshilov in a message made public Monday night she hoped "for the flourishing of the Soviet peoples." She signed herself "your good friend."

The queen's message was a reply to one Voroshilov presented to her through Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev when they visited Britain last month. The texts of the messages were broadcast Monday by the Moscow radio. The queen said

"To the Chairman of the Presidium of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet (Voroshilov):

"Mr. Chairman, it gave me great pleasure to receive from Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev your message of April 14, in which you sent me and my peoples good wishes from you personally and from the peoples of the Soviet Union as well as from the Presidum of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet.

"I am expressing to you my gratitude for this valuable expression of good will. I express the hope that the visit of the Soviet leaders to the United Kingdon as guests of my government will contribute to the improvement of friendship and mutual understanding between our two countries and peoples, for the maintenance and improvement of which I sincerely hope. I take this opportunity to express my best wishes for your good health and the flourishing of the Soviet peoples.

"Your good friend, Queen Elizabeth."

ALCATRAZ WHITE-NEGRO RIOT HALTED

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A fist-throwing riot between white and Negro inmates of Alcatraz Federal Prison was disclosed Monday by officials of the famed island institution in San Francisco Bay.

The fighting broke out Sunday in the recreation area of the "Rock" after a Negro inmate, Leroy Fuller, stabbed and slightly wounded a white prisoner, Charles Schultz, during a baseball game.

A number of fist battles between white and Negro ball players and spectators ensued, but prison guards waded in and speedily halted the hostilities.

Warden Paul J. Madigan said there were no injuries among guards or inmates, except for minor cuts suffered by Schultz who is serving an 18-year term for bank robbery.

Fuller, an Army prisoner, is serving a sentence of 23 years for rape and murder.

Education Board Studying Transfer Of Retzlaff Farm

The Board of Education considered a request for transfer of property belonging to Fred C. Retzlaff so that his children could attend the Waverly School, but tabled the problem until a further study could be made.

Ted Frazier, attorney for Retzlaff, said that the Retzlaff children have to walk about two and a quarter miles to the Lincoln School District's Norwood Park school, whereas the Waverly school bus goes directly past the Retzlaff farm.

There will be two Retzlaff children in school this fall and two more later. One child has been attending the Waverly school on a temporary permit, but it was not renewed by the Waverly School Board.

Since the Retzlaff property is now in the Lincoln School District the family would have to pay tuition for all children attending the Waverly school.

Dr. Watkins, however, declined to approve the transfer as a matter of policy and Board members discussed the possibility of industrial and home development in the area as reasons for refusing the request.

Only Five Counties Have Sent Returns From Primary Vote

The secretary of state Monday had in hand election returns from five counties from last Tuesday's primary voting.

The state canvassing board will meet June 4, according to law.

The Valley County abstract was the first to reach the secretary of state's office.

County Clerk Leonard Wood delivered it personally last Saturday, within 24 hours after the county board had canvassed the precinct returns.

Abstracts from Grant, Hooker, Wheeler and Perkins Counties arrived by mail Monday.

H-Effects Limit Said Too High

. . . AEC Accused

WASHINGTON (INS) — Dr. Ralph E. Lapp accused the Atomic Energy Commission Monday of using a radiation limit "from 10 to a 100 times to high" in finding that H-bomb tests can be held indefinitely without damage to world health.

The noted scientist, who was the first to warn that lethal radioactive fallout from a super bomb blast can spread over thousands of square miles, declared there is an "irreversible danger" that continued tests will permanently poison the atmosphere.

He told International News Service in an interview that he specifically challenges a statement by AEC member Willard F. Libby that the rate of testing could be stepped up 10,000 times without a world increase in cancer.

Lapp's original findings, later verified by the AEC, involved immediate radioactive fallout. His present concern is over material that is thrown high into the stratosphere and falls on the earth at a rate of about 10 per cent a year.

Strontium

The substance in dispute is radioactive strontium, one of the elements that is created when uranium atoms split. The element is similar to calcium and tends to cause cancer by concentrating in bone structure.

Lapp praised Libby, also an atomic scientist, for airing the subject last April 20 in a highly-technical speech on "the human uptake" of radioactive strontium, but disagreed with the AEC member's conclusion

Lapp charged that:

1. The strontium tolerance limit used by Libby was too high. Lapp said this "permissible" limit was set for healthy adults working under controlled conditions. He said "authorities are agreed" the limit for world populations including infants and children should be "from 10 to 100 times lower."

2. Radiation-health experts within the AEC are remaining silent because the commission's "party line" is to take an optimistic view of radiation danger. He said an international body should be appointed to draw up more realistic standards.

Train Hits Auto, Kills 8 Including Ohio Family Of 6

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A speeding New York Central passenger train struck an automobile here, killing eight persons including a family of six.

The victims were starting for their homes in Akron, Ohio, after attending an evangelistic meeting in a hall here. They were:

Millard C. Martin, 37: his wife, Eugenia, 33; their children, David, 15, Donald, 14, Sharlene, 9 and Timothy, 3; Warren Edwards, 46, and his wife, Mary, 45.

The train, the NYC's Pacemaker bound from Chicago to New York, was going about 70 miles an hour as it approached the crossing. Its engineer, W. C. Karchure of Toledo, said the car made no apparent effort to stop although the diesel locomotive's bell, whistle and oscillating headlight were in operation.

Bodies and wreckage were scattered along the tracks for about a half-mile.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman underwent a prostate gland operation. His condition was described as "excellent."

Autopsy Ordered For Woman Found Dead In Closet

OMAHA (AP) — Acting County Coroner George Sullivan Monday reported the death of a woman who had shut herself in a closet, stuffed paper in the cracks of the door and then lit a candle which burned up the oxygen.

Sullivan said Miss Kathryn Miller, 40, was found in the closet Monday. He ordered an autopsy.

Cypriots Kill One Briton With Bomb

. . . Three Wounded

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Cypriot rebels hiding among rioting schoolgirls tossed bombs at British troops Monday, killing one Briton and wounding three others.

Bomb splinters injured seven Greek Cypriot civilians in nearby shops, and two policemen.

The battle began quietly with schoolgirls demonstrating for the second day for Enosis—union with Greece. Then, as troops moved in to break up the march, rebels mingling with the girls threw bombs.

The first bombings came when three jeeploads of troops teargassed a group of 30 schoolgirls.

The girls yelled for more demonstrators and about 200 boys and girls joined in. Fifteen demonstrators were arrested and troops and police began a house-to-house search.

Army spokesmen announced the death of Lance Corp. C. N. Keightley from wounds he received in a bomb attack May 13.

Central Alliance Church Promotes Rev. L. L. King

The Rev. L. L. King of New York City, former pastor of the Central Alliance Church in Lincoln, is new secretary of the foreign department of the General Council of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The Rev. Mr. King, who has served as a missionary to India, will succeed Dr. A. C. Snead of New York who is retiring after serving in the post since 1921.

Dr. A. W. Tozer, Chicago, was elected editor of the Alliance Weekly; the Rev. W. F. Smalley, New York, was elected secretary of the education department; the Rev. H. E. Nelson, New York, was re-elected secretary of the home department and P. B. Christie, Harrisburg, Pa., was named secretary of the publication department.

A spokesman said an Alliance source had been in error in reporting Saturday night that the general council had voted to send non-Caucasian missionaries into the field.

The resolution passed unanimously provided for a study of ways and means which would allow non-Caucasians from the United States and Canada to serve as society missionaries.

FRENCH BIRDMAN DIVES TO DEATH

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (AP) — French birdman Leo Valentin dived 9,000 feet to his death Monday trying to fly with wooden wings.

A holiday crowd of 100,000 seeking thrills at a Whitsun air display groaned in horror as he dropped like a rock into a field of wheat alongside Speke Airport.

Valentin, 37, called himself "the only living birdman." He met death through a twofold accident. First, he crashed into the side of his plane as he jumped, and so shattered one of his wings. Second, his two parachutes failed to open. One trailed behind him gleaming in the sun like a huge white sausage as he fell.

Valentin had flown often and successfully with his wings, which had a span of nine feet. They were attached to a steel corset and he controlled them with ailerons as though he were a minature glider. After descending to around 1,000 feet he would open his parachute and drop gently down. His record flight was three miles. Monday he had hoped to double the distance.

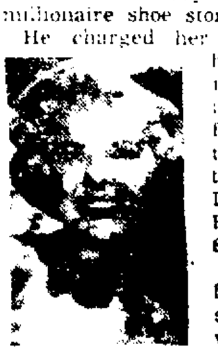
Champion parachutist in the French army, Valentin had made more than 600 jumps, two of them at the show here.

"I'm no daredevil," he once said "I always take care that nothing can go wrong."

KARL SUES MISS M'DONALD FOR DIVORCE

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald was sued for divorce Monday by Harry Karl, millionaire shoe store owner.

He charged her with causing him "grievous mental suffering" and asked for custody of their two adopted children, Denise and Harrison, each 6.



Marie McDonald

The suit was filed in the same court in which Miss McDonald divorced Karl in October, 1954. They were remarried last June in Yuma, Ariz., but separated again two months ago.

Karl's action followed a public airing by Miss McDonald last week of charges that her husband beat her when she went to his Bel Air home. He denied her story and the district attorney's office refused to issue a felony complaint sought by the actress.

In his suit for divorce, Karl said his wife is suffering "from a sustained, chronic and serious illness." He gave this reason for seeking custody of the children.

Special Group To Study Problem Of Leighton St.

A special committee has been appointed by the City Council to study the question of opening or abandonment of Leighton from 33rd to 48th.

The group is composed of John Selleck, University of Nebraska business manager; George Knight, University Place banker; and Councilman Bennett S. (Abe) Martin.

The University has asked that the street be abandoned to further its agricultural research program in the area.

The opening of the street has been urged by University Place businessmen and others in the area.

Sprinkler Stolen

Theft of a walking-type lawn sprinkler valued at $25 from Tifereth Israel Synagogue was reported to police Monday.

More Actions On File Over Power Line

Two more actions have been filed in Lancaster District Court in connection with the 115,000-volt transmission line which the Loup River Public Power District is building around Lincoln.

Attorneys for the power district filed 10 petitions of appeal concerning land condemnation appraisals approved earlier in Lancaster County Court.

The appeals involve 11 tracts of land to the south and east of Lincoln where landowners contend the high voltage line will halt residential development.

The power company asks the court to "correctly redetermine" the damages, alleging the appraiser's awards were "erroneous," and "greatly in excess of damages actually suffered" by the landowners.

In the second action, Floyd L. and Betty Haengarde of Rt. 3 has filed suit for $57,000 damages from the power company.

They allege the easement should be valued at $5,000 and the power line will depreciate the valuation of their land $52,000.

ARMORED TRUCK GETS SHOT UP— IN 'INSIDE JOB'

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—An armored truck of Brink's Inc. was shot up—from the inside—and five passerby were slightly hurt in the odd mishap.

Police said the driver and a guard were eating lunch in the back of the vehicle, parked on a street in the business district, when one of them accidentally knocked over a 12-gauge shotgun propped against the wall.

The impact triggered the weapon and a charge of pellets blasted through the truck's side.

Minnie Mangum Enters Guilty Plea

. . . Sentence June 25

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Minnie Mangum whose phantom bookkeeping system financed her popular role of benefactor pleaded guilty Monday to stealing more than a million dollars from her employers since 1933.

Corporation Court Judge H. Lawrence Bullock accepted the plea of the plump former building and loan company officer and deferred sentence until June 25 pending a probation report.

Miss Mangum

The 51-year-old defendant, long noted for her lavish generosity to family and friends, was indicted last month on 16 presentments, one of which alleged she embezzled $2,884,000 from the new defunct Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn. Miss Mangum was assistant secretary-treasurer of the firm.

The defendant, a 190-pound spinster who lives wiith a blind sister, was convicted last Thursday of lying to the State Corporation Commission about Commonwealth's financial condition and her punishment was fixed by the trial jury at 10 years in prison.

Monday Miss Mangum was docketed for trial on an indictment alleging she embezzled $1,082,968.25. She stood for arraignment and said "guilty" in a barely audible voice. Her face was an expressionless mask, just as it has been on each of her public appearances since her arrest Dec. 29.

Defense Attorney Max R. Broudy then told Bullock he felt the charges in the other indictments related to the same offenses and Miss Mangum was arraigned and pleaded guilty to 12 indictments.

One of these 12 alleged embezzlement of $1,082,968.25; one charged embezzlement of $17,364.01; eight alleged forgery of the name of Roy F. Phillips, president of Commonwealth, and two alleged she gave false information about Commonwealth's liabilities to the State Corporation Commission.

State Prosecutor Linwood B. Tabb indicated he will ask the court on June 25 to permit him to drop the three embezzlement indictments — one alleging Miss Mangum stole $2,884,000 — on which the defendant has not been arraigned.

St. Louis Records H-Bomb Explosion 13 Minutes Later

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two seismographs at St. Louis University recorded the hydrogen bomb explosion near Bikini Atoll as "very slight disturbances" here.

Ross R. Heinrich, director of geophysics at the university's Institute of Technology, said the explosion was recorded 13 minutes after the blast.

"Time of the recording is about correct for the 6,500 miles the ground wave had to travel," Heinrich said.

Wesleyan Seismograph Showed 'Just A Trace'

Dean Powell, a student at the Nebraska Weseyan University, reported "just a trace" of movement on a seismograph when the hydrogen bomb was exploded.

Powell said that ordinarily a reaction of the kind he saw would be ignored.

Queen Of Britain Hopes For 'Flourishing' Of Soviet Peoples

LONDON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II told Soviet President Klementi Voroshilov in a message made public Monday night she hoped "for the flourishing of the Soviet peoples." She signed herself "your good friend."

The queen's message was a reply to one Voroshilov presented to her through Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev when they visited Britain last month. The texts of the messages were broadcast Monday by the Moscow radio. The queen said:

"To the Chairman of the Presidium of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet (Voroshilov):

"Mr. Chairman, it gave me great pleasure to receive from Marshal Bulganin and Mr. Khrushchev your message of April 14, in which you sent me and my peoples good wishes from you personally and from the peoples of the Soviet Union as well as from the Presidum of the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet.

"I am expressing to you my gratitude for this valuable expression of good will. I express the hope that the visit of the Soviet leaders to the United Kingdon as guests of my government will contribute to the improvement of friendship and mutual understanding between our two countries and peoples, for the maintenance and improvement of which I sincerely hope. I take this opportunity to express my best wishes for your good health and the flourishing of the Soviet peoples.

"Your good friend, Queen Elizabeth."

ALCATRAZ WHITE-NEGRO RIOT HALTED

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — A fist-throwing riot between white and Negro inmates of Alcatraz Federal Prison was disclosed Monday by officials of the famed island institution in San Francisco Bay.

The fighting broke out Sunday in the recreation area of the "Rock" after a Negro inmate, Leroy Fuller, stabbed and slightly wounded a white prisoner, Charles Schultz, during a baseball game.

A number of fist battles between white and Negro ball players and spectators ensued, but prison guards waded in and speedily halted the hostilities.

Warden Paul J. Madigan said there were no injuries among guards or inmates, except for minor cuts suffered by Schultz who is serving an 18-year term for bank robbery.

Fuller, an Army prisoner, is serving a sentence of 23 years for rape and murder.

Education Board Studying Transfer Of Retzlaff Farm

The Board of Education considered a request for transfer of property belonging to Fred C. Retzlaff so that his children could attend the Waverly School, but tabled the problem until a further study could be made.

Ted Frazier, attorney for Retzlaff, said that the Retzlaff children have to walk about two and a quarter miles to the Lincoln School District's Norwood Park school, whereas the Waverly school bus goes directly past the Retzlaff farm.

There will be two Retzlaff children in school this fall and two more later. One child has been attending the Waverly school on a temporary permit, but it was not renewed by the Waverly School Board.

Since the Retzlaff property is now in the Lincoln School District the family would have to pay tuition for all children attending the Waverly school.

Dr. Watkins, however, declined to approve the transfer as a matter of policy and Board members discussed the possibility of industrial and home development in the area as reasons for refusing the request.

Only Five Counties Have Sent Returns From Primary Vote

The secretary of state Monday had in hand election returns from five counties from last Tuesday's primary voting.

The state canvassing board will meet June 4, according to law.

The Valley County abstract was the first to reach the secretary of state's office.

County Clerk Leonard Wood delivered it personally last Saturday, within 24 hours after the county board had canvassed the precinct returns.

Abstracts from Grant, Hooker, Wheeler and Perkins Counties arrived by mail Monday.

H-Effects Limit Said Too High

. . . AEC Accused

WASHINGTON (INS) — Dr. Ralph E. Lapp accused the Atomic Energy Commission Monday of using a radiation limit "from 10 to a 100 times to high" in finding that H-bomb tests can be held indefinitely without damage to world health.

The noted scientist, who was the first to warn that lethal radioactive fallout from a super bomb blast can spread over thousands of square miles, declared there is an "irreversible danger" that continued tests will permanently poison the atmosphere.

He told International News Service in an interview that he specifically challenges a statement by AEC member Willard F. Libby that the rate of testing could be stepped up 10,000 times without a world increase in cancer.

Lapp's original findings, later verified by the AEC, involved immediate radioactive fallout. His present concern is over material that is thrown high into the stratosphere and falls on the earth at a rate of about 10 per cent a year.

Strontium

The substance in dispute is radioactive strontium, one of the elements that is created when uranium atoms split. The element is similar to calcium and tends to cause cancer by concentrating in bone structure.

Lapp praised Libby, also an atomic scientist, for airing the subject last April 20 in a highly-technical speech on "the human uptake" of radioactive strontium, but disagreed with the AEC member's conclusion.

Lapp charged that:

1. The strontium tolerance limit used by Libby was too high. Lapp said this "permissible" limit was set for healthy adults working under controlled conditions. He said "authorities are agreed" the limit for world populations including infants and children should be "from 10 to 100 times lower."

2. Radiation-health experts within the AEC are remaining silent because the commission's "party line" is to take an optimistic view of radiation danger. He said an international body should be appointed to draw up more realistic standards.

Train Hits Auto, Kills 8 Including Ohio Family Of 6

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — A speeding New York Central passenger train struck an automobile here, killing eight persons including a family of six.

The victims were starting for their homes in Akron, Ohio, after attending an evangelistic meeting in a hall here. They were:

Millard C. Martin, 37; his wife, Eugenia, 33; their children, David, 15, Donald, 14, Sharlene, 9 and Timothy, 3; Warren Edwards, 46, and his wife, Mary, 45.

The train, the NYC's Pacemaker bound from Chicago to New York, was going about 70 miles an hour as it approached the crossing. Its engineer, W. C. Karchure of Toledo, said the car made no apparent effort to stop although the diesel locomotive's bell, whistle and oscillating headlight were in operation.

Bodies and wreckage were scattered along the tracks for about a half-mile.

Autopsy Ordered For Woman Found Dead In Closet

OMAHA (AP) — Acting County Coroner George Sullivan Monday reported the death of a woman who had shut herself in a closet, stuffed paper in the cracks of the door and then lit a candle which burned up the oxygen.

Sullivan said Miss Kathryn Miller, 40, was found in the closet Monday. He ordered an autopsy.

Cypriots Kill One Briton With Bomb

. . . Three Wounded

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Cypriot rebels hiding among rioting schoolgirls tossed bombs at British troops Monday, killing one Briton and wounding three others.

Bomb splinters injured seven Greek Cypriot civilians in nearby shops, and two policemen.

The battle began quietly with schoolgirls demonstrating for the second day for Enosis—union with Greece. Then, as troops moved in to break up the march, rebels mingling with the girls threw bombs.

The first bombings came when three jeeploads of troops teargassed a group of 30 schoolgirls.

The girls yelled for more demonstrators and about 200 boys and girls joined in. Fifteen demonstrators were arrested and troops and police began a house-to-house search.

Army spokesmen announced the death of Lance Corp. C. N. Keightley from wounds he received in a bomb attack May 13.

Central Alliance Church Promotes Rev. L. L. King

The Rev. L. L. King of New York City, former pastor of the Central Alliance Church in Lincoln, is new secretary of the foreign department of the General Council of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

The Rev. Mr. King, who has served as a missionary to India, will succeed Dr. A. C. Snead of New York who is retiring after serving in the post since 1921.

Dr. A. W. Tozer, Chicago, was elected editor of the Alliance Weekly; the Rev. W. F. Smalley, New York, was elected secretary of the education department; the Rev. H. E. Nelson, New York, was re-elected secretary of the home department and P. B. Christie, Harrisburg, Pa., was named secretary of the publication department.

A spokesman said an Alliance source had been in error in reporting Saturday night that the general council had voted to send non-Caucasian missionaries into the field.

The resolution passed unanimously provided for a study of ways and means which would allow non-Caucasians from the United States and Canada to serve as society missionaries.

FRENCH BIRDMAN DIVES TO DEATH

LIVERPOOL, Eng. (AP) — French birdman Leo Valentin dived 9,000 feet to his death Monday trying to fly with wooden wings.

A holiday crowd of 100,000 seeking thrills at a Whitsun air display groaned in horror as he dropped like a rock into a field of wheat alongside Speke Airport.

Valentin, 37, called himself "the only living birdman." He met death through a twofold accident. First, he crashed into the side of his plane as he jumped, and so shattered one of his wings. Second, his two parachutes failed to open. One trailed behind him gleaming in the sun like a huge white sausage as he fell.

Valentin had flown often and successfully with his wings, which had a span of nine feet. They were attached to a steel corset and he controlled them with ailerons as though he were a minature glider. After descending to around 1,000 feet he would open his parachute and drop gently down. His record flight was three miles. Monday he had hoped to double the distance.

Champion parachutist in the French army, Valentin had made more than 600 jumps, two of them at the show here.

"I'm no daredevil," he once said—"I always take care that nothing can go wrong."

KARL SUES MISS M'DONALD FOR DIVORCE

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actress Marie McDonald was sued for divorce Monday by Harry Karl, millionaire shoe store owner.

Marie McDonald

He charged her with causing him "grievious mental suffering" and asked for custody of their two adopted children, Denise and Harrison, each 6.

The suit was filed in the same court in which Miss McDonald divorced Karl in October, 1954. They were remarried last June in Yuma, Ariz., but separated again two months ago.

Karl's action followed a public airing by Miss McDonald last week of charges that her husband beat her when she went to his Bel Air home. He denied her story and the district attorney's office refused to issue a felony complaint sought by the actress.

In his suit for divorce, Karl said his wife is suffering "from a sustained, chronic and serious illness." He gave this reason for seeking custody of the children.

Special Group To Study Problem Of Leighton St.

A special committee has been appointed by the City Council to study the question of opening or abandonment of Leighton from 33rd to 48th.

The group is composed of John Selleck, University of Nebraska business manager; George Knight, University Place banker; and Councilman Bennett S. (Abe) Martin.

The University has asked that the street be abandoned to further its agricultural research program in the area.

The opening of the street has been urged by University Place businessmen and others in the area.

Sprinkler Stolen

Theft of a walking-type lawn sprinkler valued at $25 from Tifereth Israel Synagogue was reported to police Monday.

More Actions On File Over Power Line

Two more actions have been filed in Lancaster District Court in connection with the 115,000-volt transmission line which the Loup River Public Power District is building around Lincoln.

Attorneys for the power district filed 10 petitions of appeal concerning land condemnation appraisals approved earlier in Lancaster County Court.

The appeals involve 11 tracts of land to the south and east of Lincoln where landowners contend the high voltage line will halt residential development.

The power company asks the court to "correctly redetermine" the damages, alleging the appraiser's awards were "erroneous," and "greatly in excess of damages actually suffered" by the landowners.

In the second action, Floyd L. and Betty Huengarde of Rt. 8 has filed suit for $57,000 damages from the power company.

They allege the easement should be valued at $5,000 and the power line will depreciate the valuation of their land $52,000.

Probers Find Morgenthau Overruled Harry White, Urged Money To Chiang

. . . Diaries Reveal '45 Incident

WASHINGTON (INS) —Senate investigators disclosed Monday that former Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau overruled the late Harry Dexter White in 1945 and insisted on continuing loan payments to Nationalist China under a 1942 promise.

The information was contained in portions of the Morgenthau diaries, made public by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

It inferred that White's position was supported by V. Frank Coe, White's assistant in the treasury in 1945. Coe was a committee witness who last week took the Fifth Amendment when asked if he was a Communist. At the same time he denied he was ever a Red spy.

Morgenthau heard his aids read a memorandum they had prepared for submission to President Truman, in office barely a month, recommending against further gold shipments to Nationalist China. But the secretary, recalling that three years earlier he had given his own signature to a 500 million dollar loan to Chiang Kai-shek, decided he would "not have any part of it" and vetoed the memo.

'Rat Hole'

Morgenthau, according to the diary, told his associates he would tell Mr. Truman: "Now, I think it's money down the rat hole, but here's the situation, and from what I gather around, I'm willing to let them have it provided you know what the circumstances are." And I'll go further. I'm going to recommend to him that we do let him have it."

White, identified by Elizabeth Bentley as a member of the Communist underground, said at one point he thought the "time to stop that is now" He insisted the Nationalist Chinese were "not using wisely" the first half of the 500 million dollar loan received between 1942 and 1945.

In another portion of the diaries, White was pictured as recommending Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, also named by Miss Bentley as head of a Communist spy ring in the government, for a $7,500 post in the treasury.

Morgenthau asked,"Is he worth it?" and White was quoted as replying: "Oh, yes."

Another participant in this conference of May 25, 1944, asked, "Is that the Silvermaster I know?" and White replied: "If you met him at my house."

GOPers Hit Report Against Clarence Davis

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Government Operations subcommittee staff report assailing administration power policies was branded as "a pamphlet of political bias" today by Republican subcommittee members.

The report, calling for the dismissal of Undersecretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis of Lincoln, Neb and Asst. Secretary Fred G. Aandahl, accused the two of favoring private utilities in the sale of federal power.

It was prepared by the staff of a subcommittee headed by Rep. Chudoff (D - Pa) and reportedly was approved by the Democratic members last week with the understanding it would not be made public until the full committee considered it on June 6.

The contents of the report leaked out over the weekend.

Rep. Dawson, chairman of the parent Government Operations Committee called publication of the report "regrettable."

All four Republican subcommittee members demanded that "disciplinary action" be taken against whoever was responsible for the premature leak.

Two of them, Reps. Jonas (R-NC) and Knox (R-Mich), aired their complants on the house floor. The other two, Reps. Hoffman (R-Mich) and Minshall (R-Ohio) told newsmen they concurred.

Jonas said the staff report presented "a one-sided view of the controversy" over administration policies.

"That it was deliberately planned this way by the person who released the report seems fairly obvious," he added. "The staff report represents a partisan effort to discredit the administration and to promote nationalization of the rural electrification business."

Jonas described it as "a pamphlet of political bias coupled with an insidious attack on the American system of free enterprise."

Jonas said witnesses during the subcommittee's hearings were "solicited" and "briefed" by staff members and "only adverse witnesses" were permitted to testify.

Dawson declined immediate comment on Jonas' statement.

However he said the news "leak" of the document had violated the faith and confidence under which the House group had agreed not to allow premature release. He said also it was an "incomplete document" in that further changes are planned in it before it receives full committee approval.

Blue Springs, Wymore School Vote Is Today

Lincoln Star Special

WYMORE, Neb. — Citizens of both Blue Springs and Wymore Tuesday will vote on whether to merge their schools. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. and voting will be in both towns.

The merger, endorsed by the county and state reorganization committees, would pave the way for a larger redistricting plan involving outlying districts who now contract with one of the two schools. The merger would make possible a school district valuation of more than six million dollars, adequate to support a kindergarten through 12th grade school program.

Wymore now has nearly 500 students and Blue Springs has 126. Of the total, 191 are high school students.

Mrs. Thomas Pansing, Lincoln Council president, opened the council fire, and recognition of all groups was given by Mrs. James Ager, president of the Lincoln Camp Fire Girls Leaders Association. Mrs. Jack Rodgers was in charge of arrangements. (Star Photo.)

State Polio Shots Age Limit May Hit 20 In July

At the present rate of delivery, there should be enough anti-polio vaccine available in Nebraska by July 1 to raise the age limit to 20, Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said Monday.

The present limit is 15.

So far this month 67,800 doses of the vaccine have arrived, bringing the total to 451,690 since the program started last fall.

Dr. Rogers said the hope is that by next year there will be enough vaccine to permit lifting of all control, so vaccination against polio would be possible for anyone wishing "without having to ask anybody."

County Suit Asks Split Of CPPD Funds

Lancaster County has filed a declaratory judgment suit asking a court determination of proper distribution of $77,462.10 paid by Consummers Public Power District in lieu of taxes for 1955.

The suit brought by County Treasurer C. E. Berg and the county was authorized last Tuesday by the county board of commissioners.

Named defendants are the City of Lincoln, Consumers Public Power District, State of Nebraska, 11 villages in the county, Sanitary District No. 1, the Lincoln School District and 43 other school districts.

The Lancaster District Court, where the suit was filed, is asked to determine the rights of the defendants to the funds and their legal relation in view of a recent Supreme Court decision regarding distribution of such funds in Scotts Bluff County.

The court is asked to determine whether Consumers' payment in lieu of taxes to Lincoln should be fixed, or vary from year to year, based on varying tax levies.

Other questions asked include whether or not the sanitary district is entitled to any payments; the correct method of distribution to the defendants, and the rights and duties of the county board of equalization in relation to Consumer's property.

Consumers has paid the $77,462.10 in escrow pending an agreement between the city and county as to correct distribution or a judicial determination.

Pair's Sentencing To Await Study

LeVerne Clover, 27, from Humboldt and a 17-year-old Lincoln youth pleaded guilty and nolo contendere, respectively, in Lancaster District Court to a burglary charge.

The pair were charged with the May 20 burglary of John F. Duffey's refrigerator repair shop at 930 No. 27th.

Police said some copper tubing and some other items were found missing.

Judge John L. Polk deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Beck Rules On Nursing Home County Tax Levy

Counties can levy a tax to acquire and equip nursing homes only if they are to be operated as a part of a community hospital, Attorney General C. S. Beck, Monday advised William C. Line, county attorney at Fremont.

He said it was not necessary to submit the question to a vote if the levy together with other levies of the county do not exceed the constitutional limit of five mills. About that figure a vote would be required.

Probers Find Morgenthau Overruled Harry White, Urged Money To Chiang

. . . Diaries Reveal '45 Incident

WASHINGTON (INS) —Senate investigators disclosed Monday that former Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau overruled the late Harry Dexter White in 1945 and insisted on continuing loan payments to Nationalist China under a 1942 promise.

The information was contained in portions of the Morgenthau diaries, made public by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

It inferred that White's position was supported by V. Frank Coe, White's assistant in the treasury in 1945. Coe was a committee witness who last week took the Fifth Amendment when asked if he was a Communist. At the same time he denied he was ever a Red spy.

Morgenthau heard his aids read a memorandum they had prepared for submission to President Truman, in office barely a month, recommending against further gold shipments to Nationalist China. But the secretary, recalling that three years earlier he had given his own signature to a 500 million dollar loan to Chiang Kai-shek, decided he would "not have any part of it" and vetoed the memo.

'Rat Hole'

Morgenthau, according to the diary, told his associates he would tell Mr. Truman: "Now, I think it's money down the rat hole, but here's the situation, and from what I gather around, I'm willing to let them have it provided you know what the circumstances are.' And I'll go further. I'm going to recommend to him that we do let him have it."

White, identified by Elizabeth Bentley as a member of the Communist underground, said at one point he thought the "time to stop that is now" He insisted the Nationalist Chinese were "not using wisely" the first half of the 500 million dollar loan received between 1942 and 1945.

In another portion of the diaries, White was pictured as recommending Nathan Gregory Silvermaster, also named by Miss Bentley as head of a Communist spy ring in the government, for a $7,500 post in the treasury.

Morgenthau asked,"Is he worth it?" and White was quoted as replying: "Oh, yes."

Another participant in this conference of May 25, 1944, asked, "Is that the Silvermaster I know?" and White replied: "If you met him at my house."

GOPers Hit Report Against Clarence Davis

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Government Operations subcommittee staff report assailing administration power policies was branded as "a pamphlet of political bias" today by Republican subcommittee members.

The report, calling for the dismissal of Undersecretary of the Interior Clarence A. Davis of Lincoln, Neb. and Asst. Secretary Fred G. Aandahl, accused the two of favoring private utilities in the sale of federal power.

It was prepared by the staff of a subcommittee headed by Rep. Chudoff (D - Pa) and reportedly was approved by the Democratic members last week with the understanding it would not be made public until the full committee considered it on June 6.

The contents of the report leaked out over the weekend.

Rep. Dawson, chairman of the parent Government Operations Committee called publication of the report "regrettable."

All four Republican subcommittee members demanded that "disciplinary action" be taken against whoever was responsible for the premature leak.

Two of them, Reps. Jonas (R-NC) and Knox (R-Mich), aired their complants on the house floor. The other two, Reps. Hoffman (R-Mich) and Minshall (R-Ohio) told newsmen they concurred.

Jonas said the staff report presented "a one-sided view of the controversy" over administration policies.

"That it was deliberately planned this way by the person who released the report seems fairly obvious," he added. "The staff report represents a partisan effort to discredit the administration and to promote nationalization of the rural electrification business."

Jonas described it as "a pamphlet of political bias coupled with an insidious attack on the American system of free enterprise."

Jonas said witnesses during the subcommittee's hearings were "solicited" and "briefed" by staff members and "only adverse witnesses" were permitted to testify.

Dawson declined immediate comment on Jonas' statement.

However he said the news "leak" of the document had violated the faith and confidence under which the House group had agreed not to allow premature release. He said also it was an "incomplete document" in that further changes are planned in it before it receives full committee approval.

Blue Springs, Wymore School Vote Is Today

Lincoln Star Special

WYMORE, Neb. — Citizens of both Blue Springs and Wymore Tuesday will vote on whether to merge their schools. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. and voting will be in both towns.

The merger, endorsed by the county and state reorganization committees, would pave the way for a larger redistricting plan involving outlying districts who now contract with one of the two schools. The merger would make possible a school district valuation of more than six million dollars, adequate to support a kindergarten through 12th grade school program.

Wymore now has nearly 500 students and Blue Springs has 126. Of the total, 191 are high school students.

State Polio Shots Age Limit May Hit 20 In July

At the present rate of delivery, there should be enough anti-polio vaccine available in Nebraska by July 1 to raise the age limit to 20, Dr. E. A. Rogers, state health director, said Monday.

The present limit is 15.

So far this month 67,800 doses of the vaccine have arrived, bringing the total to 451,690 since the program started last fall.

Dr. Rogers said the hope is that by next year there will be enough vaccine to permit lifting of all control, so vaccination against polio would be possible for anyone wishing "without having to ask anybody."

County Suit Asks Split Of CPPD Funds

Lancaster County has filed a declaratory judgment suit asking a court determination of proper distribution of $77,462.10 paid by Consummers Public Power District in lieu of taxes for 1955.

The suit brought by County Treasurer C. E. Berg and the county was authorized last Tuesday by the county board of commissioners.

Named defendants are the City of Lincoln, Consumers Public Power District, State of Nebraska, 11 villages in the county, Sanitary District No. 1, the Lincoln School District and 43 other school districts.

The Lancaster District Court, where the suit was filed, is asked to determine the rights of the defendants to the funds and their legal relation in view of a recent Supreme Court decision regarding distribution of such funds in Scotts Bluff County.

The court is asked to determine whether Consumers' payment in lieu of taxes to Lincoln should be fixed, or vary from year to year, based on varying tax levies.

Other questions asked include whether or not the sanitary district is entitled to any payments; the correct method of distribution to the defendants, and the rights and duties of the county board of equalization in relation to Consumer's property.

Consumers has paid the $77,462.10 in escrow pending an agreement between the city and county as to correct distribution or a judicial determination.

Pair's Sentencing To Await Study

LeVerne Clover, 27, from Humboldt and a 17-year-old Lincoln youth pleaded guilty and nolo contendere, respectively, in Lancaster District Court to a burglary charge.

The pair were charged with the May 20 burglary of John F. Duffey's refrigerator repair shop at 938 No. 27th.

Police said some copper tubing and some other items were found missing.

Judge John L. Polk deferred sentencing pending an investigation by the adult probation officer.

Wholesome Debt

Walter McAllister, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, a visitor in Lincoln over the week end, told representatives of the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations that the rapid expansion of loan funds over the nation reflected a healthy economy.

There are some who will disagree, those who see in the nation's tremendous home building boom the makings of inflation. Such could be sustained by a general picture of rapidly expanding credit, but in the instance of housing there are special qualifications.

It is a question whether home debt should be classed as debt in the usual sense of the word and weighed in as such in the usual contemplation of the national credit picture. A householder is an occupant of housing all his life. He will pay for that housing either in the form of rent or he will declare by engaging in a debt that he proposes to remain in a given home a stated period of years and intends to become the owner of it. Eliminate all home purchasing and national credit totals would fall precipitously, but housing would continue and rentals would rise in comparable proportion.

McAllister's word served to point out a comforting phenomenon. Americans cherish home owning more than ever and as a result American homes are the finest and most sightly in the world. It is hard to criticize a movement that has produced so much that is laudable and desirable.

Truly Melancholy Thoughts

The graying sage of Goose Creek—beg pardon, Goose Hill—who more often is recognized as Hyde Sweet—turns his attention to that peculiar specimen of Nebraska who is always yakking for economy in federal government while insisting that Congress vote funds for his very meritorious little project.

"I must be fair to Messrs. F. D. R. and Harry S. (but, Lord, how it hurts!) by saying that Congress is full of vote-catching Republicans who are just as recklessly trying to spend people rich through giveaways and appropriations for more useless gadgets as the New Dealers did when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins instituted the theory of spend-and-tax."

Then Mr. Sweet comes to this morbid view of humanity:

"All my adult life I have wondered why candidates for office should be afraid of voting their consciences. I may be wrong, but my assumption is that a man who runs for and obtains an office is selected because the people who voted for him expect him to have guts enough to be honest with his conscience. But I'm afraid I am wrong."

Mr. Sweet is wrong only to the extent that he seems to think people still are voting. When one out of every four—or was it one out of every five?—goes to the polls to vote in a state primary, Mr. Sweet has the answer to the question that has given him a great deal of concern. Somehow we have the notion Mr. Sweet is writing about a lot of Nebraskans in anything but complimentary terms. They are keen for federal funds—when the chips are down, more keen for federal funds than they are for economy. In view of the light vote, we were about to suggest that what Nebraska's primary needs most is not well-known names but new names and fresh faces—not only fresh faces but new instead of old weary voices. Gadzooks! What a primary that would be!

We Lost The Line

The news was unwelcome but it was no surprise to learn that the House committee on appropriations tossed Nebraska's request for the Fort Randall-Grand Island electric transmission line into the discard.

The specific request was for $5.5 million as an initial appropriation to get the long-projected 230 kilovolt line tapping Missouri Basin power for the benefit of the rapidly growing central Nebraska demand.

The news, no surprise, conforms to administration policy. Although the line was in basin planning from the outset it has felt the chill of the current Washington climate, expressed during the last Congress by a Department of Interior statement that the line was unfeasible. Efforts to gain the appropriation later in the session as a supplementary appropriation failed. A smaller, less expensive line was approved connecting Fort Randall with Neligh in north central Nebraska. The situation remained unchanged except for an expression favorable to the line by President Eisenhower at the outset of the current session. Obviously administration action did not accompany the statement. The President, it appears, did not follow through.

There will be further opportunities yet this session for Nebraska. Special efforts will be made in both the House and the Senate. But it cannot be gainsaid the House committee's rejection has made the going tough.

Nebraska urgently needs the line. It is faced with a forecast power shortage by 1958. Two efforts by major power agencies have fallen by the wayside in the face of inter-agency litigation. A third effort, the current one in which Central Public Power and Irrigation District has undertaken a plant at Lexington is experiencing delayed financing. In brief, as the time runs low, Nebraska is not making requisite headway in preparing for its future power requirements.

Nebraska is not blameless. Its congressional delegations have not been friends to public power beyond the confines of Nebraska. Such coolness is coming home to roost. Its electorate has supported a national administration that does not conceal a certain distaste for public power albeit Nebraska is totally a public power state. If it is apathy then reality is catching up with it and the consequences are not happy ones to contemplate.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Not all of Ike's staunch, warm-hearted friends in the ranks of the American press see eye to eye. One, Charles B. Cleveland, a political writer on the staff of the Chicago Daily News, comes up with the whimsical hunch that Ike will even run better than he did in his landslide victory in 1952. Could be, but that view does not make sense at this time. Nothing in the meaningless primaries, meaningless because of an overpowering apathy among both Republicans and Democrats, supports his conclusion.

Results In Oregon

Oregon's voters were the last to go to the polls last Friday. Cleveland's article would not have been so silly had it not been written previous to the Oregon vote. He mentions apathy. It was thick enough to cut with a knife in Nebraska—not so in Oregon. There the voters cast a fairly satisfactory primary vote. Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver entered the Oregon tussle early enough to get their names on the ballot. Their supporters had to write in the names. This they did to the tune of 145,161 with 60 scattered precincts missing. When 145,000 voters will take the trouble to write in a name, boy you have something. Eisenhower, whose name was on the ballot only got 221,471 votes. The battle for the seat in the United States Senate was even more significant. Wayne Morse, chief target of Oregon Republicans received 191,159 votes—an unknown opponent gathered in 39,221 for a total of 230,380. Former Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay failed to muster a majority for the Republican nomination. He got 118,105 with 60 precincts missing—his three opponents, 121,530—figures which certainly support the conclusion Wayne Morse is very much in the battle.

Cleveland chooses to ignore that for the first time in the history of the state of Oregon, Democrats now outnumber the Republicans in registration by 14,000 votes. Also they seem to be voting. The man is silly when it comes to Texas. There Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson teamed up to give Gov. Shivers, Ike's devoted friend in Texas, one whale of a thumping. And we doubt seriously that all the other southern states which supported the President in 1952 will be found in the Eisenhower column in 1956.

GOP Estimate High

As evidence of the length to which a Republican propagandist will go, one of the most enlightening of all reports on primary elections was given front page treatment by the pro-Eisenhower Christian Science Monitor. A member of the Monitor's staff, Max Gilstrap, writing from Indianapolis in the May 12, issue said that "despite President Eisenhower's considerable margin of votes over the total received by Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in Indiana's first presidential primary in 28 years, complete unofficial returns gave the Democrats more cause for elation than it did the Republicans. The Indiana results," Gilstrap continues, "taken together with the outcome of primaries in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois appear to indicate that while Mr. Eisenhower's enormous personal popularity largely continues the farm unrest has taken the edge of some of his strong support . . . Republican State Chairman Alvin Cast had optimistically forecast a 400,000 to 450,000 Republican vote with Mr. Eisenhower expected to get 90 per cent of that total. Democratic State Chairman Carl Skiliin forecast cautiously a party vote of 300,000 including 200,000 for Sen. Kefauver . . . The senator ran ahead of this forecast by more than 20 per cent . . . he got more votes than Mr. Eisenhower in four of Indiana's 11 districts . . . Mr. Kefauver led Mr. Eisenhower in Congressional districts 1, 7, 8 and 9. His triumphs in the First and Eighth districts were not too surprising since they elected Democrats to Congress two years ago, but Republican Congressmen won the Seventh and Ninth districts."

★

Cleveland it appears, was turning out party soap. Figures simply do not sustain his conclusions. Much more the fact is the oft repeated observation that the primaries thus far furnish a poor foundation for November's election forecasts. When we vote in November the farm states will vote upon 1956's harvest and commodity prices. The people in the cities will vote upon employment and wages.. Places and prosperity can be as dangerous as well as a many splendored thing.

Atomic Insurance

Although atomic electric plants have been generally described as low hazard institutions the Atomic Energy Commission has asked the government to shoulder public liability beyond the limit of private insurance just in case an installation should go wrong.

Thus far private insurance carriers have expressed a willingness to cover plant liability up to a point. It is in event that a catastrophe might bring on greater losses than that that the AEC wants the government in the picture.

There has not enough been said by those in the know on the whole subject of the atomic age, but the remote possibility of an A-plant going wrong is not enough to stop progress and if at the outset there is no record upon which to base the risk there is nothing illogical in asking the government to do some extra-limit covering so long as it is extended to public power as well as to private power. But there is this about it. All the side-taking over who is to control the fruits of federal development in the atomic field, it is examples like the insurance question that say the government cannot wholly hand away to private interests that which it has fashioned. Perforce it must remain in the field to accept its proper share of responsibility.

Texas Democrats Gather In Dallas

WASHINGTON — Some interesting things may happen in Texas today when Texas Democrats, fresh from trouncing Gov. Allan Shivers, gather at their state convention.

Though their vote against Shivers was hailed as a vote of confidence for Sen. Lyndon Johnson, now Texas' favorite son, actually there were some significant backstage factors that may cause ripples of dissent. That's why the astute Lyndon flew back to Texas.

Real fact is that the Texas vote was more a victory for venerable speaker Sam Rayburn, political patron saint of Texas, than anyone else. Sam had never wavered in his opposition to Shivers. Lyndon had.

In 1952, at the Democratic convention in Chicago, Governor Shivers had given his word to Rayburn that, if given a seat at the convention he would support the Democratic ticket there chosen. It was the likeable Lyndon who brought his friend Allan to Rayburn's room in the Blackstone Hotel and told Sam that Allan could be trusted.

Rayburn did trust him. Whereupon Shivers bolted the ticket, and carried Texas for Eisenhower.

Sam Rayburn has never forgiven him for that and never will. He, Rayburn, proceeded to stump the state of Texas for Stevenson, in opposition to the man who had broken his word, while his young protege, the likable Lyndon, kept aloof. Lyndon made one radio broadcast over his wife's station for Stevenson. That was all.

Meanwhile, Rayburn, aged 70, traveled all over the state. Later he raised money at $10-a-plate dinners. Other loyal Democrats joined him, but not Lyndon.

SECRET FRIENDS

Lyndon and Shivers, meanwhile remained friends. And when the Southern Governors' Conference met in Boca Raton in 1954, Shivers had a secret talk with his fellow Dixiecrat governor, Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina in Byrnes's room in which he, Shivers, proposed that the south support Johnson in 1956 as its favorite son.

Governor Byrnes's reaction was brief and to the point. "An upstart and a whippersnapper" was what he called the Democratic leader of the Senate.

Later, when Shivers came to Washington for the Governors' conference of 1954, it was his friend Johnson who arranged a breakfast for him with the Texas Congressmen. It was cordial and congenial, except for one thing. Shivers made no headway with Speaker Rayburn.

Mr. Sam's motto it "If a man goes back on his word, never trust him again." He would have nothing to do with Shivers. However, private meetings between Shivers and Johnson continued. The likable Lyndon believes in compromise. He likes to get along with people. When Johnson would come back to Texas, Shivers would slip out of the capital and go to visit Lyndon at his ranch 65 miles out of Austin. They worked together on a lot of things, including the selection of Lt Gov. Ben Ramsey, satellite of Brown & Root, as Democratic National Committeeman.

It was not surprising, therefore, when Lyndon tried to patch up a compromise with Shivers before the recent Texas conventions. Few people knew it, but he even proposed that Shivers be a delegate to the Chicago convention. Mr. Sam, however, said no. Reached by Lyndon on the telephone at Bonham, he stormed:

"No, by God, we won't have that . . . on the delegation."

That was that.

Johnson in Reverse

At an April meeting at the Johnson ranch, Lyndon sat down with the Rayburn loyalists, the Democratic Advisory Committee which had held the party together for three years, and made a bargain as to what would happen if the loyalists won. The following was agreed:

1. Democratic party officers must sign a new pledge to support the party. Old officers who had not been loyal must go.
2. The Democratic caucuses of each congressional district would pick its delegate to Chicago without outside interference or dictation.

Bomb Is Inferno In Technicolor

ABOARD USS MT. McKINLEY—We have proved to good and wavering friends in the world that our military and scientific wizards have packaged a hydrogen bomb we can transport anywhere in the world and drop with utterly ghastly effects.

I still cannot quite believe what I saw. As years roll on I am certain that the spirit will lend even less credence to memory.

It was as if some great knife had split the black curtain of the Pacific predawn and showed us through that jagged tear a cross section of an inferno. This was Dante in Technicolor magnified a billion times. You forget that light is heat and heat is light and they travel hand in hand, and so it was bewildering and frightening to feel yourself being simultaneously roasted and blinded (despite the heavy density glasses and the instinctive lowering of the head) by something happening nearly 40 miles away.

I took off my glasses too soon and the light reflecting from the board on which sat my typewriter was so great it was like a sharp stick in the eyeballs. Then I looked up in the awful silence that precedes the leisurely arrival of the bomb's roar and beheld a pillar of molten flame like a fiery sword rising out of the watery horizon and reaching at least 20,000 feet up to its pointed tiptop. At what amounted to its handle was a lacy cuff of steaming seawater and probably crushed coral of target island Namu. The cuff must have extended over several miles, nothing in its folds could conceivably live.

The most violent changes were taking place in the color and shape of the apparition that writhed before us. The sword was suddenly sheathed and in its stead the fireball which had momentarily been a blazing helmet lying on the horizon—a helmet sized four miles — now climbed dizzily, changing its color to peach as it cooled off to perhaps 10 times the heat of the sun's surface. As it rose it sucked up behind it sickly white steam, perhaps a mile wide and thick enough to resemble marble.

At that instant, for us on the flag bridge of the McKinley at least, the curtain was drawn. Between us and the conflagration sailed a towering cloud that made the next three minutes of the life of Cherokee a mystery. But a thing like that can't be held in bondage. Soon it was crushing the biggest peach sundae in history over the top of the charcoal gray cloud. The blob rose and rose and the more it rose the wider it spread.

Ike Gives Thought To B. And K. Visit

WASHINGTON — The touring twosome from the Soviet Union, Nikita S. Khrushchev, leader of the Communist party, and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin have by indirection conveyed to President Eisenhower their wish to visit the United States sometime soon.

The President has begun discussions with his advisors, both diplomatic and political, about what to do. Such a visit would always be an affair of extreme delicacy. With the national political conventions so close and the presidential election following, it acquires an added dimension to which the White House is keenly sensitive.

The President begins with very great advantages.

The country has confidence in him. The potentially virulent critics of the visit are mostly in his own party and from now until the first Tuesday in November Republicans must gag themselves lest Eisenhower become irked and refuse to save them by running again. And while Democrats would certainly discuss the visit, they are confirmed internationalists and long since took the pledge not to attack a President personally on foreign affairs as Roosevelt and Truman were often assailed.

Also peace is a powerful word and this country can be persuaded to take risks in its name.

The negative aspects are obvious. Encounters of this kind are subject to accident and misadventure. It might be merely an ill-chosen phrase like the famous "lunatic engineer" of the Dewey campaign in 1948. Or it might be events of sudden and upsetting significance which could not be forseen.

Observation of their other travels suggests too that "Krush and Bulge" are by way of being experts in the art of surprise. Perhaps they occasionally surprise themselves when they review the reactions provoked from them as in the case of their famous dinner party with the hierarchy of British labor.

Certainly their potential hosts must always steel themselves to expect the unexpected. Their wish to come here still represents a challenge and an opportunity.

The President is believed in some quarters to feel that he would prefer to entertain his old World War II friend, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Soviet defense minister. The two are "pen pals," as the President has freely said.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

. . . And A Husky Paw To The Jaw

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

No one yells "mush" at Smoky, the Alaskan Husky owned by City Fireman LaVerne Hansel of 319 So. 26th.

He hasn't saved a town by pulling diphtheria serum through the frozen snow. He hasn't even been hitched to a dog sled.

The nearest thing to a big freeze Smoky has been in is the frozen food chest in the Hansel kitchen.

The 40-pound beautifully furred silver canine lives the life of a king. No hard times for this pooch.

But the relatively warm weather of Nebraska doesn't sap all his energy. Hansel has proof of that—a black eye. The owner and his dog were playing rough-house when-whack—up comes a furry paw right in the kisser.

As the spring weather descends upon Lincoln, Smoky's fur descends upon the floor. Hansel says his dog has shed "about two gallons of fur" this spring.

The Hansels still remember the day when the "little ball of fur" arrived by plane from Colorado. The Hansels reached out eagerly to grab their new friend and they were greeted by a snap of sharp little teeth.

The little Husky has changed his ways since arriving here in January and has adopted a very easy-going manner to suit his easy-going life.

Age And Elections

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This writer would be the last to be critical of old age. It will not be too long until I join those ranks.

I note, however, that two gentlemen, both over 70 years of age and both Democrats, have won nomination to high political office in Nebraska. I could not, and would not under any circumstances vote for either and it would not be from any reflection on their integrity or intelligence. The strain of the duties connected with most high governmental positions, can best be born by younger persons in full command of all facilities. These men are doing themselves and the party and friends they chose to represent an injustice.

The same kind of thinking will prevail among most intelligent voters, when they come to evaluate President Eisenhower's bid for re-election. No President has ever lived who was elected to the presidency after the age of 65. No man has the moral right to vote a man into his grave.

Not Convinced

Wymore, Neb.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Cecil Matthews has been griping serially about Secretary Benson's farm surplus plight. All right. But then he turns around and says the good Lord has been over Benson all the time, above all criticism, collecting the surpluses for another hellish and futile war which the Prince of Peace is against. He thinks Benson should be able to believe this ill-imagined story, if, as a Mormon, he believes in the pelican-grasshopper story. And we don't believe Mr. Matthews voted for Al Smith just because prejudiced forces were against him.

Dump Site Liked

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are a lot of discussions and objections appearing in our local newspapers about the new location of garbage disposal grounds, so I would like to give my opinion of the dispute.

Some say that the Miracle Mile would be ruined, including all of North Lincoln. As for that statement, I offer the fact that garbage has been hauled through the business district of Lincoln for almost 40 years that I know of and it has not been destroyed altogether, and is in as good shape as any city that I have seen, better than most.

None of the objectors have offered better locations and probably could not if they had the opportunity. The city administration has done very well in selecting the new location, and it will be a good choice in the long run. The wind travels usually northeast in the warmer months which should provide less liability of odor from this location than most other locations would provide.

Cactus Grows In The Kitchen Sink

A kitchen is no place for a cacti farm. This is a premise upon which our entire family is agreed. Unfortunately it is also a premise upon which our friends do not agree. Therefore we have a kitchen cacti farm.

No one who has ever walked through a forest of sahuarosa, which are the 20-to-30 foot-high giant cacti found extensively in Arizona, can ever forget the experience. No one who has ever brushed a bushy, silvery cholla—the head-high so-called jumping cactus—will ever forget that experience, either, although memory lingers for a different reason.

For that matter, sitting down unintentionally on the flattened pear shape of a prickly pear leaf leaves an indelible impression on the emotions, as well.

These are experiences I have had in abundance, through the coincidence of being native myself to the region where these stickered monstrosities are also plentifully native. Nor is my family alien to the sensations, both of awe and otherwise, that can be aroused by a husky thicket of wild-growing cacti.

That is why it seems to us that cacti belong on a thousand-acre mesa, not in a 12x20 kitchen. Perversely, that also seems to be why our friends think they belong in our kitchen. They think that anyone who has lived on the desert must get awfully homesick for a cactus. They do their utmost to keep us from gettting homesick.

The woman who lives next door gave us our first kitchen cactus. "Just to remind you of old times," she said. I had some difficulty recognizing it. It looked like a very small and skinny pickle that had bleached, starved and warped in a high gale. Also it was bald. There was not a sticker on its puny little frame. Mrs. F. restrained me in the nick of time from eating it on the theory that it was some new form of water cress.

Our friends did not share my difficulty in recognition. "Oh you're starting a cactus garden," they would exclaim, and soon thereafter they would make their contributions. They are nice people, but I suspect that they had cacti gardens themselves which they wished to liquidate.

I do not think that these small upstarts which now fill all kitchen windows and overflow onto the sink are really cacti. They come in every shape from pretzel to exclamation point, and every shade from bilious green to blushing crimson, but they couldn't muster up a single thorn among them all if they strained at it now to sunrise. You could serve them all in a salad and not even get a fuzzy tongue.

That was the state of affairs, at least, until Mrs. F. uncautiously mentioned our cacti garden in a letter to her Uncle Earl, who lives where the thorns grow long and the cows keep their distance from a cholla thicket. Soon thereafter a package came for us. "For your garden," it said on the outside. Mrs. F. who knows her Uncle Earl better than I do said, "You open it."

I should not have reached inside among the tissue paper wrappings. There was a cholla ball there. A cholla ball (you pronounce it choya) is about as big as a golf ball at the core and the size of a baseball on the outer rim.

The difference between core and outer rim is made up of at least 1,967 of nature's needles. I did not have to grasp the cholla ball to take it out of the package. It came out attached to me.

Wholesome Debt

Walter McAllister, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, a visitor in Lincoln over the week end, told representatives of the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations that the rapid expansion of loan funds over the nation reflected a healthy economy.

There are some who will disagree, those who see in the nation's tremendous home building boom the makings of inflation. Such could be sustained by a general picture of rapidly expanding credit, but in the instance of housing there are special qualifications.

It is a question whether home debt should be classed as debt in the usual sense of the word and weighed in as such in the usual contemplation of the national credit picture. A householder is an occupant of housing all his life. He will pay for that housing either in the form of rent or he will declare by engaging in a debt that he proposes to remain in a given home a stated period of years and intends to become the owner of it. Eliminate all home purchasing and national credit totals would fall precipitously, but housing would continue and rentals would rise in comparable proportion.

McAllister's word served to point out a comforting phenomenon. Americans cherish home owning more than ever and as a result American homes are the finest and most sightly in the world. It is hard to criticize a movement that has produced so much that is laudable and desirable.

Truly Melancholy Thoughts

The graying sage of Goose Creek—beg pardon, Goose Hill—who more often is recognized as Hyde Sweet—turns his attention to that peculiar specimen of Nebraska who is always yakking for economy in federal government while insisting that Congress vote funds for his very meritorious little project.

"I must be fair to Messrs. F. D. R. and Harry S. (but, Lord, how it hurts!) by saying that Congress is full of vote-catching Republicans who are just as recklessly trying to spend people rich through giveaways and appropriations for more useless gadgets as the New Dealers did when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins instituted the theory of spend-and-tax."

Then Mr. Sweet comes to this morbid view of humanity:

"All my adult life I have wondered why candidates for office should be afraid of voting their consciences. I may be wrong, but my assumption is that a man who runs for and obtains an office is selected because the people who voted for him expect him to have guts enough to be honest with his conscience. But I'm afraid I am wrong."

Mr. Sweet is wrong only to the extent that he seems to think people still are voting. When one out of every four—or was it one out of every five?—goes to the polls to vote in a state primary, Mr. Sweet has the answer to the question that has given him a great deal of concern. Somehow we have the notion Mr. Sweet is writing about a lot of Nebraskans in anything but complimentary terms. They are keen for federal funds—when the chips are down, more keen for federal funds than they are for economy. In view of the light vote, we were about to suggest that what Nebraska's primary needs most is not well-known names but new names and fresh faces—not only fresh faces but new instead of old weary voices. Gadzooks! What a primary that would be!

We Lost The Line

The news was unwelcome but it was no surprise to learn that the House committee on appropriations tossed Nebraska's request for the Fort Randall-Grand Island electric transmission line into the discard.

The specific request was for $5.5 million as an initial appropriation to get the long-projected 230 kilovolt line tapping Missouri Basin power for the benefit of the rapidly growing central Nebraska demand.

The news, no surprise, conforms to administration policy. Although the line was in basin planning from the outset it has felt the chill of the current Washington climate, expressed during the last Congress by a Department of Interior statement that the line was unfeasible. Efforts to gain the appropriation later in the session as a supplementary appropriation failed. A smaller, less expensive line was approved connecting Fort Randall with Neligh in north central Nebraska. The situation remained unchanged except for an expression favorable to the line by President Eisenhower at the outset of the current session. Obviously administration action did not accompany the statement. The President, it appears, did not follow through.

There will be further opportunities yet this session for Nebraska. Special efforts will be made in both the House and the Senate. But it cannot be gainsaid the House committee's rejection has made the going tough.

Nebraska urgently needs the line. It is faced with a forecast power shortage by 1958. Two efforts by major power agencies have fallen by the wayside in the face of inter-agency litigation. A third effort, the current one in which Central Public Power and Irrigation District has undertaken a plant at Lexington is experiencing delayed financing. In brief, as the time runs low, Nebraska is not making requisite headway in preparing for its future power requirements.

Nebraska is not blameless. Its congressional delegations have not been friends to public power beyond the confines of Nebraska. Such coolness is coming home to roost. Its electorate has supported a national administration that does not conceal a certain distaste for public power albeit Nebraska is totally a public power state. If it is apathy then reality is catching up with it and the consequences are not happy ones to contemplate.

Atomic Insurance

Although atomic electric plants have been generally described as low hazard institutions the Atomic Energy Commission has asked the government to shoulder public liability beyond the limit of private insurance just in case an installation should go wrong.

Thus far private insurance carriers have expressed a willingness to cover plant liability up to a point. It is in event that a catastrophe might bring on greater losses than that that the AEC wants the government in the picture.

There has not enough been said by those in the know on the whole subject of the atomic age, but the remote possibility of an A-plant going wrong is not enough to stop progress and if at the outset there is no record upon which to base the risk there is nothing illogical in asking the government to do some extra-limit covering so long as it is extended to public power as well as to private power. But there is this about it. All the side-taking over who is to control the fruits of federal development in the atomic field, it is examples like the insurance question that say the government cannot wholly hand away to private interests that which it has fashioned. Perforce it must remain in the field to accept its proper share of responsibility.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Not all of Ike's staunch, warm-hearted friends in the ranks of the American press see eye to eye. One, Charles B. Cleveland, a political writer on the staff of the Chicago Daily News, comes up with the whimsical hunch that Ike will even run better than he did in his landslide victory in 1952. Could be, but that view does not make sense at this time. Nothing in the meaningless primaries, meaningless because of an overpowering apathy among both Republicans and Democrats, supports his conclusion.

Results In Oregon

Oregon's voters were the last to go to the polls last Friday. Cleveland's article would not have been so silly had it not been written previous to the Oregon vote. He mentions apathy. It was thick enough to cut with a knife in Nebraska —not so in Oregon. There the voters cast a fairly satisfactory primary vote. Neither Stevenson nor Kefauver entered the Oregon tussle early enough to get their names on the ballot. Their supporters had to write in the names. This they did to the tune of 145,161 with 60 scattered precincts missing. When 145,000 voters will take the trouble to write in a name, boy you have something. Eisenhower, whose name was on the ballot only got 221,471 votes. The battle for the seat in the United States Senate was even more significant. Wayne Morse, chief target of Oregon Republicans received 191,159 votes—an unknown opponent gathered in 39,221 for a total of 230,380. Former Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay failed to muster a majority for the Republican nomination. He got 118,105 with 60 precincts missing—his three opponents, 121,530—figures which certainly support the conclusion Wayne Morse is very much in the battle.

Cleveland chooses to ignore that for the first time in the history of the state of Oregon, Democrats now outnumber the Republicans in registration by 14,000 votes. Also they seem to be voting. The man is silly when it comes to Texas. There Sam Rayburn and Senator Lyndon Johnson teamed up to give Gov. Shivers, Ike's devoted friend in Texas, one whale of a thumping. And we doubt seriously that all the other southern states which supported the President in 1952 will be found in the Eisenhower column in 1956.

GOP Estimate High

As evidence of the length to which a Republican propagandist will go, one of the most enlightening of all reports on primary elections was given front page treatment by the pro-Eisenhower Christian Science Monitor. A member of the Monitor's staff, Max Gilstrap, writing from Indianapolis in the May 12, issue said that "despite President Eisenhower's considerable margin of votes over the total received by Estes Kefauver of Tennessee in Indiana's first presidential primary in 28 years, complete unofficial returns gave the Democrats more cause for elation than it did the Republicans. The Indiana results," Gilstrap continues, "taken together with the outcome of primaries in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois appear to indicate that while Mr. Eisenhower's enormous personal popularity largely continues the farm unrest has taken the edge of some of his strong support . . . Republican State Chairman Alvin Cast had optimistically forecast a 400,000 to 450,000 Republican vote with Mr. Eisenhower expected to get 90 per cent of that total. Democratic State Chairman Carl Skillin forecast cautiously a party vote of 300,000 including 200,000 for Sen. Kefauver . . . The senator ran ahead of this forecast by more than 20 per cent . . . he got more votes than Mr. Eisenhower in four of Indiana's 11 districts . . . Mr. Kefauver led Mr. Eisenhower in Congressional districts 1, 7, 8 and 9. His triumphs in the First and Eighth districts were not too surprising since they elected Democrats to Congress two years ago, but Republican Congressmen won the Seventh and Ninth districts."

★

Cleveland it appears, was turning out party soap. Figures simply do not sustain his conclusions. Much more the fact is the oft repeated observation that the primaries thus far furnish a poor foundation for November's election forecasts. When we vote in November the farm states will vote upon 1956's harvest and commodity prices. The people in the cities will vote upon employment and wages. Places and prosperity can be as dangerous as well as a many splendored thing.

Texas Democrats Gather In Dallas

WASHINGTON — Some interesting things may happen in Texas today when Texas Democrats, fresh from trouncing Gov. Allan Shivers, gather at their state convention.

Though their vote against Shivers was hailed as a vote of confidence for Sen. Lyndon Johnson, now Texas' favorite son, actually there were some significant backstage factors that may cause ripples of dissent. That's why the astute Lyndon flew back to Texas.

Real fact is that the Texas vote was more a victory for venerable speaker Sam Rayburn, political patron saint of Texas, than anyone else. Sam had never wavered in his opposition to Shivers. Lyndon had.

In 1952, at the Democratic convention in Chicago, Governor Shivers had given his word to Rayburn that, if given a seat at the convention he would support the Democratic ticket there chosen. It was the likeable Lyndon who brought his friend Allan to Rayburn's room in the Blackstone Hotel and told Sam that Allan could be trusted.

Rayburn did trust him. Whereupon Shivers bolted the ticket, and carried Texas for Eisenhower.

Sam Rayburn has never forgiven him for that and never will. He, Rayburn, proceeded to stump the state of Texas for Stevenson, in opposition to the man who had broken his word, while his young protege, the likable Lyndon, kept aloof. Lyndon made one radio broadcast over his wife's station for Stevenson. That was all.

Meanwhile, Rayburn, aged 70, traveled all over the state. Later he raised money at $10-a-plate dinners. Other loyal Democrats joined him, but not Lyndon.

SECRET FRIENDS

Lyndon and Shivers, meanwhile remained friends. And when the Southern Governors' Conference met in Boca Raton in 1954, Shivers had a secret talk with his fellow Dixiecrat governor, Jimmie Byrnes of South Carolina in Byrnes's room in which he, Shivers, proposed that the south support Johnson in 1956 as its favorite son.

Governor Byrnes's reaction was brief and to the point. "An upstart and a whippersnapper" was what he called the Democratic leader of the Senate.

Later, when Shivers came to Washington for the Governors' conference of 1954, it was his friend Johnson who arranged a breakfast for him with the Texas Congressmen. It was cordial and congenial, except for one thing. Shivers made no headway with Speaker Rayburn.

Mr. Sam's motto it. "If a man goes back on his word, never trust him again." He would have nothing to do with Shivers. However, private meetings between Shivers and Johnson continued. The likable Lyndon believes in compromise. He likes to get along with people. When Johnson would come back to Texas, Shivers would slip out of the capital and go to visit Lyndon at his ranch 65 miles out of Austin. They worked together on a lot of things, including the selection of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey, satellite of Brown & Root, as Democratic National Committeeman.

It was not surprising, therefore, when Lyndon tried to patch up a compromise with Shivers before the recent Texas conventions. Few people knew it, but he even proposed that Shivers be a delegate to the Chicago convention. Mr. Sam, however, said no. Reached by Lyndon on the telephone at Bonham, he stormed:

"No, by God, we won't have that . . . on the delegation."

That was that.

Johnson in Reverse

At an April meeting at the Johnson ranch, Lyndon sat down with the Rayburn loyalists, the Democratic Advisory Committee which had held the party together for three years, and made a bargain as to what would happen if the loyalists won. The following was agreed:

1. Democratic party officers must sign a new pledge to support the party. Old officers who had not been loyal must go.

2. The Democratic caucuses of each congressional district would pick its delegate to Chicago without outside interference or dictation.

Bomb Is Inferno In Technicolor

ABOARD USS MT. McKINLEY —We have proved to good and wavering friends in the world that our military and scientific wizards have packaged a hydrogen bomb we can transport anywhere in the world and drop with utterly ghastly effects.

I still cannot quite believe what I saw. As years roll on I am certain that the spirit will lend even less credence to memory.

It was as if some great knife had split the black curtain of the Pacific predawn and showed us through that jagged tear a cross section of an inferno. This was Dante in Technicolor magnified a billion times. You forget that light is heat and heat is light and they travel hand in hand, and so it was bewildering and frightening to feel yourself being simultaneously roasted and blinded (despite the heavy density glasses and the instinctive lowering of the head) by something happening nearly 40 miles away.

I took off my glasses too soon and the light reflecting from the board on which sat my typewriter was so great it was like a sharp stick in the eyeballs. Then I looked up in the awful silence that precedes the leisurely arrival of the bomb's roar and beheld a pillar of molten flame like a fiery sword rising out of the watery horizon and reaching at least 20,000 feet up to its pointed tiptop. At what amounted to its handle was a lacy cuff of steaming seawater and probably crushed coral of target island Namu. The cuff must have extended over several miles, nothing in its folds could conceivably live.

The most violent changes were taking place in the color and shape of the apparition that writhed before us. The sword was suddenly sheathed and in its stead the fireball which had momentarily been a blazing helmet lying on the horizon—a helmet sized four miles — now climbed dizzily, changing its color to peach as it cooled off to perhaps 10 times the heat of the sun's surface. As it rose it sucked up behind it sickly white steam, perhaps a mile wide and thick enough to resemble marble.

At that instant, for us on the flag bridge of the McKinley at least, the curtain was drawn. Between us and the conflagration sailed a towering cloud that made the next three minutes of the life of Cherokee a mystery. But a thing like that can't be held in bondage. Soon it was crushing the biggest peach sundae in history over the top of the charcoal gray cloud. The blob rose and rose and the more it rose the wider it spread.

Ike Gives Thought To B. And K. Visit

WASHINGTON — The touring twosome from the Soviet Union, Nikita S. Khrushchev, leader of the Communist party, and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin have by indirection conveyed to President Eisenhower their wish to visit the United States sometime soon.

The President has begun discussions with his advisors, both diplomatic and political, about what to do. Such a visit would always be an affair of extreme delicacy. With the national political conventions so close and the presidential election following, it acquires an added dimension to which the White House is keenly sensitive.

The country has confidence in him. The potentially virulent critics of the visit are mostly in his own party and from now until the first Tuesday in November Republicans must gag themselves lest Eisenhower become irked and refuse to save them by running again. And while Democrats would certainly discuss the visit, they are confirmed internationalists and long since took the pledge not to attack a President personally on foreign affairs as Roosevelt and Truman were often assailed.

Also peace is a powerful word and this country can be persuaded to take risks in its name.

The negative aspects are obvious. Encounters of this kind are subject to accident and misadventure. It might be merely an ill-chosen phrase like the famous "lunatic engineer" of the Dewey campaign in 1948. Or it might be events of sudden and upsetting significance which could not be forseen.

Observation of their other travels suggests too that "Krush and Bulge" are by way of being experts in the art of surprise. Perhaps they occasionally surprise themselves when they review the reactions provoked from them as in the case of their famous dinner party with the hierarchy of British labor.

Certainly their potential hosts must always steel themselves to expect the unexpected. Their wish to come here still represents a challenge and an opportunity.

The President is believed in some quarters to feel that he would prefer to entertain his old World War II friend, Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov, Soviet defense minister. The two are "pen pals," as the President has freely said.

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

. . . And A Husky Paw To The Jaw

By ALLEN EDEE
Star Staff Writer

LAVERN HANSEL AND SMOKY

. . . a deep freeze nearest thing to his native clime . . .

No one yells "mush" at Smoky, the Alaskan Husky owned by City Fireman LaVerne Hansel of 319 So. 26th.

He hasn't saved a town by pulling diphtheria serum through the frozen snow. He hasn't even been hitched to a dog sled.

The nearest thing to a big freeze Smoky has been in is the frozen food chest in the Hansel kitchen.

The 40-pound beautifully furred silver canine lives the life of a king. No hard times for this pooch.

But the relatively warm weather of Nebraska doesn't sap all his energy. Hansel has proof of that —a black eye. The owner and his dog were playing rough-house when-whack—up comes a furry paw right in the kisser.

As the spring weather descends upon Lincoln, Smoky's fur descends upon the floor. Hansel says his dog has shed "about two gallons of fur" this spring.

The Hansels still remember the day when the "little ball of fur" arrived by plane from Colorado. The Hansels reached out eagerly to grab their new friend and they were greeted by a snap of sharp little teeth.

The little Husky has changed his ways since arriving here in January and has adopted a very easy-going manner to suit his easy-going life.

Age And Elections

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: This writer would be the last to be critical of old age. It will not be too long until I join those ranks.

I note, however, that two gentlemen, both over 70 years of age and both Democrats, have won nomination to high political office in Nebraska. I could not, and would not under any circumstances vote for either and it would not be from any reflection on their integrity or intelligence. The strain of the duties connected with most high governmental positions, can best be born by younger persons in full command of all facilities. These men are doing themselves and the party and friends they chose to represent an injustice.

The same kind of thinking will prevail among most intelligent voters, when they come to evaluate President Eisenhower's bid for re-election. No President has ever lived who was elected to the presidency after the age of 65. No man has the moral right to vote a man into his grave.

Not Convinced

Wymore, Neb.

To the Editor of The Lincoln Star: Cecil Matthews has been griping serially about Secretary Benson's farm surplus plight. All right. But then he turns around and says the good Lord has been over Benson all the time, above all criticism, collecting the surpluses for another hellish and futile war which the Prince of Peace is against. He thinks Benson should be able to believe this ill-imagined story, if, as a Mormon, he believes in the pelican-grasshopper story. And we don't believe Mr. Matthews voted for Al Smith just because prejudiced forces were against him.

Dump Site Liked

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There are a lot of discussions and objections appearing in our local newspapers about the new location of garbage disposal grounds, so I would like to give my opinion of the dispute.

Some say that the Miracle Mile would be ruined, including all of North Lincoln. As for that statement, I offer the fact that garbage has been hauled through the business district of Lincoln for almost 40 years that I know of and it has not been destroyed altogether, and is in as good shape as any city that I have seen, better than most.

None of the objectors have offered better locations and probably could not if they had the opportunity. The city administration has done very well in selecting the new location, and it will be a good choice in the long run. The wind travels usually northeast in the warmer months which should provide less liability of odor from this location than most other locations would provide.

Cactus Grows In The Kitchen Sink

A kitchen is no place for a cacti farm. This is a premise upon which our entire family is agreed. Unfortunately it is also a premise upon which our friends do not agree. Therefore we have a kitchen cacti farm.

No one who has ever walked through a forest of sahuarosa, which are the 20-to-30-foot-high giant cacti found extensively in Arizona, can ever forget the experience. No one who has ever brushed a bushy, silvery cholla—the head-high so-called jumping cactus—will ever forget that experience, either, although memory lingers for a different reason.

For that matter, sitting down unintentionally on the flattened pear shape of a prickly pear leaf leaves an indelible impression on the emotions, as well.

These are experiences I have had in abundance, through the coincidence of being native myself to the region where these stickered monstrosities are also plentifully native. Nor is my family alien to the sensations, both of awe and otherwise, that can be aroused by a husky thicket of wild-growing cacti.

That is why it seems to us that cacti belong on a thousand-acre mesa, not in a 12x20 kitchen. Perversely, that also seems to be why our friends think they belong in our kitchen. They think that anyone who has lived on the desert must get awfully homesick for a cactus. They do their utmost to keep us from gettting homesick.

The woman who lives next door gave us our first kitchen cactus. "Just to remind you of old times," she said. I had some difficulty recognizing it. It looked like a very small and skinny pickle that had bleached, starved and warped in a high gale. Also it was bald. There was not a sticker on its puny little frame. Mrs. F. restrained me in the nick of time from eating it on the theory that it was some new form of water cress.

Our friends did not share my difficulty in recognition. "Oh you're starting a cactus garden," they would exclaim, and soon thereafter they would make their contributions. They are nice people, but I suspect that they had cacti gardens themselves which they wished to liquidate.

I do not think that these small upstarts which now fill all kitchen windows and overflow onto the sink are really cacti. They come in every shape from pretzel to exclamation point, and every shade from bilious green to blushing crimson, but they couldn't muster up a single thorn among them all if they strained at it now to sunrise. You could serve them all in a salad and not even get a fuzzy tongue.

That was the state of affairs, at least, until Mrs. F. uncautiously mentioned our cacti garden in a letter to her Uncle Earl, who lives where the thorns grow long and the cows keep their distance from a cholla thicket. Soon thereafter a package came for us. "For your garden," it said on the outside. Mrs. F. who knows her Uncle Earl better than I do said, "You open it."

I should not have reached inside among the tissue paper wrappings. There was a cholla ball there. A cholla ball (you pronounce it choya) is about as big as a golf ball at the core and the size of a baseball on the outer rim.

The difference between core and outer rim is made up of at least 1,967 of nature's needles. I did not have to grasp the cholla ball to take it out of the package. It came out attached to me.

Ike's Civil Rights Bill 'Shocks' House Southerners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Southern members of the House Judiciary Committee Monday attacked the Eisenhower civil rights bill as "absolutely shocking" and providing for a "frankenstein" threat against state and local governments.

Seven members of the committee, including six Democrats and one Virginia Republican, signed a strongly worded minority report against an administration bill approved by the committee April 25.

The measure has yet to win Rules Committee clearance for a House vote. Its provisions, recommended by Atty. Gen. Brownell, include:

1. Authority for the president to set up a bipartisan commission to study the civil rights problem.
2. Creation of a special civil rights division in the Justice Department headed by an assistant attorney general.
3. Opening of the federal courts to broader civil rights actions. Anyone who felt his civil rights were being curtailed could seek a remedy in federal court without having, as now required, to exhaust state court remedies first. Also the U. S. Justice Department could take the case to court for him in his name.

The Southerners vigorously denounced all three provisions and attacked a majority committee report, approved by a combination of Republican and Northern Democratic members. The majority findings will be made public later.

The minority said:

"To empower the attorney general in the name of the United States but for the benefit of the party in interest to institute civil actions or other proceedings for redress, and recover damages or other relief for the party in interest, and even before state remedies have been exhausted, would devastate the principles of states' rights."

As for the proposed Civil Rights Commission, the Southerners said it would have an unprecedented workload, aggravated by what they termed "unreasonable complaints."

Concerning the proposed creation of a new civil rights division in the Justice Department, the minority report said the majority has made it "crystal clear" that this is designed to have the federal government "invade" state and local jurisdictions in such matters as integration, education and even primary elections.

The report was signed by Democratic Reps. Forrester (Ga), Woodrow W. Jones (NC), Ashmore (SC), Frazier (Tenn), Tuck (Va), Willis (La) and Republican Rep. Poff of Va.

Charges Planned Against Driver In Double Fatality

OMAHA (AP)—The Douglas County attorney's office Monday prepared a motor vehicle homicide charge against a driver involved in an accident which took two lives early Saturday.

Traffic Inspector Jean C. Whinnery said Daniel Babington, 23, of Omaha would be booked upon his release from St. Joseph's Hospital.

Mrs. Shirley Cox, 25, and Mrs. Mabel Morris, 47, were killed in the crash of their car with the one driven by Babington.

Daylight Savings Time Issue Before Omaha's Council

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha City Council Tuesday will take up the question of daylight savings time but most observers feel the time change hasn't much chance here.

Requests for daylight saving time have been before the council for five weeks, but no resolution or ordinance has been introduced by a council member.

Chief opposition comes from livestock traders who contend Omaha time should be the same as the time of the traders' clients the farmers.

School Blaze Set By Six-Year-Old

OMAHA (AP) — Fire investigators said Monday a 6-year-old boy has admitted setting the fire which forced 85 youngsters to flee Lothrop School kindergarten classes.

Lt. Walter Downey said the boy related he had left his kindergarten room and finding matches in a desk drawer ignited papers in a wastebasket beneath the desk.

Youth Stages 'Relay' With Stolen Autos

Donald J McNeill 16 didn't waste any time when he escaped from the Kearney Boys Training School. Within 18 hours he had stolen five cars abandoning one in a ditch near Sumner officials said.

He was apprehended Monday by Capt H D Robinson of the North Platte Safety Patrol. Authorities gave the following account.

McNeill first reportedly stole a car in Kearney abandoning it at Amherst. He stole another car at Amherst and abandoned it at Sumner where he stole another car law officials said.

He lost control of the third car and ran it into a ditch. Undaunted, he went to a nearby farmhouse where he stole the farmer's car.

McNeill left the fourth car in a service station at Broken Bow. He stole another car at Broken Bow and went west when he was finally apprehended by Capt. Robinson near Darr.

McNeill was sentenced to Kearney from Hastings in 1953 for breaking and entering.

Ft. Randall Power Line Budget Request Turned Down

House Group Members Feel Nebraska Should Build Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Monday denied a budget request for 5½ million dollars for construction of a power line from Ft. Randall Dam on the Missouri River to Grand Island.

Rep Miller (R-Neb.) announced he would make an effort to get the House to approve the item.

Miller commented that if efforts fail both in the House and Senate to get federal money for the proposed 230 kv line, he hopes the Nebraska power organizations will develop a plan to finance and build the line themselves

Sen Curtis (R-Neb) also said he will request a full hearing for the proposal before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee. He said if the House turns down the power line he will make every effort to get it placed in a bill by the Senate.

House appropriation committee members take the view the Nebraska interests should build their own line.

Congress last year appropriated $940,000 for a 115-kilovolt line from Ft. Randall to Neligh, Neb. Nebraskans contended the lighter line would be inadequate for the state's power needs.

The House committee approved nearly 582 million dollars for use by Army Engineers on waer projects in the year beginning July 1.

This is virtually the same amount President Eisenhower recommended in his budget, but some 28 million dollars under the amount voted by Congress last year.

The committee allowed $2,850,000—which is $1,150,000 over the budget recommendation—for agricultural levees on the Missouri River.

Of that amount $1,100,000 would be alloted to construction on the Missouri River from Kenslers Bend to Sioux City and $3,300,000 from Kansas City to Omaha.

Earmarked for flood control planning at Norfolk, Neb., was $35,000.

Reclamation work allocations included:

Bostwick Division, Nebraska-Kansas, $4,690,000; Frenchman-Cambridge Division, Nebraska, $3,151,000; Glendo, Wyo., $11,000,000; Sargent, Neb, $728,000; the Missouri Basin project's transmission division $2,755,000; Missouri Basin investigation $2,654,000, and for use of other departments on the project, $2,700,000.

Among big amounts in the bill are $27,500,000 for Oahe Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota and $11,300,000 for Garrison Reservoir in North Dakota.

Firemen Produce Fire

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Firemen got burned up while fighting a grass fire near here. So did the fire truck. The smoke-eaters had to stop working on the burning brush to douse a blaze in the $10,000 truck, apparently caused by faulty ignition. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

Mrs. Ricenbaw, 66, Of Seward, Dies; Rites Wednesday

SEWARD, Neb — Services for Mrs. Emma Ricenbaw, 66, who died Monday, will be at 2 30 p.m. Wednesday at the Methodist Church here, the Rev. F. C. Friederich officiating

Mrs. Ricenbaw was born in Seward County and had lived here all her life.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph; daughters, Mrs Carl Gade and Mrs. Robert Austin, both of Seward; a son, Lester of Terril, Ia.; seven grandchildren and four brothers, Charles, William, Edward and Walter Zillig all of Seward.

Burial will be in Seward Cemetery.

Longtime Bertrand Teacher Retiring; 39 Years Service

BERTRAND, Neb. — Miss Nellie Thayer, commercial teacher in the Bertrand schools, plans to retire this spring after 39 years of teaching service.

Attending Bertrand schools, she attended the University of Nebraska for a summer and then began teaching in a rural school north of Loomis. She spent five years teaching in rural schools.

After a time as postmistress in Bertrand, Miss Thayer returned to teaching as seventh and eighth grade teacher in Bertrand By the fall of 1927, she was convinced the Bertrand school needed a commercial department. That year found her installed as Bertrand's first commercial teacher, a position she held for 15 years.

Later she taught in Park River, N D, and Plainview, Neb, and in colleges at Little Rock, Ark., and LeMars, Ia. She holds a B.S. from Kearney State Teachers College and a Master's Degree from Colorado College of Education at Greeley. These degrees were gained by work in only summer school.

Age No Handicap To Future Plans

AURORA, Neb. — Mrs. George C. Bute, who recently celebrated her 95th birthday anniversary, is still optimistic about the land she moved on 66 years ago.

Recently she had a deepwell put down on her farm east of here for irrigation. Her son, Sterling, now operates the farm.

Coming to Hamilton County in 1890, she and her husband built the first home on the farm. Another house, her present residence, was built at a later date.

Nebraska News

Miller Questions Effectiveness Of Unified Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep A. L Miller (R-Neb) questions the present effectiveness of the unification of the military services. He said Secretary of Defense Wilson "should crack some heads together and tighten thing up."

Miller cited research and developments in the various branches of the armed services on airplanes and guided missiles.

He said the services are "going in different directions, not co-ordinating and actually keeping their findings secret from each other."

All this, he said, is costing taxpayers money, resulting in wastage and should be stopped by a tightening of the reins by Secretary Wilson.

Ft. Randall Power Line Budget Request Turned Down

House Group Members Feel Nebraska Should Build Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee Monday denied a budget request for 5½ million dollars for construction of a power line from Ft. Randall Dam on the Missouri River to Grand Island.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) announced he would make an effort to get the House to approve the item.

Miller commented that if efforts fail both in the House and Senate to get federal money for the proposed 230 kv line, he hopes the Nebraska power organizations will develop a plan to finance and build the line themselves.

Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) also said he will request a full hearing for the proposal before the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee. He said if the House turns down the power line he will make every effort to get it placed in a bill by the Senate.

House appropriation committee members take the view the Nebraska interests should build their own line.

Congress last year appropriated $940,000 for a 115-kilovolt line from Ft. Randall to Neligh, Neb. Nebraskans contended the lighter line would be inadequate for the state's power needs.

The heavier line, extended to Grand Island in the heart of a power-hungry irrigation area, was asked instead.

The House committee approved nearly 582 million dollars for use by Army Engineers on waer projects in the year beginning July 1.

This is virtually the same amount President Eisenhower recommended in his budget, but some 28 million dollars under the amount voted by Congress last year.

The committee allowed $2,850,000—which is $1,150,000 over the budget recommendation—for agricultural levees on the Missouri River.

Of that amount $1,100,000 would be alloted to construction on the Missouri River from Kenslers Bend to Sioux City and $3,300,000 from Kansas City to Omaha.

Earmarked for flood control planning at Norfolk, Neb., was $35,000.

Reclamation work allocations included:

Bostwick Division, Nebraska-Kansas, $4,690,000; Frenchman-Cambridge Division, Nebraska, $3,151,000; Glendo, Wyo., $11,000,000; Sargent, Neb., $728,000; the Missouri Basin project's transmission division $2,755,000; Missouri Basin investigation $2,654,000, and for use of other departments on the project, $2,700,000.

Among big amounts in the bill are $27,500,000 for Oahe Dam on the Missouri River in South Dakota and $11,300,000 for Garrison Reservoir in North Dakota.

Firemen Produce Fire

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Firemen got burned up while fighting a grass fire near here. So did the fire truck. The smoke-eaters had to stop working on the burning brush to douse a blaze in the $10,000 truck, apparently caused by faulty ignition. Damage was estimated at $2,500.

Mrs. Ricenbaw, 66, Of Seward, Dies; Rites Wednesday

SEWARD, Neb. — Services for Mrs. Emma Ricenbaw, 66, who died Monday, will be at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Methodist Church here, the Rev. F. C. Friederich officiating.

Mrs. Ricenbaw was born in Seward County and had lived here all her life.

Surviving are her husband, Joseph; daughters, Mrs. Carl Gade and Mrs. Robert Austin, both of Seward; a son, Lester of Terril, Ia.; seven grandchildren and four brothers, Charles, William, Edward and Walter Zillig all of Seward.

Burial will be in Seward Cemetery.

Longtime Bertrand Teacher Retiring; 39 Years Service

BERTRAND, Neb. — Miss Nellie Thayer, commercial teacher in the Bertrand schools, plans to retire this spring after 39 years of teaching service.

Attending Bertrand schools, she attended the University of Nebraska for a summer and then began teaching in a rural school north of Loomis. She spent five years teaching in rural schools.

After a time as postmistress in Bertrand, Miss Thayer returned to teaching as seventh and eighth grade teacher in Bertrand. By the fall of 1927, she was convinced the Bertrand school needed a commercial department. That year found her installed as Bertrand's first commercial teacher, a position she held for 15 years.

Later she taught in Park River, N.D., and Plainview, Neb., and in colleges at Little Rock, Ark., and LeMars, Ia. She holds a B.S. from Kearney State Teachers College and a Master's Degree from Colorado College of Education at Greeley. These degrees were gained by work in only summer school.

Age No Handicap To Future Plans

AURORA, Neb. — Mrs. George C. Bute, who recently celebrated her 95th birthday anniversary, is still optimistic about the land she moved on 66 years ago.

Recently she had a deepwell put down on her farm east of here for irrigation. Her son, Sterling, now operates the farm.

Coming to Hamilton County in 1890, she and her husband built the first home on the farm. Another house, her present residence, was built at a later date.

Miller Questions Effectiveness Of Unified Services

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. A. L. Miller (R-Neb) questions the present effectiveness of the unification of the military services. He said Secretary of Defense Wilson "should crack some heads together and tighten thing up."

Miller cited research and developments in the various branches of the armed services on airplanes and guided missiles.

He said the services are "going in different directions, not co-ordinating and actually keeping their findings secret from each other."

All this, he said, is costing taxpayers money, resulting in wastage and should be stopped by a tightening of the reins by Secretary Wilson.

Supreme Court Rules Railroads Free From State Right To Work Law

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — State "right to work" laws as applied in the railroad industry fell Monday before a 9 0 Supreme Court ruling

State laws banning union shops in other industries were not affected.

The decision, which reversed actions by state courts in Nebraska, upheld a 1951 amendment of the National Railway Labor Act which authorizes the railroads and labor unions to enter into union shop agreements state laws to the contrary notwithstanding

Under the union ship, a worker must join within 60 days the union which holds collective bargaining rights for his craft or class of workers, or lose his job

Eighteen states have laws banning membership or nonmembership in unions as a condition to holding a job. Proponents call them "right to work laws Some union leaders described them as "right to scab" laws.

Laws Stand Otherwise

Except as applied in the railroad industry the state "right to work" laws remain intact The Taft-Hartley Act permits union shop agreements, but specifies this does not apply in states which have laws prohibiting them

Justice Douglas author of Monday s opinion, said that in the absence of conflicting federal legislation, "there can be no doubt that it is within the police power of a state to prohibit ' the union shop

But, referring to the Railway Labor Act he said the power of Congress to regulate labor relations in interstate industries is likewise well-established.

'Industrial peace along the arteries of commerce is a legitimate objective. and Congress has great latitude in choosing the methods with which it is to be obtained," he said

Congress' Say Final

Douglas added that 'much might be said pro and con if the policy issue were before us ' but he said the question of policy is one with which the judiciary has no concern.

Asserting Congress has the final say on policy issues, Douglas said

"If it acts unwisely the electorate can make a change The task of the judiciary ends once it appears that the legislative matter is relevant or appropriate to the constitutional power which Congress exercises . . ."

The decision overturned a ruling by the Nebraska Supreme Court that the state's "right to work" law superseded the Railway Labor Act s union shop amendment.

UP Employes

The Nebraska court ruled in a case brought by a group of Union Pacific Railroad employes who did not want to have to join a union The decision was appealed by 16 nonoperating labor organizations which have negotiated union shop agreements with the Union Pacific

The case attracted unusual attention and brought a flood of 'friend of the court" briefs, most of them asking the Supreme Court to uphold the Nebraska ruling Such briefs were filed by attorneys general of most of the state having "right to work ' laws Others were filed by the National Right to Work Committee the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and the National Assn of Manufacturers

Various unions filed briefs in support of the unions directly involved in the litigation.

FluoridationRuling Refused By Court

From Press Dispatches

WASHINGTON — The U S Supreme Court Monday refused again to rule on whether fluoridation of water supplies can violate a citizen s rights and freedom

The court rejected a hearing for William J. Krause of Cleveland. Previously the court had turned down appeals in similar cases.

The court also ruled that the Federal Communications Commission has the authority to set blanket ceilings on ownership of radio and television stations The ruling upset a circuit court decision against an FCC rule limiting one company s ownership to five standard radio and five television stations or seven TV stations if two are ultra-high frequency

In another action, the court granted a hearing for Raphael Konigsberg who was denied the right to practice law in California because, bar examiners said, he refused to say whether he ever had been a Communist. Konigsberg's appeal said his rights under the U S Constitution were violated by the denial.

Weather Bureau To Make More 5-Day Forecasts

A break with at least 15 years of tradition will take place Monday, June 4, at the Lincoln Weather Bureau.

In conformity with a national policy change, the number of extended forecasts issued weekly will be increased from two to three.

The new schedule calls for five-day forecasts to be issued on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Welby Stevens, Lincoln meteorologist announced. Heretofore the predictions had been issued on Tuesday and Friday

Stevens joined other meteorologists throughout the nation in recommending revision of the Tuesday-Friday schedule which has been in effect "at least fifteen years" The result was the improved schedule of long-range forecasting.

Federated Finance Curb Cuts OKd At New Location

Curb cuts have been approved by the City Council which will permit construction of a new $50,000 building for the Federated Finance Co. at the northeast corner of 21st and O.

Jerry Caplan said it was the intention of the company to move as rapidly as possible with construction and occupancy of the building. A one-story structure with 38 by 60 foot floor space is planned. Complete drive-in facilities will be provided and off-street parking at the rear.

The apartment building now on the new Federated location will be torn down.

Federated Finance has been in its present location at 1503 O for the past 24 years. The 10 previous years, the company operated offices in the National Bank of Commerce building.

Weather Bureau To Make More 5-Day Forecasts

A break with at least 15 years of tradition will take place Monday, June 4, at the Lincoln Weather Bureau.

In conformity with a national policy change, the number of extended forecasts issued weekly will be increased from two to three.

The new schedule calls for five-day forecasts to be issued on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, Welby Stevens, Lincoln meteorologist announced. Heretofore the predictions had been issued on Tuesday and Friday.

Stevens joined other meteorologists throughout the nation in recommending revision of the Tuesday-Friday schedule which has been in effect "at least fifteen years." The result was the improved schedule of long-range forecasting.

Federated Finance Curb Cuts OKd At New Location

Curb cuts have been approved by the City Council which will permit construction of a new $50,000 building for the Federated Finance Co. at the northeast corner of 21st and O.

Jerry Caplan said it was the intention of the company to move as rapidly as possible with construction and occupancy of the building. A one-story structure with 38 by 60 foot floor space is planned. Complete drive-in facilities will be provided and off-street parking at the rear.

The apartment building now on the new Federated location will be torn down.

Federated Finance has been in its present location at 1503 O for the past 24 years. The 10 previous years, the company operated offices in the National Bank of Commerce building.

Getting married?

A successful marriage should begin on a sound financial basis. As your married friends will tell you, it is equally important that it should stay on such a basis.

Of course, you have probably given a lot of thought to the cost of furnishing and maintaining a home . . . and to food and clothing costs. Have you also given thought to insurance protection for your wife?

You will find that Life insurance is a very flexible means to provide such protection and also to help achieve financial security. As your Metropolitan Representative will be glad to explain, there are various types of Life insurance to fit the requirements you may have now and in the future . . . for family protection, for Mortgage coverage and for Retirement funds. You will also want to have Hospitalization and Surgical insurance to help pay medical expenses for you and your wife.

Insurance service, the Metropolitan way, will help you to develop an insurance program tailored to your particular needs. Moreover, your Metropolitan Representative knows that even the most carefully planned programs need constant review and revision to keep pace as your family needs change.

Call your Metropolitan Representative today and let him help you start your marriage on a sound financial basis. Remember . . .

How Nebraskans tamed their floods

Six years ago, Upper Salt Creek went on a rampage that cost $12 million in damage! Could it happen again if another cloudburst came along? Not likely! Thanks to terraced fields, contour plowing and carefully planned small dams the farmland is safer and richer than ever before. Scientists Begin Analysis Of What Pacific Air-Drop H-Blast Did

By ELTON C. FAY

USS MT. McKINLEY, Off Bikini, (Tuesday) (AP) — Nuclear scientists today began a detailed analysis of what the first American air-dropped H-bomb did when it exploded two miles above a test target island in the mid-Pacific yesterday.

The scientists sought most of their answers in the huge amount of data gathered by a vast array of recording instruments set up on Namu, the target island, on other islands of Bikini Atoll and taken through the huge atomic cloud by airplanes.

The nuclear weapon test task force, headed by Rear Adm. B Hall Hanlon, concealed behind brief, laconic language all technical details that might be of use to an enemy.

A short communique, written last night, reached this observer ship as she neared Kwajalein this morning homeward bound. It said only:

1. "There was little construction on Namu and thus little damage can be reported. Various effects on structures on nearby islands suffered varying degrees of damage depending on proximity to the target island."

25 Miles

2. Fallout of radioactivity from the towering bomb cloud—which unofficially was estimated to have reached a height of about 25 miles—drifted clear of all people ashore or afloat. There was no increase in radiation in the Marshall Islands generally and the fallout Bikini Atoll "was relatively little."

(A note appended to Fay's story said he was leaving the Mt. McKinley immediately to board a plane for Honolulu. This indicated that the 10 of 12 other tests of atomic devices scheduled for this summer would not be public.)

The search for Capt. Paul Crumley, who disappeared in an aircraft accident and thus became the first casualty of Operation Redwing, continued. Crumbley was an observer aboard a B-57 light bomber which encountered trouble while flying at 22,000 feet last Friday morning en route to the test island area.

The pilot of the B-57 parachuted to the sea and climbed into his one-man life raft. Crumbley, the only other occupant of the plane, was not seen again.

Some Estimates

Even though long analysis of photographic blast heat and other recordings would be needed to tell American weaponeers the exact effect of the first American air-dropped hydrogen bomb, it was possible to make some unofficial estimates of what would have happened if a city instead of a deserted atoll had been beneath the bomb when it detonated at an altitude of about 10,000 feet.

The bomb was believed to have released energy equivalent to about 10 million tons of TNT. The fireball of the bomb was approximately three miles in diameter. Over a typical big city the explosion probably would have done this:

Virtually every building, even those of reinforced concrete construction with 10-inch thick walls and 6-inch floors, outward for more than two miles from ground zero, would have been crushed by the smashing blow of the explosion.

Buildings with ordinary brick walls 18 inches thick would have been destroyed to a distance of almost 6½ miles. Even at a distance of more than nine miles there would have been serious damage to steel frame buildings.

18 Miles

Homes like those found in any suburb would have been heavily damaged as far as 12 miles away. Moderate damage would have occurred at 15 miles. Windows would have been blown out and plaster shaken loose at a distance of 18 miles.

This would have been the effect only of the blast. Aside from this, the flashing many-thousand-degree heat from the explosion would have set off a "fire storm" like that which burned Tokyo and Berlin in World War II.

The instantaneous radiation of the bomb's burst would have produced no visible damage to structures. But any person close to ground zero or outward for several miles would have been radiated to the point of early death or long lingering illness.

Fallout Eyed

TOKYO (Tuesday) (INS)—Japanese scientists said today that a sudden change of atmospheric currents may speed the arrival over Japan of radioactive fallout elements from Monday's American hydrogen bomb air burst at Bikini.

The shift of winds may bring the fallout to Japan in two or three days, meteorologists said. They had previously predicted it would take about 10 days for the radioactive elements to reach the Japanese air.

When it arrives, the meteorologists predicted, the fallout will be "somewhat weaker" than the one which entered Japan's upper atmosphere after the U. S. Bikini hydrogen test blast of March 1, 1954. This is because the 1954 experiment was a ground explosion whereas in Monday's test the H-bomb was detonated in the air.

Russia To Give Plane To Egyptian Premier

CAIRO, Egypt (UP) — An Egyptian spokesman said Monday the Soviet Union is giving Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser an Ilyushin 14 plane, the type used by Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev.

Soviet Embassy officials declined to confirm the announcement.

The official Egyptian statement added:

"It is perhaps worth mentioning that this plane has been specially designed for the premier's use in his own personal travels."

Randolph Paving OrdinanceOkayed

The City Council has approved ordinances on third and final reading for the creation of paving districts in Randolph from 37th to 48th and in South from 30th to 48th.

With the ordinances passed, the Council can now proceed to determine if signatures of abutting property owners can be secured in favor of the paving. It is proposed that one-half the cost of each project be assessed back against abutting property owners.

Other ordinances passed on third and final reading:

Plat of Hollingsworth Heights between 40th and 45th north of Van Dorn.

Paving of the alley from 22nd to 23rd between O and P.

Vacation of the east-west alley between 45th and 46th from Judson to Knox.

Vacation of the east-west alley between 70th and 71st from Dudley to Starr.

MISS SANDRA MAE JOHNSON

Announcement was made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Arnold M. Johnson of Casper, Wyo., formerly of Alliance, of the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Mae, to Robert W. Handy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert C. Handy of Percival, Ia.

The wedding is planned for the late summer.

Miss Johnson is attending Doane College, Crete, where she is a member of Omega Psi Theta sorority, where she also was chosen as Night Relays Princess, and is a cheerleader. She will attend the University of Nebraska in the autumn.

Mr. Handy is a graduate of Doane College and plans to attend graduate school this summer at the University of Nebraska where he recently was appointed director of activities at the Student Union.

Playhouse Names Board

The board of directors of the Lincoln Community Playhouse met Saturday noon following luncheon at the Hotel Cornhusker and elected four new members to the board. The new members are Mrs. John McCown, Richard Martin, Roger Dickeson and Mrs. Richard Agee.

Re-elected to the board were R. J. Lilly, Duncan Sowles, George X. Smith, Mrs. John Bentley, Mrs. Edward Cecan, Wally Douma, Mrs. William Ferguson, Mrs. E. Shelden Hallett, Willis Hecht, Leo Hill, Mrs. Ted Liggett, Bennett Martin, Mrs. Don Martin, Ben Myers, Mrs. Mary Quate, A. Q. Schimmel and Mrs. Homer Hamilton.

At the next meeting of the board early in June, new officers will be named.

Anniversary Celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Munson had their 38th wedding anniversary Monday, May 14, and in celebration of the event were host and hostess to a group of their friends at a party given on Sunday at the Legion Club. The affair also celebrated the birthday anniversary of their son, Robert Munson.

Four generations were represented at the party, and among the special guests was Mrs. Munson's mother, Mrs. Louise DeVore.

Dinner Guest At Kansas City

Mrs. C. M. Stewart of Lincoln was the dinner guest last week of the Soroptimist International of Kansas City, Mo. The dinner was held at the Johnson County Community Center, which is a service project of the Shawnee Mission, Kan., Soroptimist Club.

The first president of the Lincoln Soroptimist Club, Mrs. Stewart also attended sessions of the General Federation of Women's Clubs convention held last week in Kansas City.

NEWS AROUND TOWN

SINGAPORE, to those of us who never have been there, is the very essence of glamour—but the news this morning does not so much concern the fascinating Singapore as it does some of its residents — namely, the Elton Fee family. On the very last day of March the youngest of the three Fee daughters, Miss Wendy, was seven years old and had a birthday party. A Chinese friend of her father's learned about the birthday and the party and told Mr. Fee he would send over one of his elephants to entertain the children. The elephant, a tremendous elephant, arrived in all of his trappings and with his keeper, and the idea was that the children would each have an elephant ride—or two—or three. But it rained that day, and the poor elephant stayed under the porte-cochere for most of the afternoon. Then the sun came out and the elephant rides were to begin. The children, however, were a little nervous concerning the elephant—the elephant keeper said the children made the elephant nervous, and for a while it looked like a very unbig afternoon. Finally one small boy decided he wasn't afraid of the animal and the riding procedure began—The keeper had the little boy kneel—then the elephant kneeled and lifted his small passenger up with his trunk and deposited him into the howdah—That was the beginning of an exciting afternoon for Miss Wendy and her guests—they all rode—and loved it.

* * *

AND while we are talking about the Fee family you may be interested in the news that the two older daughters, Marcia and Judy, are in school in Switzerland. They both will return to Singapore for the summer, and then Judy will go back to her school in Switzerland, and Marcia will come to the States to attend Dana Hall.

NOW for the parties at home which, as you may guess, involve brides-elect — last Saturday, for instance, Miss Barbara Brittin and Miss Courtney Campbell complimented Miss Marilyn Brewster, whose marriage to John T. McGreer III takes place in June, when they entertained at luncheon at Hillcrest Club. Twenty guests were invited for the party and a miscellaneous shower.

* * *

A JUNE bride — Miss Nancy Hemphill, whose marriage to Robert Dawson will be an event of June 10, will be complimented on Tuesday evening when Miss Lynn Holland and Miss Barbara Turner of Boston, Mass., are hostesses at the home of Miss Holland. The guest list will include a group of old highschool friends.

THE INCENTIVES for a canape party this week are Mr. and Mrs. John Graf, who with their three small sons, John, 6, Paul 3, and three-month-old Bill, came to Lincoln earlier this spring from Ft. Dodge, Ia., to make their home. On Saturraw evening, Mr. and Mrs. Graf will be honored at a 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock affair at the University Club for which Mr. Graf's aunt, Mrs. W. L. Day, and Mr. Day, will be hostess and host.

AND LINCOLN residents who will be leaving the community in the near future to make their home at Great Falls, Mont., are Dr. and Mrs. Charles Harms and their son, Stanley. Dr. Harms, who has practiced medicine in Lincoln for 35 years, will leave June 1 for the family's new home, and will be followed later this summer by Mrs. Harms and Stanley, who is a student at Lincoln High School.

Lincoln Girl Is Bride

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD J. KNISH

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DeLisi of Lincoln announce the marriage of their daughter, Rosemary, to Edward J. Knish of Nashville, Tenn., son of Mrs. William Nowitzke of Milwaukee, Wis., and the late Michael Knish. The marriage took place on Saturday morning, April 28, at Christ the King Church in Nashville with the Rev. Arthur Rudisill solemnizing the service. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Edward D. Holzapfel, organist, who also accompanied Mr. Tom McGrath, the vocal soloist.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin designed in the princess mode. Seed pearls and iridescent sequins outlined the heart-shaped neckline of the long sleeved, fitted bodice, and the full skirt ended in a cathedral train. A coronet of seed pearls held in place her illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Jack Fauth of Pueblo, Colo., as her sister's only attendant, wore an orchid taffeta frock and her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink carnations.

Serving Mr. Knish as best man was J. Stuart Jones, of Nashville, and the usher was Simon A. DeLisi, brother of the bride, of Morrison, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Knish left later in the day for a wedding trip to points of interest in Florida and Nassau, British West Indies. Upon their return they will make their home in the Westchester Apartments, Nashville.

A June-Bride Elect

MISS BARBARA BETTS

This morning Mrs. Marie Mezere of Seattle, Wash., announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Barbara Betts, to Lt. Hugh John Van Hatten, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Van Hatten of Minneapolis, formerly of Lincoln.

The wedding will take place on June 9, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Ranch House Chapel, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Lt. Van Hatten is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, and now is stationed at the Marine Base, Camp Pendleton.

THE STAR IN SUBURBIA

Each day we've tried to mention something about this beautiful sunny weather we're having in hopes that we might pass on a hint that it's time people were planning some outdoor activities. We were so pleased today to find that three families out in Eastridge finally caught our subtle suggestion and spent some time in the fresh air over the week end.

Two such families were Capt. and Mrs. Eugene Frye and Capt. and Mrs. C. L. Montgomery who gathered up their children Saturday afternoon and drove out to Pioneers Park for a picnic.

That third family we mentioned was Capt. and Mrs. Gerald Custer and their two sons, Gregg and Doug, who traveled to Omaha on Sunday for a Mothers Day picnic and family reunion at Hanscom Park. Other members of the family attending the affair were Mrs. Custer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lawshe of Shenandoah, Ia., her grandmother, Mrs. Amos Lawshe of Omaha, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pledger of Lake Manawa, Ia.

Then we learned that Mrs. Harold Hargreaves held a neighborhood cofee at her home last Thursday morning.

And a hostess at her home on Friday evening was Mrs. Conrad Fisher who entertained the members of her bridge club.

A house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Freeman recently was Mrs. Freeman's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Wright. Mrs. Wright returned to her home in Onawa, Ia. last Thursday after spending a week in Lincoln.

Speaking of the Freemans, Mrs. Freeman has planned a coffee for Friday morning, May 25, in honor of Mrs. William M. Weston. The Weston family will be leaving Lincoln June 8 for Washington, D. C. and from there will leave for their new home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McIntire have had an interesting house guest at their home for the last three months. Their nephew, Graham Mumby-Croft arrived in the states in February from his home in Lincolnshire, England, for an extended visit in Lincoln, Neb. He will leave early in July to return home.

BSP Installs New Council

The newly-elected board of the Beta Sigma Phi city council were formally installed recently, and new council sponsor will be Mrs. L. T. Bathen.

Council members representing the sorority chapters in Lincoln will be Miss Pauline Loos, Miss Dorothy Rachow, Beta Chapter; Miss Rita McKenzie, Miss Meredith Siddens, Delta; Miss Lorene Haldeman, Miss Eunice Hopmann, Epsilon; Mrs. Jack Cederdahl, Miss Gladys Hablitzel, Zeta; Mrs. C. E. Woolman, Miss Patricia Fleming, Theta; Mrs. Spender D. Owens, Mrs. Merrill E. Vaughn, Iota; Mrs. Charles Bukin, Miss Janet Jensen, Kappa.

Other representatives will be Miss Jean Baker, Miss Thelma Ormesher, Lambda; Miss Marie Dehner, Miss Dolores Yost, Alpha Iota; Miss Cora Knott, Miss Viola Nelson, Xi Beta; Mrs. Robert Deitemeyer, Mrs. Art Glantz, Alpha Rho; Mrs. Myron White, Mrs. Lawrence Kenney, Alpha Tau; Mrs. Marvin B. Smith, Miss Virginia Dolan, Xi Kappa; and Miss Jo Neukam, Miss Ruth Pillard, Xi Upsilon.

We Hear That

Cpl. and Mrs. R. L. Therien and their son, Tommy, have returned home to California after visiting in Lincoln as the guests of Cpl. Therien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Therien and Mrs. Therien's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Adkisson.

Objections Heard, But Council Holds To New Dump Site North Of City

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

After a long public hearing on the matter, the City Council showed no disposition to abandon the general area north of Lincoln it has selected as a new dump site.

Steps were ordered taken, however, that would move the first dumping operations about one mile further north than originally planned.

This will be accomplished by negotiating a new lease with Merle and Virginia Reller who own the proposed dumping grounds. The new lease will include land as far north as Salt Creek between 48th and Highway 77.

The northern boundary of the dump will then be about one-half mile north of the present boundary. Then, the first dumping will be near the north boundary instead of the south line as originally planned.

Let Them See It

Proposed by Councilman Chauncey W. C. Kinsey, it was the feeling of the Council that dumping at the north end would permit objectors to see the operation in action. It was felt that after being seen, the operation would be less objectionable when moved further south.

It was explained by Park Superintendent James Ager that the new dumping operation would be much cleaner than it has been at the present site west of the city.

The dump will be closed early enough to permit the covering of all trash and garbage every day, he explained. This will materially reduce blowing debris and rodent infestation, he said.

Ager also pointed out that both city and state health officials have stated the dumping operation would not contaminate the water supply in the area.

They Disagree

Objectors who appeared before the Council claimed the operation would be exactly opposite of what Ager reported.

Represented by Attorney Frederick Wagener, objectors stated the dump would seriously depreciate the value of surrounding property. It would also be an eye-sore on one of the main approaches to the city, Highway 77, Wagener said.

In addition to businessmen and property owners in general who opposed the dump site, Wagener introduced against the location representatives of the Izaak Walton League, Lincoln Gun Club, Havelock Lions Club, Havelock Businessmen's Association, University Place Businessmen's Association, Union Airport and Arrow Airport.

Called Traffic Hazard

The dump site was shown by objectors as a traffic hazard as well as a danger to surrounding property values.

Wagener presented a petition bearing 1,338 signatures in opposition to the site.

The lessor of the land, Reller, was represented by Attorney John McArthur who stated that it would be impossible for the city to locate the dump within 10 miles of the city without objection from some sources. The city must have a dump, he said, and this site will affect only a few parties.

Plans For Resurfacing On Several Streets Ordered

Preparation of plans and specifications has been ordered by the City Council for the resurfacing of certain streets, including South and Randolph.

Work will move ahead immediately on plans for resurfacing 27th from Y to Potter. Also in the same stage are plans for resurfacing of Cotner Blvd from Leighton to Adams.

The remainder of the program is somewhat uncertain.

First Priority

The Council has given first priority to the resurfacing of South from 30th to 48th and widening to 33 feet. However, final Council approval of that project will hinge on acceptance by abutting property owners of one-half of the total $166,000 cost of the job.

If the property owners refuse to sign up for the work, the city will attempt to resurface Randolph from 37th to 48th under the same split cost terms.

If Randolph property owners also refuse to go along, the city's money would be spent on widening 48th from Holdrege to Leighton. The Holdrege project was proposed by Councilman Chauncey W. D. Kinsey and unanimously agreed to by other members.

Extend SE Radial

After the above projects are disposed of one way or another, the Council is on record as favoring the extension of the Southeast Radial from 27th and D to Normal and A.

Another improvement project, straightening out the jog in 21st at O, was turned down by the Council as too expensive. The estimate on that job was $50,000.

The city has a little more than $200,000 in auto registration fees and gas tax funds to spend on the streets during the current fiscal year.

'Demos Must Answer On Power Line'

. . . GOP's Spear

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — State Republican Chairman W. V. Spear declared Monday that Democrats on the House Appropriations Committee will have to answer to Nebraska farmers who had counted on the proposed Fort Randall-Grand Island 230-k v power line for electricity to operate their irrigation pumps.

The line, requested earlier this year by President Eisenhower, was eliminated by the committee.

"This action is purely political," Spear asserted.

'Short Circuit'

"Last year they were blaming the administration for not authorizing the line. Now that the President has made a special plea for funds to build the line, their own party members who control the committee have given him a 'short circuit.'

"They will have to explain their action to every farmer of Nebraska who was counting on this low-cost power to operate an irrigation well," Spear continued.

He pointed out that members of the Nebraska congressional delegation, "all Republicans," worked unceasingly for the power line.

Interior, Too

The Interior Department worked for it, too, Spear noted.

"Nebraska needs this electric power and everyone in Nebraska wants it, but some Democrats on the House Appropriations Committee do not, so we won't get it.

"The Nebraska congressional delegation will continue to fight for the 230-k. v. line when the appropriations bill is brought to the floor of Congress," Spear concluded.

Special Bond Vote June 26 Now Official

An election for June 26 has been officially called by the City Council for the purpose of voting on three propositions involving the issuance of bonds totaling $6 million.

The Council call proposes the city charter be amended to permit sale of $4.8 million in bonds to finance construction of a new medical and recreational center on the Rogers Tract at 33rd and O.

The second amendment would permit sale of $1,240,000 in bonds for a new main library building.

A third amendment would change the present limit on the rate the city may pay for legal advertising. The limit would go from 25 cents a square inch to 75 cents on the first insertion and 50 cents for each subsequent insertion of the same notice.

The election called by the city is in addition to one to be called for the same day by county. The county call will be for a vote on the proposed issuance of $4.5 million in bonds to finance a new joint city-county building.

Education Board OKs Four Bids

The Board of Education approved four bids, including the moving of six prefab school units and re-erecting them.

George Cook Construction Co., with a low bid of $23,925, will move two prefabs from the Holmes School site to Dawes School, two from Holmes to Northeast High School and two from Huntington to Riley.

The General Electric Supply Co. had a low bid of $624.75 for furnishing a panel board for the Lincoln High School boiler room.

Jacob North and Co. was accepted for printing the "Superintendent's Report to the People." The firm had the low bid.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

☆ ☆ ☆

In these political days it isn't bad to gander sideways once in a while. The Democrats promise to use every club in the bag to cop the duke in November.

Right now they feel worse in four years out of office than the Republicans did in 16.

The Democratic position in the campaign is like a fellow fishing for a coin through a subway grating. They can see the prize. And they will get it provided their bait is sticky enough.

☆ ☆ ☆

The bait is a wad of chewing gum. In order to keep it in working shape you've got to pull it up and chew it again.

☆ ☆ ☆

That's something the Democrats and Republicans are expert at. Both of them can gum it up.

Umpire Clears Cards' Bench

Cards Move Into 2nd By Tipping Giants, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, going the route for the first time this season, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals into second place Monday as the Redbirds defeated the New York Giants 4-1.

Home runs by Rip Repulski and Bill Sarni and a triple by Bobby Del Greco were the most damaging of the eight safeties collected by the Cardinals off four Giant hurlers.

The Cards actually have half a game lead over the first-place Milwaukee Braves but trail in percentages, .619 to .600.

Repulski's home run came in the second inning off starter and loser Don Liddle, and gave the Cards a lead they never relinquished. Sarni's homer came in the fifth, climaxing a three-run assault that sent Liddle to the showers.

Mizell, who had failed to finish any of his six previous starts, had a shutout going until the seventh when Don Mueller hit a home run.

Plate Umpire Stan Landes ejected Manager Fred Hutchinson and cleared the entire Cardinal bench except for their coaches in the third inning for continuous heckling after they had protested his call of a fourth ball to Bill White.

Russians Meet Rocca Tonight

ROCCA

The three-bout card starts at 8:30 p.m. The Russians take on Rocca and Bob Orton in a tag-team match, two falls out of three, in the feature.

In preliminary bouts Howard Pierce tangles with Harry Lewis and Shirley Strimple wrestles Lorraine Johnson.

Chiefs' Garden Strength Aided

The Lincoln Chiefs reported Monday that the contract of Outfielder Howie Goss has been optionally assigned to Lincoln by Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Goss, who has been hitting. 274 for New Orleans this season, will join the Chiefs prior to Thursday's home double header with Sioux City.

The 21-year- old, 6-2, 210-pounder hit 306 for Salinas of the Class C California State League last year. He led the league in stolen bases with 33, had 161 hits, including 25 home runs, 11 triples and 36 doubles.

Beatrice Sports Show Postponed

BEATRICE—The Beatrice Sports Show, scheduled to be held June 12 and 13, has been postponed until a later date, possibly January, by the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce Recreation and Athletics Committee.

Unforseen difficulty in obtaining tanks and trout for the trout fishing set-up, a major attraction, was given as the reason for the postponement.

"We would rather have our show at a later date and be assured of its success, than to hold a mediocre show now, "Dick McFeely, Chamber manager stated. A bigger and better show is planned at the later date.

Concordia Raps Link Reserves, 3-1

A's Hit More But Mantle's Longest; Yankees Win, 8-5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics won the home run derby but lost the ball game 8-5 to the New York Yankees Monday on Mickey Mantle's tremendous homer over two fences, up a 40-foot embankment and out of the park.

The A's hit four home runs, two of them by Harry Simpson, and all with the bases empty. Hector Lopez and Gus Zernial hit doubleheader circuit smashes to lead off the third inning. Simpson hit homers to lead off the second and eighth innings.

The game was further enlivened by a near free-for-all when Billy Martin charged off the bench to do fistic battle with relief pitcher Tom Lasorda in the ninth. Players from both clubs swarmed onto the infield and together with the umpire prevented Martin and Hank Bauer from reaching the mound. Martin had struck out to start the ninth and had hit the dirt to avoid an inside pitch. Bauer, who hit a home run Sunday but struck out three times Monday, also had spent the afternoon hitting the dirt to avoid being beaned.

Topeka's 11-8 Victory Ties Loop Lead; 4,164 Watch

TOPEKA (AP)—Topeka crashed from behind with a four-run burst in the fifth inning, then went on to defeat Lincoln, 11-8, to move into a tie for the Western League lead with the Chiefs here Monday night.

The season's largest Western League crowd, 4,164, turned out to honor Hawk Firstbaseman Al Weygandt and the loop homerun leader put on a splendid showing.

Weygandt cracked a double and two singles and drove in two runs as three Lincoln pitchers were jarred with 12 hits.

Winning pitcher was Reliefer Bill Roland, who was touched for one run in the 3 2/3 innings he toiled.

Lincoln had jumped ahead by 5-2 in the fourth before the Hawks belted Lincoln Manager Larry Shepard from the mound with four runs in the fifth.

Catcher Joe Zavattaro hit a solo homer in the second for Lincoln and Bill Jackson clouted one with one on in the fourth.

Hawk Shortstop Don Damiano homered on the first pitch thrown him as he lead off in the first.

Lincoln Reliefer Andy Olson walked four straight after two were out in the sixth and replacement Tom Mulcahy walked the first two he faced as the Hawks scored three runs to go ahead without aid of a hit.

White Sox Trade Kell To Orioles

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Monday obtained pitcher Jim Wilson and outfielder Dave Philley from the Baltimore Orioles in exchange for four players, including veteran third baseman George Kell.

Pitcher Mike Fornieles, outfielder Bob Nieman and a player to be named at a later date went with Kell in the package deal with Baltimore.

Wilson, 34, was the key man in the trade—one of the biggest of the season. The righthander had 12-18 for the Orioles last year with an earned run average of 3.45. This season he has a 4-2 mark, including 31 strikeouts in 48 1-3 innings.

"We needed a fifth starter to go along with Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman, Dick Donovan and Bob Keegan," said Sox Manager Marty Marion. "And we got him in Wilson."

Marion said Sam Esposito has developed so well he can play third base, where the aging Kell had been stationed when he was able to play.

Kell, 33, hit .312 in 128 games for the Sox last year and drove in 81 runs. In 21 games this season, he hit .313.

The Sox gave up infielder Grady Hatton and $100,000 to Boston for Kell on May 24, 1954.

Philley, who was 36 last week, returns to the Comiskeys after serving them from 1946-1951. After going to Baltimore from Cleveland last year he wound up the season with a .299 average in 126 games and had 50 RBI's. This season he is hitting .205 in 117 times at bat and has driven in 17 runs.

Fornieles, a 155-pound righthander, has a 0-1 mark for the campaign. Nieman, part of the deal with Detroit when the Sox sent Ferris Fain to the Tigers in December, 1954, hit .283 in 99 games in 1955, including 11 homers. So far this year he is hitting .300 in 40 trips to the plate.

Beauty, Brains And Strength

Pretty Karen Anderson, 18-year-old blonde athlete, who may be another Babe Didrikson Zaharias in the making, works out with the javelin, with her eye on an Olympic team berth. The girl, who won the Pan-American title with a javelin heave of 161-3 last year, is still a senior at Lansdowne, Pa., high school. She also stars with the discus, shot and shoots in the low eighties although a beginning golfer. (AP Wirephoto)

Attractive Prep Athlete May Replace 'The Babe'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sports-minded people of Suburban Lansdowne believe they may have another Babe Didrikson Zaharias in their midst in the person of an 18-year-old attractive blonde named Karen Anderson.

Not since the fabulous Babe swept across America's sports horizon has a young lady appeared with such multiple athletic talents. Miss Anderson combines beauty, brains and strength in a personification of the All-American girl.

Briefly summarizing her athletic capabilities, Miss Anderson is the U. S. women's record holding javelin champion, as a beginner shoots golf in the low 80s averages 32 points a game in basketball, is a brilliant soft ball pitcher, an all-star field hockey performer and a better than average bowler.

Throws Discus, Shot

She also throws the discus, tosses the shot put and high jumps. At the moment, the javelin, in which she hopes to qualify for the Olympic Games and earn a gold medal for Uncle Sam, is receiving most of her attention.

Last year, Karen went to Mexico City to compete in the women's javelin event. She won with a heave of 161 feet, 3 inches.

The Olympic record is 165-7½, and the world record is 182 feet. Her coach, Boo Morcum, assistant track coach at the University of Pennsylvania, says his pupil can break the world record if she wants to. By wanting to, Morcum means giving up or at least modifying her other sports activities to concentrate and train on the javelin.

Miss Anderson says she wants to.

Wants Gold Medal

"I realize it means hard work, but going to the Olympics and win —is my only goal right now," she says.

The comely 5-foot-5 135-pounder began her conditioning for the August Olympic tryouts last March 1. With the exception of a few weeks off for a goodwill tour to Africa for the State Department, she has been working out on Penn's Franklin Field under the direction of Morcum.

A senior at Lansdowne's Alden High School, she plans to practice every day once the school term ends. Morcum, who says Karen does some sort of calesthenics each day to develop her javelin muscles, has plans for her to compete in the collegiate track and field meet in New York May 30, the national championships at Philadelphia August 18 and, of course, the Olympic tryouts Aug. 25 in Washington, D. C.

Gus Talazs Wins Link Pentathlon

Gus Talazs, Link senior, won the Lincoln High pentathlon Monday, scoring a total of 4,567½ points in five events. He bettered the old record of 4,317 set by Dean Sloan in 1952 in winning the event.

Joe Gacusana, a junior, was second in the event with 4,514 points, which also bettered the former mark.

Talazs set a new shotput record in the win. He tossed the shot 51-2¼. He was timed in 2:16.2 in the 880, :24.3 in the 220-yard dash, broad jumped 20-¾ and threw the discus 124.

Other leaders:

Andy Mattison (3834½); Dean Sell (3712); Dick Byers (3536½); Serge Castigliano (3103); Brian Etheridge (3060); Larry Haack (2969); Larry Snyder (2958).

Hit Spree Ups Vernon To 3rd In AL

. . . Mantle Still Leads

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a familiar name among the American League leading batsmen today. Veteran Mickey Vernon of the Boston Red Sox, a two-time batting champion, ranks third in the listings and is challenging pace-setting Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and runner-up Charley Maxwell of Detroit.

The 38-year-old first baseman, who was traded to Boston by Washington in a winter deal, went on a dazzling hitting spree during the week as he raised his average 64 points to .372.

The slender left-handed swinger, having hit safely in his last nine games, delivered 13 hits in 26 trips—a .500 clip. Included among his week's output were three doubles, one triple, three homers and 10 runs batted in.

Mantle still tops the league with a .398 average, while Maxwell has moved into second at .387. Rip Repulski of the St. Louis Cards has taken over undisputed kingpin in the National League with games through Sunday.

Vernon entered organized baseball 1937 and is in his 14th season in the majors. He has compiled a .287 lifetime average and is a member of the 2,000-hit club. He won his first batting crown in 1946 when he hit .353 for Washington and he captured the title again in 1953, batting .337 for the Senators. Vernon hit .301 for the Nats last season.

Mantle gained 7 points with 11-for-26 during the week. Maxwell, in advancing from third, went 5-for-12 and boosted his average 6 points.

Trailing Vernon is Baltimore's Bob Boyd, fourth at .357, and Yogi Berra of the Yanks is fifth with .353. Both were injured over the weekend. Boyd suffered a chip fracture of his left elbow while and is expected to be sidelined for several weeks. Berra pulled a back muscle while swinging at a pitch Saturday, but the injury is not serious.

Reed Enters Open

OMAHA (AP) — Whitie Reed of Lincoln Monday entered the Omaha Open golf tourney, scheduled for the Field Club June 8-10. Reed was Nebraska State Amateur champion in 1953. Bob Astelford, Omaha, state champion last year, also has entered.

Fabius Arrives

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Calumet Farms' Fabius, Preakness winner over Needles last Saturday at Baltimore, arrived at Garden State Park here Monday where he is scheduled to run in the $50,000 Jersey Stakes Saturday.

Umpire Clears Cards' Bench

Cards Move Into 2nd By Tipping Giants, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP)—Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, going the route for the first time this season, pitched the St. Louis Cardinals into second place Monday as the Redbirds defeated the New York Giants 4-1.

Home runs by Rip Repulski and Bill Sarni and a triple by Bobby Del Greco were the most damaging of the eight safeties collected by the Cardinals off four Giant hurlers.

The Cards actually have half a game lead over the first-place Milwaukee Braves but trail in percentages, .619 to .600.

Repulski's home run came in the second inning off starter and loser Don Liddle, and gave the Cards a lead they never relinquished. Sarni's homer came in the fifth, climaxing a three-run assault that sent Liddle to the showers.

Mizell, who had failed to finish any of his six previous starts, had a shutout going until the seventh when Don Mueller hit a home run.

Plate Umpire Stan Landes ejected Manager Fred Hutchinson and cleared the entire Cardinal bench except for their coaches in the third inning for continuous heckling after they had protested his call of a fourth ball to Bill White.

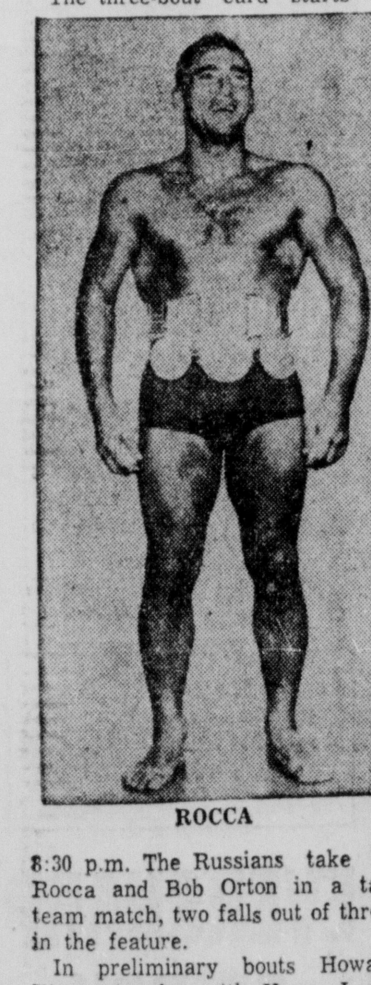
Russians Meet Rocca Tonight

Ivan and Karol Kalmikoff, the terrible-tempered Russian wrestlers, will come to grips with acrobatic Argentina Rocca tonight at the Lincoln Fairgrounds Arena.

The three-bout card starts at 8:30 p.m. The Russians take on Rocca and Bob Orton in a tag-team match, two falls out of three, in the feature.



ROCCA

In preliminary bouts Howard Pierce tangles with Harry Lewis and Shirley Strimple wrestles Lorraine Johnson.

Chiefs' Garden Strength Aided

The Lincoln Chiefs reported Monday that the contract of Outfielder Howie Goss has been optionally assigned to Lincoln by Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League.

Goss, who has been hitting. 274 for New Orleans this season, will join the Chiefs prior to Thursday's home double header with Sioux City.

The 21-year- old, 6-2, 210-pounder hit 306 for Salinas of the Class C California State League last year. He led the league in stolen bases with 33, had 161 hits, including 25 home runs, 11 triples and 36 doubles.

Beatrice Sports Show Postponed

BEATRICE—The Beatrice Sports Show, scheduled to be held June 12 and 13, has been postponed until a later date, possibly January, by the Beatrice Chamber of Commerce Recreation and Athletics Committee.

Unforseen difficulty in obtaining tanks and trout for the trout fishing set-up, a major attraction, was given as the reason for the postponement.

"We would rather have our show at a later date and be assured of its success, than to hold a mediocre show now, "Dick McFeely, Chamber manager stated. A bigger and better show is planned at the later date.

A's Hit More But Mantle's Longest; Yankees Win, 8-5

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Athletics won the home run derby but lost the ball game 8-5 to the New York Yankees Monday on Mickey Mantle's tremendous homer over two fences, up a 40-foot embankment and out of the park.

The A's hit four home runs, two of them by Harry Simpson, and all with the bases empty. Hector Lopez and Gus Zernial hit double-header circuit smashes to lead off the third inning. Simpson hit homers to lead off the second and eighth innings.

The game was further enlivened by a near free-for-all when Billy Martin charged off the bench to do fistic battle with relief pitcher Tom Lasorda in the ninth. Players from both clubs swarmed onto the infield and together with the umpire prevented Martin and Hank Bauer from reaching the mound. Martin had struck out to start the ninth and had hit the dirt to avoid an inside pitch. Bauer, who hit a home run Sunday but struck out three times Monday, also had spent the afternoon hitting the dirt to avoid being beaned.

HAWKS' RALLY TIPS CHIEFS

Topeka's 11-8 Victory Ties Loop Lead; 4,164 Watch

TOPEKA (AP)—Topeka crashed from behind with a four-run burst in the fifth inning, then went on to defeat Lincoln, 11-8, to move into a tie for the Western League lead with the Chiefs here Monday night.

The season's largest Western League crowd, 4,164, turned out to honor Hawk Firstbaseman Al Weygandt and the loop homerun leader put on a splendid showing.

Weygandt cracked a double and two singles and drove in two runs as three Lincoln pitchers were jarred with 12 hits.

Winning pitcher was Reliefer Bill Roland, who was touched for one run in the 3 2/3 innings he toiled.

Lincoln had jumped ahead by 5-2 in the fourth before the Hawks belted Lincoln Manager Larry Shepard from the mound with four runs in the fifth.

Lincoln Reliefer Andy Olson walked four straight after two were out in the sixth and replacement Tom Mulcahy walked the first two he faced as the Hawks scored three runs to go ahead without aid of a hit.

White Sox Trade Kell To Orioles

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox Monday obtained pitcher Jim Wilson and outfielder Dave Philley from the Baltimore Orioles in exchange for four players, including veteran third baseman George Kell.

Wilson, 34, was the key man in the trade—one of the biggest of the season. The righthander had 12-18 for the Orioles last year with an earned run average of 3.45. This season he has a 4-2 mark, including 31 strikeouts in 48 1-3 innings.

"We needed a fifth starter to go along with Billy Pierce, Jack Harshman, Dick Donovan and Bob Keegan," said Sox Manager Marty Marion. "And we got him in Wilson."

Marion said Sam Esposito has developed so well he can play third base, where the aging Kell had been stationed when he was able to play.

Kell, 33, hit .312 in 128 games for the Sox last year and drove in 81 runs. In 21 games this season, he hit .313.

The Sox gave up infielder Grady Hatton and $100,000 to Boston for Kell on May 24, 1954.

Philley, who was 36 last week, returns to the Comiskeys after serving them from 1946-1951. After going to Baltimore from Cleveland last year he wound up the season with a .299 average in 126 games and had 50 RBI's. This season he is hitting .205 in 117 times at bat and has driven in 17 runs.

Fornieles, a 155-pound righthander, has a 0-1 mark for the campaign. Nieman, part of the deal with Detroit when the Sox sent Ferris Fain to the Tigers in December, 1954, hit .283 in 99 games in 1955, including 11 homers. So far this year he is hitting .300 in 40 trips to the plate.

Beauty, Brains And Strength

Pretty Karen Anderson, 18-year-old blonde athlete, who may be another Babe Didrikson Zaharias in the making, works out with the javelin, with her eye on an Olympic team berth. The girl, who won the Pan-American title with a javelin heave of 161-3 last year, is still a senior at Lansdowne, Pa., high school. She also stars with the discus, shot and shoots in the low eighties although a beginning golfer. (AP Wirephoto)

Attractive Prep Athlete May Replace 'The Babe'

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sports-minded people of Suburban Lansdowne believe they may have another Babe Didrikson Zaharias in their midst in the person of an 18-year-old attractive blonde named Karen Anderson.

Not since the fabulous Babe swept across America's sports horizon has a young lady appeared with such multiple athletic talents. Miss Anderson combines beauty, brains and strength in a personification of the All-American girl.

Briefly summarizing her athletic capabilities, Miss Anderson is the U. S. women's record holding javelin champion, as a beginner shoots golf in the low 80s averages 32 points a game in basketball, is a brilliant soft ball pitcher, an all-star field hockey performer and a better than average bowler.

Throws Discus, Shot

She also throws the discus, tosses the shot put and high jumps. At the moment, the javelin, in which she hopes to qualify for the Olympic Games and earn a gold medal for Uncle Sam, is receiving most of her attention.

Last year, Karen went to Mexico City to compete in the women's javelin event. She won with a heave of 161 feet, 3 inches.

The Olympic record is 165-7½, and the world record is 182 feet. Her coach, Boo Morcum, assistant track coach at the University of Pennsylvania, says his pupil can break the world record if she wants to. By wanting to, Morcum means giving up or at least modifying her other sports activities to concentrate and train on the javelin.

Wants Gold Medal

The comely 5-foot-5 135-pounder began her conditioning for the August Olympic tryouts last March 1. With the exception of a few weeks off for a goodwill tour to Africa for the State Department, she has been working out on Penn's Franklin Field under the direction of Morcum.

A senior at Lansdowne's Alden High School, she plans to practice every day once the school term ends. Morcum, who says Karen does some sort of calesthenics each day to develop her javelin muscles, has plans for her to compete in the collegiate track and field meet in New York May 30, the national championships at Philadelphia August 18 and, of course, the Olympic tryouts Aug. 25 in Washington, D. C.

Gus Talazs Wins Link Pentathlon

Gus Talazs, Link senior, won the Lincoln High pentathlon Monday, scoring a total of 4,567½ points in five events. He bettered the old record of 4,317 set by Dean Sloan in 1952 in winning the event.

Joe Gacusana, a junior, was second in the event with 4,514 points, which also bettered the former mark.

Talazs set a new shotput record in the win. He tossed the shot 51-2¼. He was timed in 2:16.2 in the 880, :24.3 in the 220-yard dash, broad jumped 20-¾ and threw the discus 124.

Other leaders:

Andy Mattison (3834½); Dean Sell (3712); Dick Byers (3536½); Serge Castigliano (3103); Brian Etheridge (3060); Larry Haack (2969); Larry Snyder (2958).

Hit Spree Ups Vernon To 3rd In AL

. . . Mantle Still Leads

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a familiar name among the American League leading batsmen today. Veteran Mickey Vernon of the Boston Red Sox, a two-time batting champion, ranks third in the listings and is challenging pace-setting Mickey Mantle of the Yankees and runner-up Charley Maxwell of Detroit.

The 38-year-old first baseman, who was traded to Boston by Washington in a winter deal, went on a dazzling hitting spree during the week as he raised his average 64 points to .372.

The slender left-handed swinger, having hit safely in his last nine games, delivered 13 hits in 26 trips—a .500 clip. Included among his week's output were three doubles, one triple, three homers and 10 runs batted in.

Mantle still tops the league with a .398 average, while Maxwell has moved into second at .387. Rip Repulski of the St. Louis Cards has taken over undisputed kingpin in the National League with games through Sunday.

Vernon entered organized baseball 1937 and is in his 14th season in the majors. He has compiled a .287 lifetime average and is a member of the 2,000-hit club. He won his first batting crown in 1946 when he hit .353 for Washington and he captured the title again in 1953, batting .337 for the Senators. Vernon hit .301 for the Nats last season.

Mantle gained 7 points with 11-for-26 during the week. Maxwell, in advancing from third, went 5-for-12 and boosted his average 6 points.

Trailing Vernon is Baltimore's Bob Boyd, fourth at .357, and Yogi Berra of the Yanks is fifth with .353. Both were injured over the weekend. Boyd suffered a chip fracture of his left elbow while and is expected to be sidelined for several weeks. Berra pulled a back muscle while swinging at a pitch Saturday, but the injury is not serious.

Reed Enters Open

OMAHA (AP) — Whitie Reed of Lincoln Monday entered the Omaha Open golf tourney, scheduled for the Field Club June 8-10. Reed was Nebraska State Amateur champion in 1953. Bob Astelford, Omaha, state champion last year, also has entered.

Fabius Arrives

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP) — Calumet Farms' Fabius, Preakness winner over Needles last Saturday at Baltimore, arrived at Garden State Park here Monday where he is scheduled to run in the $50,000 Jersey Stakes Saturday.

Landy Labels Seaman As Best Mile Prospect

NEW YORK (AP) — John Landy, the great Australian miler who owns the world record of 3:58, predicted Monday the top six or seven milers were capable of running the distance in 3:55.

Landy called Bobby Seaman of UCLA the "best mile prospect in the world on sheer physical ability" off his 4:01.4 mile last year at the age of 19. He also said Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell, known as a half miler and 800-meter Olympic threat, might eventually step up to the mile and set a record with his great speed.

"If it is possible to build Sowell and other fast runners up into milers, they might establish a record that would push the present day milers into the 3-mile division," said Landy at a press luncheon. Last week at Miami he said England's Brian Hewson might run a 3:50 mile.

The 26-year-old miler won many friends for Australia with his warm smile and ready answers to the press. He stopped off in New York briefly and will head for home, via San Francisco, in a day or two. In his two U. S. miles he was beaten by Jim Bailey in 3 58 6 at Los Angeles (Landy did 3·58 7) and won in 3·59 1 at Fresno, Calif. Landy has broken the 4-minute mile on six occasions.

Landy called Wes Santee, center of the great controversy with the AAU, a "great runner who never reached his full potential" However, he refused to be drawn into the Santee-AAU squabble.

Named 3:55 Runners

In listing the men capable of running a 3 55 mile, Landy named Merv Lincoln of Australia, Ken Wood and Hewson of England, Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark, Laszlo Tabori and Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary and Seaman. He also mentioned Ireland's Ron Delany of Villanova as an outstanding runner despite his two defeats by Landy in California

Landy placed himself second behind Jim Bailey as Australia's best in the Olympic 1,500-meter race with Lincoln third. However he added, "I don't plan on being beaten again."

Landy also may double up in the 5,000-meter event in the Olympics at Melbourne. He said he might possibly return to the mile again after the Olympics

The slender 5 11 schoolteacher estimated he was about 5 or 6 pounds over his normal 146 pounds due to the layoff since his last race, May 12

Asked to explain the difference between his training methods and the way Americans prepared for distance races, Landy had this answer

"We spend more time at slow running rather than running against time as the Americans do. I train seven days a week, always nibbling at it.

"I think the present day athlete can turn in better times than the oldtimers because he trains differently. We train twice as long and are a lot fitter. I think if the four or five milers who are masquerading as champions today had trained like Sydney Wooderson and Gundar Haegg we would be hitting 4 15 and that includes me."

Sky Sox Tip Gold Sox

AMARILLO (AP) — Scoring half their runs in the first inning, the Colorado Springs Sky Sox defeated the Amarillo Gold Sox, 10-7, here Monday night in the opener of their three-game series.

With a five-run cushion to work with after the first, Tom Richards, striking out 10, went the route for Colorado Springs to register his second win against five defeats

Young Bethea Wins Decision Over Charles

NEW YORK (AP) — Wayne Bethea gave Ezzard Charles a big push toward the end of the boxing trail Monday night by decisively outpointing the slowed up former heavyweight champion in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Charles weighed 195, Bethea 199

All three officials, Referee Al Berl and Judges Nick Gamboli and Mike Davidowitz, had the same scorecards, 7-3 for Bethea The AP had Bethea in front 6-3-1.

The 34-year-old Charles almost pulled the fight out of the fire late in the last round when he staggered his 24-year-old rival with a long, overhand right to the jaw, and followed with a good left hook to the jaw. But he couldn't drop Bethea and time ran out.

Charles had been an 8-5 favorite over his much younger foe, but at fight time it was even money.

Bethea, a pro only 21 months, pressed the faded veteran throughout the dull, clinch-packed scrap

Big Ten Coaches OK Round-Robin

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn (AP)—Big 10 football coaches and athletic directors Monday voted for a nine-game round-robin conference schedule within a 10-game slate beginning in 1959-60, but the action awaits approval of the policy-making faculty representatives later this week

This departure from the present nine-game Big 10 grid schedule which includes a range of from six to eight conference games, came on a proposal by George H. Young, faculty representative from the University of Wisconsin.

Commissioner K. L (Tug) Wilson said the vote was not unanimous, but said that with all the football coaches and athletic directors voting there was a total of 20 votes, which meant there was at least an 11-9 majority for the expanded schedule.

PCC Raps UCLA Again; Knox Out?

VICTORIA, B. C (AP) — A Pacific Coast Conference disciplinary "big stick" fell again on the University of California at Los Angeles Monday.

The conference decreed that all members of the UCLA 1955 freshman and varsity football squads shall lose a year's eligibility unless individual players can prove they have not received improper financial aid.

The UCLA faculty representative had started the new disciplinary round by declaring all members of the two squads ineligible. That would have put all the players out for the 1956 season. The conference members ruled that penalty was too harsh, and reinstated the group with the proviso that penalties would be the loss of a year in each case, without specifying the year.

The ruling apparently will end the conference grid career of Ronnie Knox, the celebrated UCLA back of last year, because he had only one year of eligibility remaining—unless he can prove a clean slate on any financial aid he received.

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, the UCLA faculty representative, did not present any list of athletes to whom the ban would apply. Neither was any list made available from UCLA officials in Victoria.

Coach Red Sanders said he had no comment on the latest development but added that it could leave the school's football fortunes in bad shape next fall.

Landy Labels Seaman As Best Mile Prospect

NEW YORK (AP) — John Landy, the great Australian miler who owns the world record of 3:58, predicted Monday the top six or seven milers were capable of running the distance in 3:55.

Landy called Bobby Seaman of UCLA the "best mile prospect in the world on sheer physical ability" off his 4:01.4 mile last year at the age of 19. He also said Pittsburgh's Arnie Sowell, known as a half miler and 800-meter Olympic threat, might eventually step up to the mile and set a record with his great speed.

"If it is possible to build Sowell and other fast runners up into milers, they might establish a record that would push the present day milers into the 3-mile division," said Landy at a press luncheon. Last week at Miami he said England's Brian Hewson might run a 3:50 mile.

The 26-year-old miler won many friends for Australia with his warm smile and ready answers to the press. He stopped off in New York briefly and will head for home, via San Francisco, in a day or two. In his two U. S. miles he was beaten by Jim Bailey in 3:58.6 at Los Angeles (Landy did 3:58.7) and won in 3:59.1 at Fresno, Calif. Landy has broken the 4-minute mile on six occasions.

Landy called Wes Santee, center of the great controversy with the AAU, a "great runner who never reached his full potential." However, he refused to be drawn into the Santee-AAU squabble.

Named 3:55 Runners

In listing the men capable of running a 3:55 mile, Landy named Merv Lincoln of Australia, Ken Wood and Hewson of England, Gunnar Nielsen of Denmark, Laszlo Tabori and Istvan Rozsavolgyi of Hungary and Seaman. He also mentioned Ireland's Ron Delany of Villanova as an outstanding runner despite his two defeats by Landy in California.

Landy placed himself second behind Jim Bailey as Australia's best in the Olympic 1,500-meter race with Lincoln third. However he added, "I don't plan on being beaten again."

Landy also may double up in the 5,000-meter event in the Olympics at Melbourne. He said he might possibly return to the mile again after the Olympics.

The slender 5-11 schoolteacher estimated he was about 5 or 6 pounds over his normal 146 pounds due to the layoff since his last race, May 12.

Asked to explain the difference between his training methods and the way Americans prepared for distance races, Landy had this answer:

"We spend more time at slow running rather than running against time as the Americans do. I train seven days a week, always nibbling at it.

"I think the present day athlete can turn in better times than the oldtimers because he trains differently. We train twice as long and are a lot fitter. I think if the four or five milers who are masquerading as champions today had trained like Sydney Wooderson and Gundar Haegg we would be hitting 4:15 and that includes me."

Sky Sox Tip Gold Sox

AMARILLO (AP) — Scoring half their runs in the first inning, the Colorado Springs Sky Sox defeated the Amarillo Gold Sox, 10-7, here Monday night in the opener of their three-game series.

With a five-run cushion to work with after the first, Tom Richards, striking out 10, went the route for Colorado Springs to register his second win against five defeats.

Young Bethea Wins Decision Over Charles

NEW YORK (AP) — Wayne Bethea gave Ezzard Charles a big push toward the end of the boxing trail Monday night by decisively outpointing the slowed up former heavyweight champion in a 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. Charles weighed 195, Bethea 199.

All three officials, Referee Al Berl and Judges Nick Gamboli and Mike Davidowitz, had the same scorecards, 7-3 for Bethea. The AP had Bethea in front 6-3-1.

The 34-year-old Charles almost pulled the fight out of the fire late in the last round when he staggered his 24-year-old rival with a long, overhand right to the jaw, and followed with a good left hook to the jaw. But he couldn't drop Bethea and time ran out.

Charles had been an 8-5 favorite over his much younger foe, but at fight time it was even money.

Bethea, a pro only 21 months, pressed the faded veteran throughout the dull, clinch-packed scrap.

Big Ten Coaches OK Round-Robin

GRAND RAPIDS, Minn. (AP)—Big 10 football coaches and athletic directors Monday voted for a nine-game round-robin conference schedule within a 10-game slate beginning in 1959-60, but the action awaits approval of the policy-making faculty representatives later this week.

This departure from the present nine-game Big 10 grid schedule which includes a range of from six to eight conference games, came on a proposal by George H. Young, faculty representative from the University of Wisconsin.

Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson said the vote was not unanimous, but said that with all the football coaches and athletic directors voting there was a total of 20 votes, which meant there was at least an 11-9 majority for the expanded schedule.

PCC Raps UCLA Again; Knox Out?

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP) — A Pacific Coast Conference disciplinary "big stick" fell again on the University of California at Los Angeles Monday.

The conference decreed that all members of the UCLA 1955 freshman and varsity football squads shall lose a year's eligibility unless individual players can prove they have not received improper financial aid.

The UCLA faculty representative had started the new disciplinary round by declaring all members of the two squads ineligible. That would have put all the players out for the 1956 season. The conference members ruled that penalty was too harsh, and reinstated the group with the proviso that penalties would be the loss of a year in each case, without specifying the year.

The ruling apparently will end the conference grid career of Ronnie Knox, the celebrated UCLA back of last year, because he had only one year of eligibility remaining—unless he can prove a clean slate on any financial aid he received.

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, the UCLA faculty representative, did not present any list of athletes to whom the ban would apply. Neither was any list made available from UCLA officials in Victoria.

Coach Red Sanders said he had no comment on the latest development but added that it could leave the school's football fortunes in bad shape next fall.

'Lincolnite's Father Wins Paris Shoot

Bob Boyd of LeMars, Ia., father of Mrs. Wayne Ostlund, 401 South 33rd, recently won an international live-bird trap shoot in Paris. The shoot was a preliminary to the world championship which will be held in Rome May 26-June 4.

Mr. Boyd has never competed in the international shoot but has won the Cuban championship twice. He won the Cuban event for the United States in February.

Mr. Boyd has done "some shooting" in Lincoln, according to Mrs. Ostlund.

Probe Urged In Chotiner 'Pressure Campaign' Role

WASHINGTON (INS) — A House Anti-Monopoly subcommittee was urged Monday to investigate the role played by Los Angeles attorney Murray Chotiner in conducting an alleged "pressure campaign" to win congressional and White House support for North American Airlines.

Alexander G. Hardy, vice president of National Airlines, also asserted that Gen. Omar Bradley and Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney were involved in the campaign.

Hardy urged the group, headed by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) to investigate Chotiner's alleged role in blue printing a master plan, which he said has permitted North American "to take several million dollars out of their illegal operations."

He cited a letter written by North American, a non-scheduled air line, to President Eisenhower a few weeks ago, listing Chotiner as its legal and public relations representative.

'Blacklisted'

The Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee recently investigated the activities of Chotiner, who directed Vice President Richard M. Nixon's political campaigns of 1950 and 1952. The Senate group quizzed Chotiner when it was found he represented a "blacklisted" uniform maker.

Hardy contended that Chotiner composed form letters which were distributed to North American passengers showing them how to seek congressional support for the non-scheduled air line in its legal bout with the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The CAB has accused North American of violating the law in its operations, and the case is now pending in court.

According to Hardy, the form letters — which passengers were to copy on "important letterhead" stationery — were addressed to Nixon, Senate minority leader William F. Knowland (R-Calf) and Sen. Thomas Kuchel (R-Calif)

Hardy also read a letter written to Mr. Eisenhower last year by Bradley, former chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff and a West Point classmate of the President. The Bradley letter, sent through White House aid Wilton B. Persons, asked the chief executive to intercede on behalf of North American in the CAB dispute.

'Pressure'

Celler said he will ask Bradley, Chotiner and others listed by Hardy as part of the "pressure campaign" to reply either in person or in correspondence.

Hardy named O'Mahoney as "a North American lobbyist, lawyer and director."

Others listed by Hardy as part of the alleged North American pressure campaign were: Laurence Henderson, former staff director of the Senate Small Business Committee and now a North American employe; Maurice Rosenblat, director of the National Committee for an effective Government; Gardiner Jackson, an official of Americans for Democratic Action, and Raimond Bowles, former assistant to White House assistant Sherman Adams, when Adams was governor of New Hampshire.

North American representatives, who previously testified before the Celler subcommittee, accused national and the scheduled airlines of exerting undue pressure on the CAB to keep the non-scheduled lines from being certified and to prevent a general passenger rate investigation.

Insurance Rates Major Problem In Plans For Nebraska A-Power Plant

Insurance rates covering the proposed Atomic energy steam generating plant near Hallam loomed Monday a a major block in construction plans for the plant.

R. L. Schacht, general manager of Consumers Public Power District, reported Monday there is "still quite a ways to go" in determining the insurance program. Reports are awaited, Schacht said, from potential insurors before plans can be cleared for actual construction.

W. P. Venable, superintendent of power for Consumers, said the location and population of the surrounding town would be major factors in how much insurance would be needed.

Schacht's remarks Monday were made following a report from 103 mutual fire-casualty insurance companies that they will pledge $11,114,000 insurance on each atomic reactor built.

The two major problems, as listed by Schacht, are: A supplement plan by stock insurance companies, now awaited, on how much additional insurance will be offered to go with the mutual insurance program. This follows discussion of the stock companies issuing $50 million insurance coverage on each atomic plant.

Venable said Monday a major question on coverage is the extent to which the federal government will go in coverage over and above the insurance backing by the mutual and stock company combine.

Venable said Consumers has supplied statistical information to a combine of six large insurance companies in an attempt to get tentative rate quotation. No quotation has been forthcoming, Venable said.

The rate of insurance cost for the atomic plant as compared to that of steam generating plants will have to compare favorably before it can be accepted, Venable said.

A report from Chicago quoting J. P. Gibson Jr., manager of the mutual insurance company pool, indicated foreign insurance companies may boost the total insurance coverage to $20 million a plant. This would be under the mutual insurance program.

The insurance would cover damages from possible explosion of the plant for both personal injury, radioactive contamination, and property damage.

New Savings And Loan Officers Elected

H. G. Candish (left) of Grand Island was elected president of the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations Monday at its annual meeting in Lincoln. Other officers are (second from left to right) Jean Cain of Falls City, first vice president; Leslie Martin of Omaha, second vice president, and Ed Kutilek of Omaha, treasurer. (Star Photo)

Other officers elected were Jean Cain of Falls City, 1st vice president; Leslie Martin of Omaha, 2nd vice president; Ed Kutilek of Omaha, treasurer.

Directors for 1956-57 will be William Fitzgerald of Omaha, Chet Thomas of Nebraska City, and K. J. Folda of Schuyler.

The afternoon session featured addresses by Jonathan Fletcher, member of the executive committee of the United States League and executive vice president of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Des Moines, and William Divers, president of the Savings and Loan Foundation.

Fletcher discussed the operations of the United States League, including its new study of the probable home mortgage needs throughout the country.

Referring to the new government reorganization plan affecting the Federal Home Loan Bank System, Fletcher said that the league was in "vigorous opposition" to the plan because it would increase the expense of operation of savings and loan companies and "ultimately cause the expense to fall on home buyers."

Divers, formerly chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, told the convention about the advertising campaign of the Savings and Loan Foundation.

Charles Borsom, manager of the Accounting Division of the American Savings and Loan Institute and staff accounting officer for the United States League, Earle Johnson, Lincoln realtor, and Selmer Solheim, Lincoln architect also spoke at the afternoon session.

'Home Loan Money Will Be Adequate'

"Adequate mortgage money will be available for contemplated home construction with interest rates holding steady for most of the year," Walter W. McAllister, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, told the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations at the annual banquet here Monday night.

McAllister said the assets of the district Federal Home Loan Banks exceed $2.2 billion.

"Mortgage lending by savings associations," McAllister said "has reflected the boom in the nation's economy and last year reached an all-time high of $11.5 billion."

Lending at the rate of $21,879.75 each minute of the day, associations financed 37 per cent of all home loans, he said.

McAllister said that new housing starts may range between 1.1 and 1.2 million units this year.

"If we tried to sustain in excess of 1.2 million units, with the balance of economy continuing at its present level of production, we simply wouldn't be able to do it," he said.

He said the Federal Home Loan Board is studying new plans for tapping the investment market, including pension funds. Savings are being channeled more into enforced savings, particularly pension plans which are growing at the rate of more than $2 billion annually, he said.

Proved It

MARSHALL, Ind. (AP)—A Martinsville farmer who doesn't like parking meters proved it. He smashed 33 of them on the city square and was irked at missing two others.

Ronald Medsker, 30, came to Marshall in his farm truck, drove it onto the sidewalk and around the square shearing off the meters like bowling pins.

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact, these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Insurance Rates Major Problem In Plans For Nebraska A-Power Plant

Insurance rates covering the proposed Atomic energy steam generating plant near Hallam loomed Monday s a major block in construction plans for the plant.

R. L. Schacht, general manager of Consumers Public Power District, reported Monday there is "still quite a ways to go" in determining the insurance program. Reports are awaited, Schacht said, from potential insurors before plans can be cleared for actual construction.

W. P. Venable, superintendent of power for Consumers, said the location and population of the surrounding town would be major factors in how much insurance would be needed.

Schacht's remarks Monday were made following a report from 103 mutual fire-casualty insurance companies that they will pledge $11,114,000 insurance on each atomic reactor built.

The two major problems, as listed by Schacht, are: A supplement plan by stock insurance companies, now awaited, on how much additional insurance will be offered to go with the mutual insurance program. This follows discussion of the stock companies issuing $50 million insurance coverage on each atomic plant.

Venable said Monday a major question on coverage is the extent to which the federal government will go in coverage over and above the insurance backing by the mutual and stock company combine.

Venable said Consumers has supplied statistical information to a combine of six large insurance companies in an attempt to get tentative rate quotation. No quotation has been forthcoming, Venable said.

The rate of insurance cost for the atomic plant as compared to that of steam generating plants will have to compare favorably before it can be accepted, Venable said.

A report from Chicago quoting J. P. Gibson Jr., manager of the mutual insurance company pool, indicated foreign insurance companies may boost the total insurance coverage to $20 million a plant. This would be under the mutual insurance program.

The insurance would cover damages from possible explosion of the plant for both personal injury, radioactive contamination, and property damage.

Grand Islander Heads Savings, Loan League

Other officers elected were Jean Cain of Falls City, 1st vice president; Leslie Martin of Omaha, 2nd vice president; Ed Kutilek of Omaha, treasurer.

Directors for 1956-57 will be William Fitzgerald of Omaha, Chet Thomas of Nebraska City, and K. J. Folda of Schuyler.

The afternoon session featured addresses by Jonathan Fletcher, member of the executive committee of the United States League and executive vice president of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association of Des Moines, and William Divers, president of the Savings and Loan Foundation.

Fletcher discussed the operations of the United States League, including its new study of the probable home mortgage needs throughout the country.

Referring to the new government reorganization plan affecting the Federal Home Loan Bank System, Fletcher said that the league was in "vigorous opposition" to the plan because it would increase the expense of operation of savings and loan companies and "ultimately cause the expense to fall on home buyers."

Divers, formerly chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, told the convention about the advertising campaign of the Savings and Loan Foundation.

Charles Borsom, manager of the Accounting Division of the American Savings and Loan Institute and staff accounting officer for the United States League, Earle Johnson, Lincoln realtor, and Selmer Solheim, Lincoln architect also spoke at the afternoon session.

'Home Loan Money Will Be Adequate'

"Adequate mortgage money will be available for contemplated home construction with interest rates holding steady for most of the year," Walter W. McAllister, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank board, told the Nebraska League of Savings and Loan Associations at the annual banquet here Monday night.

McAllister said the assets of the district Federal Home Loan Banks exceed $2.2 billion.

"Mortgage lending by savings associations," McAllister said "has reflected the boom in the nation's economy and last year reached an all-time high of $11.5 billion."

Lending at the rate of $21,879.75 each minute of the day, associations financed 37 per cent of all home loans, he said.

McAllister said that new housing starts may range between 1.1 and 1.2 million units this year.

"If we tried to sustain in excess of 1.2 million units, with the balance of economy continuing at its present level of production, we simply wouldn't be able to do it," he said.

He said the Federal Home Loan Board is studying new plans for tapping the investment market, including pension funds. Savings are being channeled more into enforced savings, particularly pension plans which are growing at the rate of more than $2 billion annually, he said.

Proved It

MARSHALL, Ind. (AP)—A Martinsville farmer who doesn't like parking meters proved it. He smashed 33 of them on the city square and was irked at missing two others.

Ronald Medsker, 30, came to Marshall in his farm truck, drove it onto the sidewalk and around the square shearing off the meters like bowling pins.

easy reducing

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but NOW, right NOW, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

counteracts hunger

Stock Prices In Steep Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — A dull stock market session Monday dragged prices down again, this time in the steepest decline since last Monday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped $1.80 to $183.50, with the industrials down $2.40, the rails $2.50 and the utilities 10 cents.

The drop in the average represented an estimated loss of about two billion dollars in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The session started on an irregular note although mail order stocks and airlines showed a trend to the upside. Soon even this bit of firmness wilted, however. By afternoon fractional losses had extended themselves to $1 or $3 in some cases and trading was faster. Then prices improved above their worst and activity slowed to the unexciting pace that prevailed until the close.

Analysts ascribed the retreat to a further technical reaction while the market still digested unfavorable news of last week and tested its low points in the averages for either a sharper decline or a rebound.

The steel and rails division were lower from the start. Most of the losses in steels were a point or so.

Grains Irregular; May Oats Down

CHICAGO (AP) — With closing out of May contracts attracting most attention, grains finished irregular on the Board of Trade Monday.

There was heavy liquidation in May wheat and its final price was down 4¾ to 6½ cents and at the day's low. The new crop months eased early but rallied to finish ⅝ to ¾c higher.

In May soybeans the final price was 1½c lower to 3½c higher with the top figure for the day being made in the closing minutes. July soybeans, an old crop months, ended down while new crop months firmed.

Among other grains the major fireworks developed in May oats.

They were down 2⅛ to 2¾c, which is a steep decline for this cereal. The break influenced other months, which ended ¼ to 1¾c lower.

May rye and May corn ended a little higher. Other corn futures finished ⅛c lower to 1⅜c higher while other rye futures were unchanged to ½c higher.

Best performance of the day was turned in by new crop December and March corn, which gained more than a cent and ended at the day's highs.

Cops Put In 640 Hours Extra On Parker Case

The tabulation was made by the police department.

The overtime hours, however, won't mean overtime pay. The officers, who are denied overtime pay, will get the time off at a later date.

Improvements, Junior Highs Get Discussion

The Board of Education Monday discussed improvement of Norwood Park and Everett schools and the problem of three junior high sites in northeast Lincoln.

Reconsideration of the modernization and enlargement of the Norwood Park building was discussed with the architect, Ben Hemphill. The new building would include five classrooms, an auditorium, a large multi-purpose room and a principal's office.

The Board has been negotiating with the City Council for the closing of Douglas between 72nd and 73rd for land for the Norwood Park building and the Council has reported favorably.

Postponed

Until final arrangements could be made concerning the street the Board voted to resume the discussion at a later meeting.

The Board and the City Council approved easement for the desired changes in improving the Everett School site. The sidewalks will be moved on the site to increase the playground area by about one-third.

The Board voted to limit the building of junior high schools in northeast Lincoln to the Dawes School site, 52nd and Vine school site and a third site east of the present Northeast School.

Not at Northeast

The Board had previously discussed the possibility of building a junior high on the present Northeast site, but decided that too many pupils would be crowded into one area.

A one-unit grade school would also be located on the Dawes School site. There are two prefabs on the site now and two more will be added next year.

The three junior highs and Dawes school are expected to cost about four and a half million dollars, according to Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools.

When the junior highs are completed, the junior high students in the present Northeast building will attend these three schools and Northeast will be a senior high only.

Stock Prices In Steep Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — A dull stock market session Monday dragged prices down again, this time in the steepest decline since last Monday.

Leading issues lost around $1 to $3 but some stocks stretched losses considerably beyond that.

The retreat was general, affecting all major divisions of the market, but there was nothing dramatic about it.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks dipped $1.80 to $183.50, with the industrials down $2.40, the rails $2.50 and the utilities 10 cents.

The drop in the average represented an estimated loss of about two billion dollars in the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

The session started on an irregular note although mail order stocks and airlines showed a trend to the upside. Soon even this bit of firmness wilted, however. By afternoon fractional losses had extended themselves to $1 or $3 in some cases and trading was faster. Then prices improved above their worst and activity slowed to the unexciting pace that prevailed until the close.

Analysts ascribed the retreat to a further technical reaction while the market still digested unfavorable news of last week and tested its low points in the averages for either a sharper decline or a rebound.

The steel and rails division were lower from the start. Most of the losses in steels were a point or so.

Grains Irregular; May Oats Down

CHICAGO (AP) — With closing out of May contracts attracting most attention, grains finished irregular on the Board of Trade Monday.

There was heavy liquidation in May wheat and its final price was down 4¾ to 6½ cents and at the day's low. The new crop months eased early but rallied to finish ⅜ to ¾c higher.

In May soybeans the final price was 1½c lower to 3½c higher with the top figure for the day being made in the closing minutes. July soybeans, an old crop months, ended down while new crop months firmed.

Among other grains the major fireworks developed in May oats.

They were down 2⅛ to 2⅞c, which is a steep decline for this cereal. The break influenced other months, which ended ¼ to 1¾c lower.

May rye and May corn ended a little higher. Other corn futures finished ⅛c lower to 1⅝c higher while other rye futures were unchanged to ½c higher.

Best performance of the day was turned in by new crop December and March corn, which gained more than a cent and ended at the day's highs.

Cops Put In 640 Hours Extra On Parker Case

The 10 Lincoln policemen assigned especially to investigate Nancy Parker's murder on Dec. 14 racked up a total of 640 overtime man hours.

The tabulation was made by the police department.

Steers Sell Even; Spring Lambs Fall

OMAHA (AP)—Lighter steers sold around steady at Omaha Monday with those over 1,200 pounds leaning to the weak side. Hogs were firm to 25 cents higher while spring lambs slumped 50 cents to $1.

Improvements, Junior Highs Get Discussion

The Board of Education Monday discussed improvement of Norwood Park and Everett schools and the problem of three junior high sites in northeast Lincoln.

Reconsideration of the modernization and enlargement of the Norwood Park building was discussed with the architect, Ben Hemphill. The new building would include five classrooms, an auditorium, a large multi-purpose room and a principal's office.

The Board has been negotiating with the City Council for the closing of Douglas between 72nd and 73rd for land for the Norwood Park building and the Council has reported favorably.

Postponed

Until final arrangements could be made concerning the street the Board voted to resume the discussion at a later meeting.

The Board and the City Council approved easement for the desired changes in improving the Everett School site. The sidewalks will be moved on the site to increase the playground area by about one-third.

The Board voted to limit the building of junior high schools in northeast Lincoln to the Dawes School site, 52nd and Vine school site and a third site east of the present Northeast School.

Not at Northeast

The Board had previously discussed the possibility of building a junior high on the present Northeast site, but decided that too many pupils would be crowded into one area.

A one-unit grade school would also be located on the Dawes School site. There are two prefabs on the site now and two more will be added next year.

The three junior highs and Dawes school are expected to cost about four and a half million dollars, according to Dr. Steven Watkins, superintendent of schools.

When the junior highs are completed, the junior high students in the present Northeast building will attend these three schools and Northeast will be a senior high only.

Sen. Potter Tells Michigan Republicans:

Demos On 'Alley Brawler' Level In Discrediting Ike

PORT HURON, Mich. (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) accused the Democrats Monday night of "sinking to the level of alley brawlers in frantic attempts to personally discredit President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon."

Sen. Potter

Potter said the Democrats "have sought frantically" to find campaign issues but can't find any "because of the peace, prosperity and progress" of the nation under the Eisenhower administration

"They're determined to make campaign issues out of personality attacks even if they have to tear down the government to do it," he said

Potter made the remarks in a speech prepared for a Republican meeting here.

"Down His Throat"

He said the Democrats attempted to embarrass Eisenhower "by forcing the natural gas bill down his throat. The President displayed fearless statesmanship in not only vetoing the bill but severely chastising certain of those who pushed for its passage for their "arrogant' use of unethical methods."

Although backed by the Democratic leadership in both the House and Senate, the bill passed with the support of more Republicans than Democrats. Potter was active in opposing it.

When the Democrats attempted to embarrass the President with a "completely unworkable farm bill," Potter said, "again the President rose above petty political pressures and threw the bill back at the Democrats."

"Brighter" Farm Picture

Eisenhower was proved right, Potter said, because "the farm picture is brighter every day. Farm income generally has stabilized and has started back up."

Potter said the "Democrats were not even afraid of playing into the hands of the Communists by raising wild cries" that the defense program was inferior to Russia's.

"Unfounded attacks on this administration's foreign policy and upon John Foster Dulles personally," Potter said, "have been shown up for the falsehoods they are.

"Through adroit handling, the tensions which arose in the Middle East have now been lessened. The Soviets have been forced to acknowledge at least that a peaceful settlement of Arab-Israeli disputes must be achieved," he said.

Not only have the Democrats found no valid issues, but they also seem to be unable to find a suitable presidential candidate, Potter said.

GOV. ANDERSON, DEMO OPPONENT GOT NOMINATION AT A BARGAIN

Gov. Victor Anderson reported to the secretary of state's office that his only primary election campaign expense this year was the $10 filing fee.

He didn't even have to pay a filing fee because his name was put on the ballot by petition.

A filing fee for him was paid by the sponsors of the petition, but this would not appear on the statement of his own campaign expenses.

Secretary of State Frank Marsh, running for his third term, reported he also spent only the filing fee.

The Phil-Allen-for-Congress organization in the Second District reported to the secretary of state's office that it received $710.43 for campaign expenses.

Write-In Nominee

John D. Zeilinger of York, a write-in nominee for district judge, reported expenditures of $381.28.

He was nominated for election to the post which he recently was appointed to fill after the death of Judge Harry D. Landis.

Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City reported he spent $50.90 to run for re-election.

Comptroller General:

FOREIGN AID FUNDS OFTEN TOO MUCH

. . . To Handle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's comptroller general, Joseph Campbell, said Monday foreign aid managers often get more money than they can handle properly.

As an illustration, he said, the Defense Department held on to 400 million dollars of aid money that, unspent, should have been returned to the Treasury.

It is the duty of the comptroller general to report to Congress on the way appropriations are spent. Campbell appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in its study of an administration proposal to eliminate the practice of carrying over unspent funds from one fiscal year to another.

Campbell testified:

"A significant portion of the annual aid program proposed to the Congress for the past few years has been beyond the capacity of the agency and the recipient countries to get under way during the fiscal year for which the funds were appropriated."

He said at the end of the fiscal year last June 30 there was $1,800,000,000 left over and there was $2,200,000,000, the year before.

Violation of Law

As for the 40 million dollars he said the Pentagon has held on to, Campbell said this represented a violation of law which the Defense Department has attempted to explain away with technicalities.

"The amount overstated should revert to the Treasury, or corrective legislation should be requested from the Congress," he testified.

Campbell said the Pentagon sought to write off 225 million of the 400 million by cutting its budget to that extent.

He agreed with Sen. Mansfield's (D-Mont) observation that the department kept the remaining 175 million "in the kitty and used it for projects as they came along."

Rockefeller Borrows

NEW YORK (AP) — Even the Rockefellers borrow money. The Architectural Forum notes that a mortgage has been placed on one of the buildings in Rockefeller Center for $9,300,000 at 4 per cent for 17 years. "The Rockefeller interests had paid off the original mortgage on Rockefeller Center some years ago," says the Forum, "and now needed to borrow like an ocean needs more water. But they probably concluded that it would be wise to put some 4 per cent tax-deductible money to work."

Clover Charm Fails

SANDSTON, Va. (AP) — Mrs. W. P. Pritchett found 16 four-leaf clovers, five six-leaf and two five-leaf on her lawn which should have brought enough luck for one day. They didn't though. After her clover gathering Mrs. Pritchertt began her housework and promptly fell through a first floor window she was washing into a prize tulip bed. Main damage was to her belief that multi-leaf clovers have anything to do with good luck.

Clover Charm Fails

SANDSTON, Va. (AP) — Mrs. W. P. Pritchett found 16 four-leaf clovers, five six-leaf and two five-leaf on her lawn which should have brought enough luck for one day. They didn't though. After her clover gathering Mrs. Pritchertt began her housework and promptly fell through a first floor window she was washing into a prize tulip bed. Main damage was to her belief that multi-leaf clovers have anything to do with good luck.

Plans On 16th Water Line Get Approval

Plans and specifications have been approved by the City Council for construction of a new 24-inch diameter water main in 16th from L to Washington.

The new $61,000 main will complete, with one minor exception, the city's current water distribution system improvement program. The new main will serve as a connecting link between the 51st Street and A Street pumping stations.

With this line, either station could be operated in an emergency to service the entire city with water.

In addition to construction costs, the new main calls for the use of some $70,000 in materials.

Work on the main will interrupt traffic on 16th from F to Washington for about six weeks. During that time, traffic on 16th will be re-routed to 15th on a one-way plan or to 17th with a temporary return there to two-way traffic.

Another $40,500 estimate was approved for paving Wilshire, 56th to 59th; and 57th, 58th and 59 from Vine to Wilshire.

Plans On 16th Water Line Get Approval

Plans and specifications have been approved by the City Council for construction of a new 24-inch diameter water main in 16th from L to Washington.

The new $61,000 main will complete, with one minor exception, the city's current water distribution system improvement program. The new main will serve as a connecting link between the 51st Street and A Street pumping stations.

With this line, either station could be operated in an emergency to service the entire city with water.

In addition to construction costs, the new main calls for the use of some $70,000 in materials.

Work on the main will interrupt traffic on 16th from F to Washington for about six weeks. During that time, traffic on 16th will be re-routed to 15th on a one-way plan or to 17th with a temporary return there to two-way traffic.

The remainder of 16th along the route of the new line will remain open during the construction period.

The Council also approved plans and a $66,000 estimate for paving of Vine from 56th to Cotner.

Another $40,500 estimate was approved for paving Wilshire, 56th to 59th; and 57th, 58th and 59 from Vine to Wilshire.

AN AUCTION
REGISTERED AND HIGH-GRADE GUERNSEY DAIRY CATTLE
Monday, May 28, 1:00 P.M.

LOCATION: On my farm, 11 mi South of Lincoln on Hwy 77, then 1¾ mi West on Hwy 33, or 11 mi East of Crete on Hwy 33. (Lunch will be served). 34 Head of Registered and high-grade Guernsey Dairy Cattle—10 Registered cows and heifers, 23 high-grade cows and heifers, 1 registered bull serviceable age (21 of the cows are in milk). My son being drafted into the Armed Services compels me to disperse my herd of cattle. The average for the past 4 years in the DHIA has been 416.5 lbs of butter fat. Our herd average of 433 lbs of butter fat in 1954 was the highest in any over 20-cow Guernsey herd in the state. If you are interested in foundation cattle, attend the auction. Cometh the June magazines, filed with advice to brides. There is so much advice to brides that you wonder what anybody is doing marrying such dumb bunnies. Really.

A doll who cannot find a stove lid on a sunny day should not get married. She should stay home while her mama teaches her to find stove lids. But that is not the way it works.

Down the aisle comes Dewy-Eyes while the organ plays, "Here Comes The Bride." The ladies all weep happily. And the gentlemen wish somebody would invent a collar that does not garrote the throat.

The ceremony ends. And the bride rushes home to consult the magazines:

"Is a Hearty Breakfast the Key to Happy Marriage?"

How about the bridegroom? Any advice for him? No blooming fear, cully. Let the poor beggar find out for himself.

I think somebody should write magazines for bridegrooms. Magazines write pieces for brides because brides buy cake mix and spend 94 per cent of the bridegroom's income.

It is purely commercial. And I have in mind a charitable foundation to tell the bridegroom how to behave.

Do not walk in crying, "For the love of Pete, ain't dinner ready yet?"

Say: "What wonderful thing have you been doing to your hair, you rascal, you?"

This sends Madame upstairs in a tizzy to look at herself in the mirror. She is pleased but a little uneasy. Marriage is a good deal like boxing. Keep 'em off balance, bridegroom.

By the time Joe is rocking out of this one punch, he has been counted out. Don't let it happen to you, bridegroom. This will all be contained in my lead article. An answer to the women's magazine article: "Does He Take You To Dinner?"

Mine will be called: "Take Her. Before She Takes You."

Ah me. June is upon us. The month of brides and ready-mix biscuits. A golden month of golden bells.

A bridegroom should be serious. For this is a serious affair. A bride is a tender flower. Press her between a couple of old dictionaries.

As fast as the women's magazines educate her, my trained bridegrooms will brainwash her. I will keep the women's editors jumping. They have been having a soft time with these little gems about: "Soft-boiled Eggs Saved Mary's Marriage."

My bridegroom will be shifty and fast. There will be no iron fist under the velvet glove. But there will be a mickey in every champagne glass. And hay fever in every bunch of roses.
